Jury Upholds Inquiry Into Lingle Murder

LONE AMERICAN WARSHIP ROUTS CHINA RED ARMY

30 Slain in Battle at City of Changsha.

SHANGHAI, July 31.—A lone American gunboat, the Palos, under command of Lieut. R. D. Tisdale, has accomplished what the Chinese government army was unable to do, and today the communist hordes who have been in control of Changsha, capital of Hunan province, since Monday evacuated the city.

The reign of terror marked by torture, murder, burning and looting of foreign and native properties, which culminated in the Reds proclaiming a soviet administration in Changsha, apparently is at an end in the city. When the Reds invaded Changsha Monday the government troops retreated without firing a shot. Once in control the communists looted and burned foreign consulates, offices, and government buildings. They tortured and put to death wealthy residents, sacking their homes.

Warship Returns to City.

Prior to the occupation of Changsha Lieut. Tisdale succeeded in rescuing all but two or three American residents and several Europeans. They were placed aboard the Palos, but due to the drop in the water level of the Hsiang river the gunboat was forced to drop down stream a distance of five miles.

Early this morning Lieut. Tisdale noticed that the water had risen two feet during the night and gave orders for the Palos to return to Changsha, his purpose being to investigate the status of the remaining Americans, as well as American properties.

When the Palos reached the outskirts of the city the communists opened fire from the shore, less than 300 yards away. More than 100 rifles and ten machine guns were trained on the American gunboat.

Americans Return Fire.

The river was too narrow to permit an about face and retreat, and the commander ordered full steam ahead. As the Palos steamed past the city its batteries were trained on the communists and the fire was returned. The Palos was struck more than 100 times and five sailors received flesh wounds, none of which was serious. The casualties among the communists were thought to be about thirty. The firing lasted about an hour.

Then the Palos made a circuit of the island in the center of the river in front of the town, where the foreign consulates are located, dropping anchor adjacent to the Standard Oil company properties. A gang of communist firebugs attempting to burn the tanks at the Standard Oil establishment fled.

Order Quick Evacuation.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 1.—(AP)—British naval authorities at Kiukiang, Kiangsi province, today urged British subjects at Kuling, summer resort 12 miles south of there, to evacuate quickly. The action followed a purported statement by the Kiangsi governor, warning foreigners that Chinese authorities would not be responsible for them after three days.

The region is teeming with hordes of bandits and communists. A Red army was reported to have captured and looted Ewayuan, fifty miles north of Hankow and fears were entertained for the safety of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, the sister cities at the junction of the Yangtze and Han rivers.

As a result of the crisis on the Yangtze river, Rear Admiral MacLean, commanding the British Asiatic fleet, ordered two destroyers, the Somme and the Sirdar, at full speed from Tsingtao to Kiukiang to reinforce the British Yangtze patrol.

Authorities of the Japanese concession in Hankow are erecting barbed wire defenses.

Even Shanghai's foreign settlements are under special guard. Police patrols were doubled and authorities prepared to crush any disturbance.

The British gunboat Aphis today reached Hankow from Changsha bringing fifty foreign refugees, including seven Americans. The others were British, French and Italian. Among the Americans were George Heide, Y. M. C. A.; Miss Russell, connection unknown; the Rev. W. H. Lingle, northern Presbyterian mission, and Miss Louise Farnam, physician of the Yale-in-China hospital.

MAY CLEAR WAY FOR RANDOLPH VIADUCT TODAY

The last obstacle to the construction of the Randolph street viaduct across the Illinois Central tracks and the new suburban station of the Illinois Central probably will be removed today, Circuit Judge Feinberg indicated last night. A suit to settle riparian rights and fix new boundaries between the Illinois Central property and that of the south park board will be given a final hearing by Judge Feinberg this afternoon.

"The report of Archie H. Cohen, master in chancery, will be presented to the court," the judge said. "Unless unexpected matters come up, I believe a decree will be entered."

Legal approval of the court has been the only bar to the project, which will cost $3,000,000 and employ several hundred workmen, as the park board, the railroad and the city have reached an agreement. George E. Gorman, attorney for the park board, said he was certain the matter will be settled today. Officials of the Illinois Central declined to comment.

Find Commons 'Not Guilty' of Drunkenness

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—"You have gone out of your way to publicly discredit your fellow members in the eyes of your country and the world."

With these words the speaker of the house of commons censured Elijah Sandham, Labor member, for having brought charges of bribery and drunkenness against members of the house. Sandham neither specified nor withdrew them when given an opportunity to do so before the commons committee of privileges. The sentence of censure had been introduced by Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden and was carried by a vote of 304 to 13.

The speaker delivered the censure while seated with a three-cornered hat perched on top of a gray wig which reached to the waist.

"Gross Libel of House."

The house also passed unanimously a motion agreeing with the report of the committee of privileges that Sandham had been guilty of a gross breach of privilege and of gross libel of the house, and deserved a censure.

For an hour and a half one member after another had challenged Sandham and the Laborite, W. J. Brown, who had said he had definite information, to state names. Chancellor Snowden even went so far as to declare that if Sandham made a single specific charge he would put down a motion for a committee of inquiry. The offer, however, met no response.

The speaker thereupon proceeded to censure Sandham in accordance with the terms of the house resolution.

Text of Censure.

"It is clearly the duty of every member to uphold the right of privilege and prestige, and above all the honor of its members," the speaker said. "You have gone out of your way to degrade the house in the eyes of your countrymen and the eyes of the world. There only remains, in accordance with the commands of this house, that I should admonish you, which I accordingly do."

The sentence was received in tense silence in the house, with Sandham sitting with folded arms and set jaw.

Quake Rattles Windows in Massachusetts Town

New Bedford, Mass., July 31.—(AP)—Earth tremors that rattled windows and shook dishes from their shelves were felt here tonight.

BRIDE, 17, FLEES FARM TO RETURN TO HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Inez Anderson Miller, 17 years old, knows her own mind. Two weeks ago, despite her sister's objections, she slipped away from their room at 5759 Drexel avenue and was married to William Miller, 28 years old, R. O. T. C. instructor at the University of Chicago. Her father, Samuel Anderson of Ridgeway, Mo., arrived just after the ceremony and took her back home with him for two weeks to visit her family and think things over.

A week ago Inez slipped away from her father's home at Ridgeway in the automobile of a friend, caught a train to Chicago, and yesterday was back again with her bridegroom, installed in new quarters at 6144 University avenue. Moreover, she informed callers as she straightened around the furniture and unpacked her bags, that she's going to stay with her husband. If her father obtains an annulment, she says she warned him in a letter written en route back to Chicago, she will get married over again as soon as she's 18, on Dec. 30.

"I wouldn't have married Bill if I didn't love him," said Mrs. Miller. "Dad says he wants me to go on through college, but I'm going to school here this fall, and then go back to work again."

RULES DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR NOT "ACCIDENT"

Federal Judge Woodward yesterday established a precedent, according to attorneys, when he ruled that death by execution cannot be construed as accidental in an effort to collect on an insurance policy.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Diamond of Gary brought suit against the New York Life Insurance company for a $10,000 accident policy carried by their son, Harry, who was electrocuted at the Michigan City penitentiary for the murder of his wife, Nettie, on Feb. 15, 1923. The complaint charged that Diamond was put to death by unknown hands against his will.

Judge Woodward held that although Diamond met death unwillingly, his own felonious deed was responsible, and added: "No legal casuistry or legerdemain can convert an execution into a death from accidental causes." Attorney Homer H. Cooper for the insurance company and the law firm of Bachrach & Bachrach, representing the Diamonds, waived a jury.

FINDS RUSSELL APPOINTED BY USUAL METHOD

Brundidge Charges Unsubstantiated.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in Room 503, Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

The Cook county grand jury, in a letter signed by every one of the 23 grand jurors and read yesterday in open court to Chief Justice Normoyle of the Criminal court, gave the jurors' views on the Lingle murder investigation, the charges against Chicago newspaper men, and the appointment of William Russell as commissioner of police.

The jury, in a separate resolution addressed to Mayor Thompson, gave high praise to Capt. John Stege and recommended that he be reinstated as head of the detective bureau.

Expresses Confidence in Swanson.

The grand jury expressed its confidence in State's Attorney Swanson and his efforts to solve the crime situation in Chicago. The jurors commended the investigation of the murder of Alfred [Jake] Lingle, reporter for THE TRIBUNE, as directed by Assistant State's Attorney Charles F. Rathbun, a member of THE TRIBUNE law firm; Assistant State's Attorney James E. McShane, and Pat Roche, the state's attorney's chief investigator.

The citizens of Chicago were invited by the grand jury to give support and coöperation to State's Attorney Swanson and his assistants in the war against criminals and gangs generally, and in the Lingle murder case particularly. The jury stated it had "every reason to believe the Lingle murder will soon be solved."

Charges Based on Hearsay.

As to the charges that other Chicago newspaper men, beside Lingle, were engaged in racketeering enterprises, charges which were first made by Harry T. Brundidge, St. Louis reporter, the jury in its letter stated that up to the present time it had been unable to "definitely substantiate" the evidence disclosed by Brundidge.

Much of the St. Louis reporter's testimony was based on hearsay, the jurors pointed out, and while some of his charges were admitted by newspaper men called by the jury, those admissions did not disclose anything of an incriminating character, the letter stated.

Russell Appointment "Regular."

The jurors gave it as their opinion that Brundidge acted in good faith.

The letter of the grand jury pointed out that much had been made in some of the newspapers of rumors that Capt. Russell had won promotion to the police commissionership through some sort of deal.

"It is our opinion," the jury stated, "that his appointment came about

LOG OF THE R-100 ON ITS FLIGHT ACROSS ATLANTIC

Following is the log by Chicago daylight saving time of the British dirigible R-100 on its trans-Atlantic flight from Cardington, England, to St. Hubert airport, Montreal, Que.:

MONDAY.

9:45 p. m.—Left Cardington airport.

10:45 p. m.—Passed over Rugby, England.

TUESDAY.

1 a. m.—Passed at reduced speed over Chester, England.

2:15 a. m.—British air ministry announced no radios received as yet.

4 a. m.—First radio placed position over Mull of Galloway, Scotland.

11 a. m.—Radioed Atlantic position as 54.4 degrees north, 11,30 west, approximately 160 miles west of Sligo, having altered course southward, due to headwinds. Weather fair and speed 60 miles an hour.

2 p. m.—Radio reported position as 200 miles west of Ireland.

7 p. m.—Position 475 miles west of Ireland.

WEDNESDAY.

1:40 a. m.—S. S. Caledonia intercepted radio fixing R-100's position as 1,000 miles west of Ireland.

1 p. m.—S. S Empress of France sighted dirigible 265 miles off Belle isle.

5 p. m.—Radio reported position as 100 miles northeast of Belle isle.

9:39 p. m.—Passed over Belle isle.

THURSDAY.

7 a. m.—Passed over West Point, Anticosti island, in St. Lawrence river.

2 p. m.—Passed over Murray Bay, 90 miles east of Quebec.

3:30 p. m.—While passing over Quebec R-100 radioed that tear in fabric of fin might prevent night landing.

9:15 p. m.—Passed through severe squalls 15 miles southeast of Three Rivers, Que., and unable to state what materials needed for repair of fin.

FRIDAY.

1:27 a. m.—Sails in above St. Hubert airport at Montreal and hovers around mooring mast.

GIRL ARRESTED IN DETROIT RADIO SLAYING CASE

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 1 (Friday.)—[Special.]—Police early today arrested Margy Mansell, 21, WMBC radio entertainer, in connection with the slaying of Gerald E. Buckley, announcer for the station.

Authorities declared she is a sweetheart of Pete Licavoli, gangster, sought as the "key man" in the killing. The automobile owned by Licavoli was found in her possession, the police announced.

Angelo Livecchi, arrested an hour after the slaying on July 23, yesterday was charged with the murder. He was arrested in the La Salle hotel, scene of the killing, but police had kept this a secret.

The warrant charging him with the killing was signed by Judge Thomas M. Cotter on complaint of Lieut. John Hoffman and the state prosecutor, James E. Chanot.

Hubby Kept Wooden Leg Secret, Wife Says; Sues

Declaring her husband failed to tell her before marriage that he had a wooden leg, Mrs. Amelia Moulton, 2118 Wesley avenue, Evanston, yesterday filed suit for divorce in Superior court against Harold Moulton of New York, a caretaker. According to her attorney, M. G. Slocum, the couple were married on March 18, 1929, after they had carried on a correspondence started through an advertisement.

SETS RECORD FOR EAST-WEST OCEAN FLIGHT

Battles Storm; Fin Is Damaged.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, [Friday], Aug. 1.—Special.—The British dirigible R-100 with one of her stabilizer fins damaged appeared over this airport at 2:27 a. m. [1:27 a. m. Chicago time], after a battle with squalls which swept the St. Lawrence river valley.

The great airliner, which fell victim to bad luck and bad weather over Quebec when she was within 180 miles of her destination yesterday afternoon, first manifested herself as a twinkling light in the sky from the direction of Montreal, where 2,000 sightseers kept an all night vigil on the summit of Mount Royal.

Almost as soon as she had shown her gleaming light among the stars the R-100 swung away from the landing field and circled back over Montreal. It was announced that she probably would cruise about until after dawn, when the task of mooring her would be simplified.

Time Less than 76 Hours.

Although her voyage from Cardington, Eng., will not be over officially until she is fast to the mast at St. Hubert, she actually covered the 3,228 miles between her point of embarkation and her destination in 18 minutes less than 76 hours, which sets a new record for east-west flight across the Atlantic.

At 3 a. m. [2 a. m. Chicago time] the airship reappeared above the airport, flying 1,000 feet above the top of the mooring mast, and it seemed apparent that she intended to play hide and seek until daylight, as she crept away again toward Montreal. As she passed the mooring mast the beam from the searchlight, like an ectoplasmic manifestation in the heavens, illumined her stubby form, shorter than that of the Graf Zeppelin, but nearly twice as big around the middle.

After circling Montreal the giant ship turned back toward the airport, flying low with lights shining and searchlights playing on her gray flanks.

For nearly two hours this afternoon while less than 180 miles from her destination after her flight across the Atlantic from Cardington, England, the R-100 drifted at the mercy of the wind above the plains of Abraham in historic old Quebec.

Temporary Repairs Made.

The fabric covering one of her stabilizer fins had been torn, she reported, and it was believed that her motors were shut off to permit temporary repairs to be made. When the fin was patched, she continued her slow and labored progress toward this air field while thunderstorms swept down the valley in her path.

After an observer had flown around the dirigible while it was over the island of Orleans, near Quebec City, he reported that the lower face of the port fin showed a tear extending along some 20 feet of the surface and a long strip of fabric was flapping in the breeze.

Recalls Damage to Graf.

By an odd freak of fate the accident which befell the British aircraft was similar to the one which occurred to the Graf Zeppelin when she was near Bermuda on her maiden trip in October, 1928. The difference was that the German ship was over the sea while the R-100 was far inland and so near a metropolis that thousands watched the fight to stave off possible disaster.

The message telling of the trouble aboard the airship when her arrival was thought to be only a matter of an hour or two away came dramatically and unexpectedly almost on the heels of a cheerful and unusually loquacious bulletin telling of the craft's progress through weather that was generally fair.

Crowds Leave Airport.

It was announced immediately in the airplane shed set aside for the use of the press. It was carried to all parts of the field over loud speakers hooked up in a "republic address system" to provide the crowd lined up outside the wire fence about the airport with the latest information. In the press room telegraph keys clicked excitedly. Outside the field thousands of expectant sightseers decided to return to Montreal and swarmed upon the special trains wait-

Clothing Prices Down Now —Chicago Men Benefit!

Recent reductions in commodity prices have been followed by prompt cuts in the prices at which Chicago stores are offering goods to their customers. This was indicated by a survey conducted by representatives of the Chicago Tribune who visited a number of men's clothing and department stores yesterday. The merchants offered abundant illustrations to establish that Chicago consumers now have the benefit of the lowest level of retail prices in many years.

The belief is held by a number of the merchandising experts that the present low level of retail prices is made possible because manufacturers were able to purchase raw materials in some cases below the cost of making them. The merchants pointed out that the costs of the raw materials cannot long remain below the costs of producing them, and that higher raw material prices, and therefore higher wholesale and retail prices, lie ahead.

ng on a siding a mile from the airport.

The message itself was laconic and terse as all the other bulletins from the mighty giant of the air have been. It said:

"Fabric trouble, 75th meridian, necessitates reduced speed. Will probably prevent landing tonight."

Passes Over Quebec.

A moment later Quebec reported that the R-100 had appeared above the city, moving very slowly.

Half an hour passed and then from Quebec came another message which might have been alarming if the weather had been bad and if it hadn't been for the feat of the Graf Zeppelin's crew, who proved that a fin could be patched up in midair.

A spokesman for the air ministry strode into the hangar. He announced that, according to a report received at the communications office, the R-100 had passed over Quebec and was west of the ancient city of the cliffs when she "stopped and began to drift backward" to a distance of 15 miles below Quebec. Then he added:

"At this point, however, the dirigible stopped drifting and began to head slowly westward."

It was assumed immediately that the ship had shut off her engines to enable men to crawl out upon that damaged stabilizer to patch as best they could the rent in the fabric. With the ship in motion, her six mighty engines sweeping a propeller churned gust of wind over her bulging sides, it would be impossible to close the gap.

At the same time the rush of air backward would increase the danger of air getting into the main envelope and ripping the ship asunder.

During the interval that passed before the next official bulletin was received rumors of an alarming nature spread over the field. It even was reported that the R-100 had been forced down outside of Quebec. Half a dozen airplanes took off hastily for the scene, but before the flyers returned with the news that the rumor was false, the airship had reported again.

"Have completed temporary repairs to fin," she said. "Making good 20 knots at 6:50 [4:50 Chicago daylight time]. Position 18 miles northeast of Quebec. Stand by to land me as soon as I arrive."

Then the ship was silent again.

Blimp Lands on Liner's Deck, First Contact of Its Kind

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—Something new in ship to shore transportation was accomplished shortly after noon today when the non-rigid airship Mayflower of the Goodyear fleet slid down on the aft deck of the transatlantic liner Bremen as the ship reached Quarantine and took off one of the passengers.

The blimp made the contact with the liner at 1:23 p. m., exactly five minutes after she had reached port after crossing the ocean. As the blimp was pulled down to the deck Paul W. Litchfield, president of the rubber company, stepped into the gondola, and the blimp cast off.

First Blimp to Ship Contact.

Everything happened with precision as the first blimp landing on board a passenger liner was accomplished. The Mayflower sailed over the Battery on the return flight with its passenger and a few minutes later was over Holmes airport in Jackson Heights.

An experienced ground crew, which went down the bay in a cutter, was on board the liner a few seconds before the airship began ponting its nose for a landing. The crew grasped the ropes and held the craft in place until Mr. Litchfield had stepped into the gondola.

The Mayflower, after soaring over Grand Central air terminal for a brief period, then made a half hour cruise over New York city, Mr. Lichtfield never having seen the city from the air before.

Makes Perfect Landing.

The airship made a perfect landing on a space 85 feet long and 36 feet wide which had been cleared in preparation for the contact. All the railings were lined with mattresses and padded to prevent puncturing the gas bag of the craft.

According to those on board the Bremen, the pilot of the Mayflower, Karl Fickus, who was one of the relief pilots on the Graf Zeppelin during the recent transatlantic flight, handled the craft perfectly and brought it down exactly in the center of the cleared deck.

The Mayflower is 128 feet long and 37 feet in diameter, so that the pilot had to be accurate, for a slight miscalculation would have plunged the airship into the vessel's superstructure.

Earlier in the day the Bremen launched at sea a two-seater airplane with five sacks of mail. It arrived at the army base in Brooklyn seven hours before the Bremen was due.

A mail truck was waiting at the pier, and most of the mail was transferred to this and rushed to the post office for distribution. As a result, mail addressed to business houses in New York city was delivered this morning, a full business day earlier than if it had remained aboard the ship.

WILKINS TALKS PLANS FOR NEW NORTH POLE TRIP

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Sir George Hubert Wilkins, arctic and antarctic aerial explorer, returned today from a two months' moneymoon in Europe full of talk and plans for his proposed submarine voyage to the north pole.

Sir Hubert said he hoped to get away on his underwater expedition next May or June, starting from Spitzbergen, just at the edge of the Arctic sea. From there he hopes to drive his submarine under the Arctic ice pack, across the north pole and down the other side of the world to Unalaska on the Bering sea.

The submarine to be used on the trip, the old navy P-12, renamed the Nautilus, is being outfitted at the Philadelphia navy yard. She will carry a crew of 18.

Weather Again Holds Up Berlin to Chicago Flyers

KIRKWALL, Orkney Islands, July 31.—(AP)—Wolfram Hirth and Oscar Weller were held up here again today by unfavorable weather. The German aviators will leave for Iceland, the next stop on their proposed flight to the United States, only when conditions are excellent.

POLICE DISPERSE 200 REDS; SEIZE GIRL AND 7 MEN

A 14 year old girl, haranguing a crowd of 200 men and women last night in a park at 26th street and Homan avenue on unemployment and communism, created a disturbance which led to the arrest of herself and seven men after a struggle with the police squad of Lieut. Edward Kelliher.

The girl, Yetta Barshefsky, 1243 North Spaulding avenue, was turned over to her parents with the admonition that a spanking might not be amiss. The men, booked on charges of disorderly conduct and resisting policemen, were to be arraigned before Judge Allegretti today.

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock last night issued orders to have police details held in reserve to prevent trouble at two meetings of communists to be held today as a protest against the military forces of the country. One meeting is to be held at Washington square, Clark and Locust streets, and the other at 92d street and Commercial avenue.

Youth Fined for His Sun Bath on Evanston Beach

Arrested yesterday by Evanston police while sunning himself in bathing trunks at Calvary beach, Thomas Anda, 25 years old, 7703 Sheridan road, was fined $5 on a charge of indecent exposure.

GIRL NAMED IN DIVORCE ACTION SUES MRS. CORBOY

Miss Phyllis Cairns, 25 East Delaware place, yesterday filed suit for $25,000 damages against Mrs. Florence Fitzgerald Corboy, estranged wife of John A. Corboy, millionaire president of the M. J. Corboy Plumbing company. Only the praecipe of the suit was filed. According to Attorney Nicholas Socrates, representing Miss Cairns, Mrs. Corboy named Miss Cairns as corespondent in a cross bill for divorce filed last Monday in Superior court. Corboy sued for divorce three months ago, charging desertion.

Attorney Socrates said Miss Cairns had never seen Corboy until a few days ago. In her cross bill, the attorney said, Mrs. Corboy asserted her husband had been guilty of misconduct with Miss Cairns between October, 1924, and April, 1925, at an apartment building at 185 East Chestnut street.

Railway Detective Kills Youth, Wounds Brother

Detective E. A. Russell of the Monon railroad, making his rounds yesterday in the Hammond yards, shot and killed Marion Turner, 29 years old, and wounded his brother, Wray, both of Rossville, Ind., in a revolver battle. Russell told the police he encountered the two lurking about freight cars and that when he ordered them to halt they opened fire on him.

GEHLBACH HOLDS AIR DERBY LEAD IN ARRIVAL HERE

Ten Flyers Hop to Detroit Finish Line Today.

With the home stretch to Detroit before him today, Lee Gehlbach of Little Rock, Ark., was yesterday conceded to be the almost certain winner of the All-American Air Derby. He maintained his lead of nearly four hours in the hop from Lincoln, Neb., to Chicago. Nine other flyers of the twenty starters are also to take off on the last lap today, but have little chance of overtaking the leader.

Lowell Bayles of Springfield, Mass., led the survivors into the municipal airport yesterday. His time from Lincoln, Neb., was 3 hours 38 minutes and 30 seconds.

Gehlbach Second to Land.

Gehlbach followed him ten minutes later. His elapsed time for nearly 6,000 miles of the race is 42 hours 3 minutes and 2 seconds. Bayles' time is 45 hours 38 minutes and 58 seconds. Charles Myers of Cleveland was third to land with an elapsed time of 48 hours 45 minutes and 45 seconds.

Other survivors are Henry Ogden of Inglewood, Cal.; W. H. Cahill of Cleveland, Cecil Coffrin of Brooklyn, Larry Brown, Los Angeles; W. H. Holliday of Los Angeles, Stanley Stanton of Blackwell, Okla.; and Jimmy Wedell of New Orleans.

Joseph Meehan of Ironton, O., who disappeared two days ago during the lap from Burbank, Cal., to Ogden, Utah, was found yesterday by ranchers. He had been forced down in Sand Springs valley, Nev., by a faulty spark plug. He spent a night on the desert and walked to the home of a rancher.

Hamer Forced Down Again.

Herman Hamer of La Salle, Ill., was forced down by motor trouble near Des Moines. He said he would be unable to proceed for two days and was therefore forced out of the race. He also experienced motor trouble on the Ogden-Lincoln hop Wednesday and was forced to descend.

The Derby started at Detroit on July 21. The route took the flyers to the Atlantic coast, across the south to California, and back through the middle west. The Derby was opened to test the reliability of small type planes. Each is equipped with a 100 horse power motor.

Gehlbach will take off for Detroit at 12:01 today. The others will follow at one minute intervals. All will be in Chicago for the national air races from Aug. 23 to Sept. 1.

2 WOMEN FLY EAST TO INVITE HOOVER TO RACES

Mrs. Phoebe Omlie and Mrs. Blanche Noyes, who participated in last year's cross country women's Derby, took off from Curtiss airport yesterday noon on a flight to Washington, D. C., where they will invite President and Mrs. Hoover to attend the national air races, which will be held at Curtiss field from Aug. 23 to Sept. 1.

Prior to the takeoff the women flyers were entertained at lunch by Miss Dorothy Schmidt, president of the Junior league, which will entertain the women flyers taking part in the races. Mrs. Omlie and Mrs. Noyes expect to reach Washington today and will visit the White House at noon.

Condition of Mrs. Judson Unchanged, Doctors Say

The condition of Mrs. Rebecca A. Judson, widow of the second president of the University of Chicago, Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, remained unchanged yesterday at the Albert Billings Memorial hospital, her physicians said. Mrs. Judson, who is 60 years old, became ill on a European tour and the physicians say they have no hopes of her recovery.

630 MORE MEN ARE WANTED BY TWO DRY CHIEFS

More Money Also Sought for Enforcement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—Heavy increases in manpower and money will be asked at the next session of congress by the executives of the two newly organized federal agencies charged with enforcement of the prohibition law.

Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of the bureau of prohibition, announced today that he has definitely decided to request more prohibition agents, probably 500.

At the same time Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of the bureau of industrial alcohol, said he would need an additional 90 inspectors and 40 agents and clerks to handle permit work formerly handled by prohibition agents.

Seeks to Improve Staff.

Although Director Woodcock explained that his plan to augment the dry forces is only a move to improve an already satisfactory organization, his request is expected to furnish ammunition to the wets, who in the past have interpreted demands for more dry agents as evidence of increasing violations of the law and as alibis for lack of enforcement. Mr. Woodcock insisted, however, that the inadequacy of his force will not be cited as a cause for any failure to obtain results.

The present force in the prohibition bureau, which was transferred to the department of justice July 1, consists of 2,700 employés, of whom about 2,000 are agents. Five hundred more would be an increase of 25 per cent. In the industrial alcohol bureau of the treasury department, headed by Dr. Doran, there are approximately 1,400 employés and an addition of 120 more would be 8 per cent.

Adds $2,500,000 a Year.

As the average cost of maintaining an agent in the field is $4,000 a year, an increase such as Mr. Woodcock contemplates requesting would cost about $2,000,000 annually while that asked by Dr. Doran would amount to about $500,000, a total of $2,500,000. This year's appropriation for the two bureaus was $15,000,000.

Announcements by the two dry law executives regarding personnel were made after a second day of conferences with their subordinates at which enforcement programs were discussed.

Today Dr. Doran presided over an all day session of his twelve permit supervisors from the various industrial alcohol districts. Mr. Woodcock addressed them upon coöperation between the two bureaus. Yesterday the 12 administrators of the prohibition bureau met with Mr. Woodcock. The conference will close tomorrow when Mr. Woodcock meets with his 12 special agents, charged with detecting big violations and conspiracies.

Chicago Men Attend.

Officials representing the Chicago district at the meetings are J. F. J. Herbert, prohibition administrator, and Alexander Jamie, special agent, both under the bureau of prohibition, and E. C. Yellowley, permit supervisor, under the bureau of industrial alcohol. The Chicago district of both bureaus covers Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana.

The disclosure by Director Woodcock that he will seek more men occasioned surprise because of his comment in a statement of policy yesterday that he thought the number of his employés too small, but preferred "to await the result of experience before saying that definitely."

The conference with the administrators, he explained, caused him to make up his mind definitely. Almost without an exception, he said, the administrators complained of insufficient agents and promised more effective results if they were given more. He declined to say in what districts the largest number are needed, but pointed out that he does not believe in concentrations in particular areas but rather "steady pressure" in all of them.

Asked if he did not foresee further congestion of the courts when more agents are put in the field to bring in more violators, Mr. Woodcock admitted that that would probably be one result, but demurred at discussing the question further.

Another query put to the director was: "Have you discussed the question of home brew and home wine making?" He replied that these topic had not even come up at the conferences. In his statement yesterday, Mr. Woodcock stressed the policy of going after the commercial liquor traffic instead of wasting time on "the pitiful, picayunish cases" which was accepted as an indication that the federal forces will leave home brewers alone.

Unification Is Urged.

Unification of the border patrol services, a step sponsored by the Wickersham commission and provided for in a house bill pending before the senate, was strongly advocated in a radio speech tonight by Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury. He declared that such a reorganization would not hinder travelers or disturb friendly relations with Canada.

Approximately 25,000,000 people and 7,000,000 automobiles will cross the border this year, Mr. Lowman said.

"Some attribute this enormous travel to the supposed American thirst for booze," he continued. "However, to buy booze in Canada you have to have a permit to purchase, and the records show that less than three out of every one hundred American visitors qualify as buyers."

DECLARES SHE'S VICTIM OF PLOT

MARY NOLAN (IMOGENE WILSON).

Dope Charge Made

Hollywood, Cal., July 31.—[Special.]—Mary Nolan, pretty film actress, who once occupied front page space under the name of Imogene Wilson because of her love escapades with Frank Tinney, the actor, declared tonight she was the victim of a plot to ruin her reputation, after federal narcotic agents had been given search warrants to examine three of her apartments. The warrants were based on affidavits signed by two nurses, who charged the actress was a drug addict.

Miss Nolan is at a local hospital but hospital officials stated she went there for treatment for a severe case of sunburn.

V. H. Despain, a federal investigator, found her at the hospital this afternoon. "I failed to find a single mark of a needle," he said. "I am firmly convinced Miss Nolan is not an addict."

'ARF PINT FINDS VIRGIN FORESTS 2 HOURS AWAY

Just Short Hop to Ideal Vacation Land.

BY ROBERT WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Menominee, Mich., July 31.—[Special.]—THE TRIBUNE'S air pathfinder, 'Arf Pint, on a reconnoitering cruise to northern vacation lands, took off from the yacht club harbor off Grant park this afternoon at 2:15. Three hours later and less than 300 miles away it circled over Chambers island, sending a frightened herd of deer to the cover of sheltering pines.

Chambers island, 15 miles northeast of here, where the trail finding plane is anchored tonight, is a beauty spot of thickly grown pine and spruce trees surrounded by wide beaches washed by the waters of Green bay. The island boasts a population of 16, a light house and a landing field for air planes cut into a forest.

Like all the scenic regions of Wisconsin and northern Michigan, Chambers island is only a hop, skip and jump from Chicago by air.

Natives Appreciate Airplanes.

Natives in this region look upon the airplane as a boon to the vacation lands of Wisconsin. The captain of the little steamer that plies semi-occasionally between the mainland and Chambers island watched the big Sikorsky splash into the harbor today and observed:

"Your big business men down in Chicago are going to be working in one state and playing in another when they get hep to these flying machines. The two places will be over 300 or 400 miles apart but it won't take them any longer than the time they spend on the train now going out to Evanston and Oak Park. And it'll be a lot more pleasant. It sure won't take 'em as long as it takes me to get here from the mainland. It's 15 miles to Menominee and it takes an hour and 15 minutes."

Chambers island, as virgin as any region within 2,000 miles from Chicago, is little more than two hours away from the loop. Its deep harbor and wide beach provide a natural docking place for airplanes and amphibions.

Easy Reach of City by Air.

The 'Arf Pint in its flight today covered a section of the route which will be followed by the great lakes air cruise of water planes which will take off from Detroit on a 2,500 mile tour of the lake towns on Aug. 7. The purpose of the lake cruise, as was the purpose of the 'Arf Pint's hop today, is to demonstrate to the sportsmen of Chicago, Milwaukee and other mid-western cities that the scenic lands around the great lakes are within easy reach of their offices by air.

The 'Arf Pint followed the shore line of Lake Michigan on its hop to day, cruising 50 feet above the water. A brief stop was made at Milwaukee where forward looking city and county officials have recently completed one of the most modern airports in the middle west.

Flying Governor's Home Port.

Continuing on to Sheboygan, the 'Arf Pint cut off its course to pass over Kohler. There a wide white circle laid out in a large field makes the airport where Wisconsin's flying governor keeps the commuting plane that carries him from his home in Kohler to the executive offices at Madison.

All the way from Kenosha to the mouth of Green Bay, large harbors, created with fine modern government breakwaters, bore silent testimony to the ceaseless activity of Wisconsin congressmen.

The path finding ship continued along the shore line to Manitowoc and turned west at Bailee's Harbor toward Chambers island.

James Reed Warns Britain Against Evil of Reformers

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri today issued a warning to Great Britain against meddling reformers in comments sparkling with the wit and insight which have made his appearances on the senate floor famous.

England is going the same way as the United States, said Mr. Reed, and the poor worms had better turn now before they are made inhuman by oppressive government.

Too Much Government.

"After touring England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales," Mr. Reed said, "I am more than ever confirmed in my conviction that this poor old world is suffering from too much government.

"During the 18 years I have been associated with the legislative branch of government I have seen hundreds of lawmakers come and go, many of whom I wouldn't hire in my office for $10 a week. But they make the laws controlling the lives of 120,000,000 people.

"Governments the world over seem to imagine that their job is to make laws to restrain the moral aspects of human lives. The result is hideous and would be more so if it weren't that human nature is what it is, and that the downtrodden worm will always turn at some degree of oppression.

Sees U. S. as Suppressed.

"No country that I have ever heard of ever reached the superb state of oppression by government that my own has reached. Let's get down to concrete examples. When I was a boy there were girls in my town who would have cut me from their acquaintance with horror had they thought that I was the sort of boy who would take a drink of whisky. Then came prohibition.

"Within the last few years I have seen some of those girls, now gray haired women, tap a bottle of whisky and pass it to their 18 year old daughters. Why? Because our government has attempted to say 'Thou shalt not drink.'

"I see the same sort of thing over here. We will regain our liberty to drink in a few years, I think, because a law prohibiting prohibition will be the only new law left to pass. But look out that you folks don't get a law presenting you with prohibition. You are nearing it."

JURY'S REPORT PRAISES LINGLE DEATH INQUIRY

Newspaper Men Cleared of Racket Charges.

through the regular channels of the present city administration."

The jurors had called all the witnesses indicated by Brundidge as being racketeers, or as having information concerning racketeer reporters. They had summoned the heads of the Lingle inquiry and had questioned them thoroughly as to their work. They had called Russell, Stege and Corporation Counsel Samuel Ettelson to inquire into the appointment of Russell.

Vote Appreciation to Ettelson.

One juror, after the letter was read, said that the grand jury had commended Mr. Ettelson after he had given his testimony, and that the jurors by unanimous vote had given him a rising vote of appreciation.

The grand jury's resolution, in which Mayor Thompson was petitioned to restore Capt. Stege as head of the detective bureau, referred to Stege as a "tremendous asset to the police department and a highly efficient officer."

The resolution was read by reporters yesterday afternoon to John H. Alcock, acting commissioner of police, who succeeded Russell and who has relegated Capt. Stege to an obscure post.

"What is your comment, commissioner?" Alcock was asked.

"There's quite a breeze blowing across my chest from that window," he said.

"What is your comment, commissioner?"

The police head turned brusquely and said:

"No comment."

THE STEGE RESOLUTION

Following is the text of the grand jury's resolution concerning Capt. Stege as addressed to Mayor Thompson:

"The July grand jury has been urged by the newspapers of Chicago to call before us Capt. William Russell, who was commissioner of police at the time of the murder of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, and Capt. John Stege, formerly deputy commissioner of police, and various other members of the Chicago police force.

"The grand jury did call before it the above mentioned police officers and made a thorough investigation into the activities and methods of the Chicago police department before and after the Lingle murder, and Capt. Stege was proven, to the satisfaction of the grand jury, to be a tremendous asset to the police department and a highly efficient officer in relation to the arrest and conviction of certain well known gangsters and to the removal of gangsters who have besmirched the name of our city.

"The grand jury respectfully petitions you that Capt. John Stege be reinstated as head of the detective bureau of the police department."

List Members of Jury.

The members of the grand jury are:

Bernard De Vry, foreman, real estate, 1049 North Sacramento avenue.

Oscar A. Wilson, secretary, bookkeeper, 1725 Wilson avenue.

Henry H. Lunt, real estate, 8146 Ingleside avenue.

Patrick Griffin, superintendent, 4702 Gladys avenue.

Fred A. Mayer, 1218 North Grove avenue, Oak Park.

John G. Hodges, salesman, 6716 Perry avenue.

Fred C. Hagstrom, real estate, 11127 South Park avenue.

Gust W. Peterson, bricklayer, Oak Lawn.

Charles F. Howard, factory agent, 6615 Minerva avenue.

Leslie L. Sanders, insurance, 7643 Ridgeland avenue.

George E. Andrews, clerk, 5951 Princeton avenue.

L. C. Esscher, railroad employé, 2215 East 70th place.

Carl Hilledy, contractor, 159 North Elmwood avenue, Oak Park.

Timothy Casey, claim adjuster, 8029 Eberhart avenue.

Jens Henriksen, monument worker, 6220 Warwick avenue.

Ross C. Poultney, traffic manager, 8023 Bennett avenue.

All of the jurors signed both the letter to Chief Justice Normoyle and the resolution commending Capt. Stege.

Give Text of Jury Report on Lingle Case, Racket Charges

The full text of the July grand jury's letter to Chief Justice Normoyle is as follows:

"The July, 1930, grand jury, having received from your honor certain suggestions that Harry T. Brundidge, a reporter for the St. Louis Star, who had written several articles on the crime situation here in Chicago, appear direct before the grand jury. The articles caused much comment by the press of Chicago and the general public.

"They alleged that the reporters of certain Chicago newspapers were racketeering.

"It appears that John A. Swanson, state's attorney of Cook county, had requested Mr. Brundidge to appear before him and give any evidence that he might have pertaining to the crime situation in Chicago, the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, and the alleged racketeering of newspaper reporters. It further appears that Brundidge refused to come before the state's attorney, but offered to appear direct before the grand jury and give in detail the results of his investigations in Chicago relating to the general crime situation, also the alleged racketeering of certain Chicago newspaper reporters, and give any evidence that he might have pertaining to the Lingle murder.

Brundidge Before Jury.

"Pursuant to the suggestion of Judge Normoyle, the grand jury, through its foreman, telegraphed Brundidge, inviting him to appear direct before the grand jury, which he did. All parties mentioned in the testimony of Brundidge were later asked to appear before the grand jury, together with several others who the grand jury thought might give some light on the crime situation, the testimony of Brundidge, and the murder of Lingle.

"During the appearance of Brundidge and all the other witnesses that were called the state's attorney or some of his assistants were present, at the invitation of the grand jury.

"Up to the present time the jury has been unable, after exhaustive questioning of all the witnesses called, to definitely substantiate the evidence disclosed by the testimony of Brundidge. A great deal of this testimony was hearsay. Some of the statements made by Brundidge as to conversations with different newspaper men were admitted by them, but such admissions did not disclose anything of an incriminating character.

"It is the opinion of the jury that Brundidge, in his capacity as a reporter, was acting in good faith and tried to run down to a definite conclusion the reports that he had gathered, many of which were predicated upon purely hearsay evidence.

"The grand jury deeply feels its responsibility and has at all times during its sessions given due diligence to duty and attempted to assist the state's attorney in solving the Lingle murder.

"Numerous rumors appeared in the public press relative to the manner in which William Russell was appointed commissioner of police. From the evidence that was produced before the grand jury by various public officials, it is our opinion that his appointment came about through the regular channels of the present city administration.

Expect Early Solution.

"Further, the grand jury recommends that the citizens of Chicago cooperate with the state's attorney's office and other law enforcing bodies, also with the special state's attorneys, Charles F. Rathbun and James C. McShane, and the investigators headed by Patrick T. Roche, chief investigator of the state's attorney's office, who are working solely on the Lingle murder, which we have every reason to believe will soon be solved.

"In conclusion the grand jury wishes to express its entire confidence in State's Attorney John A. Swanson's efforts to solve the Chicago crime situation. Also its appreciation of the able coöperation of his assistants, William A. Rittenhouse and Edwin J. Spiro, and the very efficient services of Adolph Braveman, deputy clerk of the Criminal court."

QUARANTINE 160 BOYS AS 2 DIE OF MENINGITIS

Doctors Watch Camp of Chicago Youths.

One hundred and sixty Chicago boys were quarantined in their camp at Fish lake, one mile north of Volo, Ill., in the western part of Lake county, yesterday following the death of two of their companions by spinal meningitis.

The dead are William Malmet, 13 years old, 1227 South Spaulding avenue, and Theodore Brant, 13 years old, 1027 Lill avenue. A third boy, Alfred Essar, 10 years old, 1019 South Damen avenue, was in a hospital, ill, but physicians had not determined whether he is ill with meningitis.

Malmet and Brant complained of stomach pains on Tuesday morning. They were treated by Dr. Angelo Binto, camp physician, but when they developed high fevers were taken to St. Theresa's hospital in Waukegan. Malmet died soon after arriving and Brant died yesterday.

Harry Craig, 4 years old, of Bruce's Lake, died of the disease at the Lake County hospital. He was not attending the camp.

Two physicians from the state department of health ordered the camp quarantined for ten days.

The camp opened on June 14 and was scheduled to close Aug. 30.

The camp is run by the West Side Y. M. C. A. of Chicago and most of the boys are from Chicago's west side. A statement from F. A. Hathaway, assistant general secretary of the association, said no other cases had been found and that the Y. M. C. A. was taking every possible precaution.

DRY OFFICER KILLS FATHER OF THREE IN RAID ON STILL

Brownstown, Ind., July 31.—[Special.]—Chief of Police Homer Phillips of Seymour shot and killed Lee Mullins, 30, alleged moonshiner, this afternoon, about fifteen miles southeast of here.

A party of officers under the direction of Meredith Stewart, deputy sheriff, were hunting for a still when Mullins caught sight of two of the officers. Mullins started to run. Phillips called to him to stop and fired at the ground several times.

Finally Phillips raised his shotgun and fired at Mullins, who was approximately 100 yards away. Two buckshot entered Mullins' back and lodged in his heart, killing him.

Mullins, who came here from Tennessee, is a world war veteran. He is survived by his widow and three children, the oldest of whom is eleven.

No gun was found on Mullins. Relatives indicated that they would file charges against the police officer.

BEATEN TO DEATH IN QUARREL.

George Washington, 45 years old, a Negro, 3743 Giles avenue, was beaten to death yesterday in a quarrel with another colored man at 4201 South Ashland avenue.

ALCOCK NAMES H. A. BURKHARD DEPT. SECRETARY

Herman A. Burkhard, Englewood baker and restaurant owner, was named temporary secretary of the police department yesterday by order of Acting Commissioner Alcock. Burkhard was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination as clerk of the Probate court of Cook county last April on the Snow ticket. His political sponsor, he said, is William J. Balmer, commissioner of public service and 17th ward Republican committeeman.

Burkhard takes the post left vacant by the removal of Philip R. Crippen several weeks ago. He must take the civil service examination for his position in competition with other candidates, Maj. Carlos Ames, president of the commission said, and if he should head the list he will be given the job for six months on probation. After that period, if still secretary, he cannot be removed arbitrarily, it was said.

Burkhard is 35 years old and lives at 425 Englewood avenue. During the war he served 20 months in France as regimental major of the 415th Telegraph battalion.

ATTORNEY CASE QUESTIONED IN MAGUIRE HEARING

Tells of Conversation on Appointments.

The appointment of Mrs. Mabel Reinecke to the board of election commissioners was discussed yesterday in the hearing on the petition for the removal of Fred V. Maguire as chairman of the board of election commissioners on the charge that he permitted persons with police records to act as election judges and clerks. Throughout the day Charles Center Case, special assistant state's attorney, who brought the action, was questioned by Albert Fink, counsel for Maguire.

Case said he had recommended Mrs. Reinecke himself, but that he now considers that the recommendation was unwise. He added that he had subsequently apologized to County Judge Jarecki for the recommendation. Case said that he knew Mrs. Reinecke was a supporter of Ruth Hanna McCormick for United States senator, but thought that she was fitted for service on the board because she was not aligned with any of the local Republican factions.

Attorney Questions Case.

Attorney Fink questioned Case on the attitude of Senator Charles S. Deneen and the Chicago Daily News at the time of the appointment.

FINK—Did Judge Jarecki tell you in any conversation that Senator Deneen had made a personal request of him for the appointment of some member of his own faction? CASE—I don't recall that he did.

Q.—Did the judge tell you that Senator Deneen had represented to him that he was making the request, and had authority to represent to the judge that such was the wish of the Daily News? A.—No, he never told me that.

Q.—What effect did you think that the appointment of Mabel Reinecke would have on Deneen and the Daily News, with reference to their attitude towards Judge Jarecki in his candidacy for reelection this fall? A.—Why, I thought that if Judge Jarecki selected somebody that was not aligned with a local faction, I couldn't see how it could have any effect on his candidacy.

Asks About Appointment.

Q.—Certainly. But I am asking you how you thought the appointment of Mabel Reinecke, in view of her connection with Ruth Hanna McCormick, would react upon Senator Deneen and his faction of the Republican party and upon the Daily News. A.—Why, I didn't think of it particularly in the first instance, but I thought of it afterwards.

Q.—Let me put it to you in plainer language. Didn't you know that if the judge exercised his right of appointment and selected Mabel Reinecke that the Deneen faction and the News would turn on him like a pack of hounds? A.—No, because the editor of the Daily News said the contrary to me when I called on him at the judge's request.

Attorney Case said he had talked with Charles H. Dennis, editor of the Chicago Daily News, about Jan. 4. After he had explained Mrs. Reinecke's fitness for the post, Case said that Mr. Dennis remarked: "Well, I don't know Mrs. Reinecke so well, but I understand she is a pretty good woman."

Q.—Did Dennis indicate to you that the appointment would be satisfactory to Senator Deneen and the News? A.—Why, only the way I have indicated it. I don't recall that Deneen's name was mentioned.

Q.—Did Dennis indicate to you that the appointment would be satisfactory to the Daily News? A.—No. He just said what I said; that his impression was that Mrs. Reinecke was a capable, honest woman, and that he was inclined to think that she would make a good election commissioner.

Discusses Resignation.

Attorney Case testified that he had resigned from his post as attorney for the board after an argument with Maguire over the erasure from poll lists of names of voters against whom complaints had been filed. Maguire, he said, had told him that if he [Maguire] maintained his position Case would have to resign.

Case said that he considered it his duty to see that the board functioned according to law. He added that since his resignation he has decided that it was not his province to investigate as to whether improper persons were appointed as election officials.

Case said that he had talked with a reporter for the Daily News—a personal friend—before filing his petition against Maguire. Case said he felt the evidence warranted an indictment of Maguire, but that the probability against conviction decided him against such a move. Case will occupy the stand today and Monday, Attorney Fink said.

SEMINOLE BOYS TO LOSE THEIR EARS FOR THEFT

Miami, Fla., July 31.—[Special.]—Two Seminole Indian boys, one 12, the other 14, began today on their journey to the seat of Seminole justice in the big cypress swamp of Florida.

Three days ago the boys stole articles valued at $7 from a filling station. The theft was discovered by other members of the tribe. In accordance with Seminole tribal law the boys will have their ears lopped off close to the head by the chief medicine man of the Seminoles at Big Cypress.

Blast Causes $2,000 Fire at Hotel Beauty Shop

An explosion of undetermined origin last night caused a $2,000 fire in a beauty shop in the Chatfield hotel, 3333 Washington boulevard. Max Keichner, proprietor, said he did not believe the place had been bombed, as he had had no trouble. Chief Christian Peterson of the 18th fire battalion said he would ask the fire attorney to investigate.

SMILER'S MOTHER FREED; REFUSED CUSTODY OF BABY

Edna Lopinot, 19 years old, of East St. Louis, who says she is the mother of "Smiler Jimmy," who was abandoned last February in the Stevens hotel, was freed yesterday, as was her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Lopinot, when charges of child abandonment were called for trial before Judge John Sbarbaro in the Felony court. The judge ruled that Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast could not prove parentage of the child and that therefore a conviction could not be sustained.

Prosecutor Mast made no strong objection to the judicial action when Attorney William McKinley, representing the women, said that the child would be left at St. Vincent's orphanage until such time as arrangements could be made to give him a good home. The judge said he did not believe that either of the women was worthy to be given the custody of the child.

Gunman Holds Up Street Car Rider and Gets Away

Seating himself in a surface car beside Harry E. Bradley, 7539 Kingston avenue, an insurance broker, a bandit last night thrust a revolver, concealed under a newspaper, against Bradley's side and demanded his money. Bradley handed over $9. The robber then rose and left by the rear platform. It was a west bound 75th street car, the robbery occurring near Halsted street.

2,000 REPORT FOR SHERIDAN C. M. T. C. DUTY

Cadets to Start Official Program Today.

Two thousand cadets, members of the citizens' military training camp, reported yesterday at Fort Sheridan for a month's tour of duty. Three states are represented—Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. The first day's program consisted of physical examinations and inspection of equipment.

The cadets were officially welcomed by Brig. Gen. Caspar H. Conrad Jr., commandant at Fort Sheridan, but they will be in charge of Col. Robert J. Dinford, as Gen. Conrad leaves next week for the Philippines. The camp is known as Camp Donald W. White in memory of a lieutenant from the middle west who fell in action Nov. 1, 1918, while leading his platoon of the 23d infantry near St. George, France.

Take Oath Today.

Tomorrow morning the cadets will assemble to take the oath of allegiance from Gen. Conrad. Following that ceremony the official camp program will be inaugurated. Special events will include:

Chicago day, Aug. 5; Governor's day, Aug. 9; American Legion and Auxiliary day, Aug. 14; Patten day (a program of track and field meets made possible by Mrs. James A. Patten), Aug. 19; Daughters of the American Revolution day, Aug. 21, when Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the army, is expected to visit the camp for an inspection; Visitors' day, Aug. 23.

Half Take Basic Course.

The courses this year will be based on the same principles as those of last year, with about 50 per cent of the cadets enrolled in the basic course. Those in the "red" course will have the rank of corporal; those in the "white" course the rank of sergeant, and the "blues" will be cadet officers.

There will be a daily guard mount at 4:30 p. m. and a parade of the corps each evening at 5.

Suspended Sentence on Knox Jr. for Bad Check

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—A 90 day suspended sentence was imposed on Philander C. Knox Jr., son of the late senator from Pennsylvania, in police court today on a charge of passing a $279 worthless check. The complaint was made by P. N. Childs of Washington, who said Knox, who lives at Wild Rose Shores, Md., gave him the check for a motorboat engine.

"MARRYING PARSON" HELD.

James Morrison Darnell, known widely 15 years ago as the "marrying parson," yesterday was held in Felony court under $5,000 bonds on charges of passing worthless checks.

BINGA BANK IS ORDERED CLOSED FOR STATE AUDIT

Report Frozen Assets at Colored Institution.

The Binga State bank, 3452 South State street, the only Chicago bank owned and operated exclusively by Negroes, was closed yesterday afternoon by State Auditor Oscar Nelson for examination of its books. The bank has a capital of $200,000, a surplus of $45,000, and in 1929 had undivided profits of about $11,000. Deposits total $1,200,000.

A decline of real estate values, particularly in the south side colored districts, together with the general business depression, was given at the state auditor's office as the reason for the condition leading to the closing. A steady shrinkage of deposits, along with a decline in the cash reserve, precipitated the closing, it was said.

Depositors Draw on Savings.

Many depositors out of employment have been forced to draw heavily upon their savings, while at the same time the bank has been carrying frozen assets in the form of realty contracts, officials at the auditor's office said.

Representatives of State Auditor Nelson appeared at the bank shortly before 2 p. m., closed its doors and posted the customary notice.

No statement of the exact condition of the bank's affairs can be made pending completion of the audit, it was announced.

Special Audit Made.

Two weeks ago the auditor's office became cognizant of the condition of the bank and a special audit was made at that time which led ultimately to yesterday's action, it was disclosed.

Jesse Binga, for many years a leader in the south side colored district, and regarded as one of the wealthiest Negroes in the country, is president of the bank. He could not be reached for a statement. C. N. Langston is vice president and R. H. Mickey is cashier.

Binga has real estate offices at 3633 and 4730 South State street.

TAR, FEATHER REBEL ORGANIZER IN FIGHT OF COAL MINE UNIONS

Shelburn, Ind., July 31.—[Special.]—Kidnaped last night by five men and tarred and feathered from neck to hips, Joseph Claypool, field organizer for an insurgent mine workers' union, was reported determined to return to his home here tonight.

The kidnaping was believed to be an outgrowth of a bitter struggle in the coal areas of Illinois and Indiana to wrest control of union miners from the United Mine Workers of America.

Five men dragged Claypool from his home to the street, placed him in one of the automobiles, and amid Mrs. Claypool's screams for help drove away in the darkness, one of the cars passing over Mrs. Claypool's foot and seriously bruising it.

PARK COPS' SICK LEAVE PAY CUT TO 75 PER CENT

After today all Lincoln park policemen and other employés who are injured in the line of duty or who are ill will draw only 75 per cent of their salaries while on silk leave instead of full pay, as heretofore. The order was signed yesterday by President Wright of the park board and becomes effective at 8 o'clock this morning. The park board will continue to pay hospital and medical bills until the injured person is pronounced fit for duty.

REPORTS $960 HOLDUP.

James Wallace, 40 years old, 20 East Delaware place, an exercise rider at Arlington Park, was robbed of $960 cash, representing his winnings at the track Wednesday, by two unarmed men as he left a friend's home at 1217 North Dearborn street, he told Hudson avenue police.

FORM MOTHERS' GROUP TO END BABY SHUFFLES

Women Think Infants Are in Wrong Homes.

Baby "John Doe" of the scrambled identity in the Watkins-Bamberger mystery amassed plenty of sympathy yesterday from seventy-five mothers at a massmeeting at the Hotel Sherman. At the gathering there was organized the Associated Mothers of Illinois, pledged to take action to prevent future mixups in the identification of babies at hospitals. There was unanimous conviction that the Charles Bambergers of 5523 South Paulina street have the wrong infant, and regret that they weren't present to learn why.

Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, health commissioner, explained his part in investigating the case of the shuffled babies, and Barratt O'Hara, attorney for William Watkins, 1619 West 82d street, father of one of the infants, spoke. The articles of incorporation of the mothers' organization were read by Mrs. Grace Dibrell, temporary chairman, and the women present filled out membership blanks.

Asks Hospital Inspection.

Out of the discussion came one resolution and two suggestions. The resolution, prepared by Ald. Thomas J. Bowler, provides that the mayor appoint a committee to inspect the maternity wards of Chicago hospitals. One suggestion was from Dr. Kegel, to the effect that two witnesses attest the identity of a new born child before it leaves the delivery room. The other came from a young mother, who wondered why it wouldn't be feasible to have one nurse whose official duty would be to be present at the birth and follow the infant through the hospital routine back to its mother's bed.

Quoting the scientists who studied the babies, and especially Dr. H. R. Fishback, Northwestern university blood specialist, Dr. Kegel asserted positively that there was no doubt that the infants were now in the wrong homes. The hospital, he added, stands behind the tag found on the back of each.

Watkins Attends Meeting.

William Watkins, the only one of the four parents to attend the meeting, stood yesterday on his previous statement with regard to his divorce from his first wife and marriage to the mother of one of the disputed children. On advice of Mr. O'Hara he refused to say where he was divorced in March, 1928, and where he was married on June 29, 1929.

NOTE—The following dispatch was received last night from Toledo, O.: "Signa Serene, psychic, will reach Chicago by airplane Friday at the request of Attorney Barratt O'Hara to aid in solving the Watkins-Bamberger baby tangle."

TOMORROW—FINAL DAY

The $30,000 Post and Paddock Stakes for 2 year olds and the $10,000 Matron Handicap feature the final day of the 1930 Arlington Season tomorrow.

Public's enthusiastic endorsement makes Arlington's 1930 season the greatest ever held in America—$30,000 Post and Paddock Stakes for 2-year-olds and the $10,000 Arlington Matron Handicap feature final day tomorrow.

A PROMISE was made to the Chicago public when the Arlington season opened one month ago. A promise that all the high traditions long associated with the "Sport of Kings" should surround every event in the Arlington meet. A promise that the spirit . . . the glamour . . . the atmosphere of Belmont, Saratoga, Ascot . . . would be at Arlington for your enjoyment.

The Arlington Board of Directors asked you to witness the great beauties of this famous racing shrine. Told you of its non-profit policy—and of the host of major improvements made at Arlington for your comfort and pleasure. And promised you that the country's finest stables would be represented here in this thirty days of racing.

Tomorrow's events at Arlington climax what many call the most colorful and successful racing meet ever held in America. Arlington has been host to highest notables of city, state and nation. And the greatest names in racing stand on its roster as a tribute to the high ideals of its sponsors.

It is with a deep sense of pride that the Arlington Board of Directors thanks the Chicago public for its generous support. That—more than the rich purses and the presence of America's finest thoroughbreds—we hold responsible for the success of Arlington's season. A success in attendance, color and glamour, surpassing, we believe, anything ever before experienced in an American racing meet.

In this spirit of deep appreciation—we invite you to join us tomorrow at Arlington's final day for 1930. As a climax, befitting this splendid season, we have prepared a most unusual card of events for Getaway Day—the $30,000 Post and Paddock Stakes in which practically every 2-year-old in America is eligible, the $10,000 Arlington Matron and five other exciting races. Seven glorious spectacles you'll never forget. There will be no increase in admission prices for this gala day. First race at 2:15 p. m. A notable afternoon of thrills, excitement and color—made possible by your presence.

49 TAKE EDISON TEST, BUT DON'T FEEL TOO SURE

Books Hadn't Taught 'Em All the Answers.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

West Orange, N. J., July 31.—[Special.]—Forty-nine bright young men were splashing about in Coney Island's breakers late today still arguing about life and death on a desert side, the price of second hand flivvers, how much Iowa farm land is worth and what to do about cancer cures, communism and Manchurian cooking.

They were trying to relax from Thomas A. Edison's second annual brain test, to which they had given their morning in the hope of winning an Edison scholarship. The electrical, chemical and mechanical section of the examination had not presented any unexpected difficulties, but they were agreed that only a combined Wall street genius, a philosopher, a theologian and an engineer could make much headway with the second section of the test, which dealt with personal reactions to intricate problems.

The examination began at 9 o'clock and ended at 1:20 this afternoon. The winner will be named tomorrow morning and he can go to any scientific school he chooses.

Not in School Books.

"They asked a lot of things we never had in school," said James H. Thompson of Wichita, Kas., the first to finish. Young Thompson was sure "I'm not the winner."

The boys, selected in preliminary examinations from every state in the Union, were tired and excited as they rushed through lunch and started for Coney. They waved everything else aside to discuss the question having to do with seven people on a desert, only three of whom could be saved. The question read:

"You are the head of an expedition which has come to grief in the desert. There is enough food and water left to enable three people to get to the nearest outpost of civilization. The rest must perish. Your companions are: 1. A brilliant scientist, 60 years old. 2. Two half breed guides, ages 51 and 32. 3. The scientist's wife, interested mainly in society matters, age 39. 4. Her little son, age 6. 5. The girl you are engaged to marry. 6. Your best friend, a young man of your own age who has shown great promise in the field of science. 7. Yourself. Which would you choose to live and which to die? Give reasons."

"Now, I told them," said Bob Smith of New Mexico, "that I would save myself, my girl and the youngest guide. I'd take the guide along to get us out."

Most More Chivalrous.

Most of the boys, however, professed a bit more chivalry so long as it was all in theory and answered women and children first, choosing their sweetheart and the six year old child. A couple of the boys, however, insisted they would keep their sweetheart with them on the desert. Dying together in one another's arms held romantic possibilities, they agreed.

The lad from Louisiana was more direct. "I suppose it would be a point of honor to let the women be saved," he smiled, "but I do not think I would do it."

The young man from Colorado declared he would stay behind and let his sweetheart, the little boy and his chum go, but added: "I would make my chum promise to be kind to the girl."

The Nevada contestant, probably with Mr. Edison in mind, confessed he had advised saving "the old scientist, the young scientist, and the kid." They could accomplish the most by living, he believed.

The Arkansas youth favored rescuing the old scientist, his young friend and the girl. "The kid is too young to go without his mother," he explained.

It was concerning the third one to be saved that there was the most argument. Usually he was the "best friend." The "old scientist" got a good break because most of the boys pointed out that Mr. Edison was past 60 when he did some of his best work. Just the same several of the boys wrote "he's too old" and left him to die in the desert.

Prices of Farms and Fivvers.

Regarding the price of Iowa farm land there was a considerable difference of opinion. The question was, "If you owned ten acres of land in a good farming section of Iowa, how much would you sell it for?" Arizona, Colorado, and Arkansas agreed that $1,000 would be about right. The question as to "How much a Ford coupé which had run 5,000 miles would sell for" brought one answer that should make Henry Ford, one of the judges in the test, smile. It came from the tall, gangling Arkansas youth. "I would ask $500, but I wouldn't expect to get it," he said, "and if I sold it I would advise the man that bought it not to try to drive it over the country roads in Arkansas."

The other boys set a price range of from $25 to $500 on the second hand flivver and some of them wanted more information about its condition and age.

Find Any Easy One.

One of the questions that three of the boys characterized as "pie" was: "What qualifications do you think a man should have to be on the board of judges of the Edison scholarship?"

Robert Ladd, a serious young fellow from Burlington, Vt., said:

There were several "trick" questions that left most of the contestants cold. One was, "For how much would you sell a secret process of manufacturing a drug which would definitely cure cancer?"

Some of the boys fixed the price at anywhere from $5,000 to $15,000, but most of them insisted they would "give it away to medical institutions."

In regard to a question as to the the sale price of information which would enable one manufacturer to take $1,000,000 worth of profit away from another every year, the contestants were noncommital. They seemed to sense the "trick" questions and said they would not sell the "secret of a new poison gas which would make any nation supreme in war."

Various prices, ranging as high as $100,000 were asked for divulging "definite proof that the dishonesty of an employé was costing a multi-millionaire $200,000 a year."

A number of ingenious replies were received to the following question:

"In the year 1900 how would you have gotten the first cable of a suspension bridge across an impassable gorge one-half mile wide?"

Some of the boys wanted to shoot the first strand across and then use it to build the cable, but another youth quietly remarked that in 1900 the best way would have been to fly the first strand across on a kite.

General Information Questions.

Among the questions asked in the general information group was:

"Briefly identify the following: Jane Addams, Leonardo da Vinci, Charlemagne, John Ericsson, John Hay, Col. T. H. Lawrence, Pasteur, Marco Polo, Phidias, and Tamerlane.

"Give the approximate dates of the fall of Troy, battle of Gettysburg, first successful aeroplane flight, Solomon, birth of the earth, Michael Angelo, discovery of America by Europeans, formation of the league of nations, pithecanthropus erectus, Norman conquest of England."

"Name the planets in the solar system."

"What is a light year?"

"What causes the seasons of the year?"

"Name four anthropoid [manlike] apes."

"What is the function of leucocytes?"

"What did Lewis and Clark do?"

Where Are These?

"In what countries are the Taj Mahal, Johannesburg, Mandalay, Lake Titicaca, Monte Carlo, Oslo, Khyber pass, Danzig?"

"What authors created Tom Sawyer, Desdemona, Mulvaney, Dauber, Nicholas Nickleby, D'Artagnan?"

"What were Thor, Apollo, Tristam, Siegfried, Oberon, Robin Hood?"

The boys also were asked what connection salt has with the present revolutionary movement in India. They were required to identify Joseph Stalin, Aristide Briand, Primo de Rivera, and to explain "the purpose of the recent international conference in London."

HICAGO ACTS TO REGAIN MARKETS LOST TO EAST

ights to Cut Rail Rates to Atlantic, Pacific.

Y ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—Chicago and the central west e preparing to make another effort regain the markets they lost when e opening of the Panama canal gave eir seaboard competitors cheaper ight rates.

What may be an opening wedge the lowering of rail freight rates om Chicago to the Atlantic and cific coasts and the Gulf of Mexico meet Panama canal competition is en in the recommendation of an terstate commerce commission exiner that the Southern Pacific be owed to reduce its transcontinental te from New York to Galveston by ater and from Galveston to Los ngeles by rail. If after arguments the fall the commission should ant this reduction Chicago will move r similar reductions of freight costs tidewater.

Press for an Exception.

The Mississippi Valley association ewise is pressing for an exception that provision of the law prohibit- a lower rate for a long than for included short haul, whereby rates ay be reduced between Chicago and ulf ports sufficiently to enable the tter to compete with Atlantic ports merchandise for export moving om the central west.

The Pittman amendment pending in e senate interstate commerce committee would forbid departure from e long and short haul provision to eet Panama canal competition. The central west vigorously is fighting this amendment. C. E. Childe, manager of the traffic bureau of the Omaha chamber of commerce, pointed out when testifying before the committee recently that the interstate commerce commission under the Pittman amendment "could not allow the lines operating between Chicago and New Orleans to compete with the north Atlantic ports on the traffic moving through the Panama canal to and from the west coast of South America and Australia."

Mr. Childe graphically described the plight of the central west produced by the opening of the Panama canal.

Increased Railroad Rates.

"We had before the war," he said, "sufficiently low railroad rates so we could compete in considerable measure in the intermountain territory with the older established industries further east of us, but since the war and the consequently very largely increased railroad freight rates the disparity between rail and water rates has become so great that our industries in the whole middle western territory have found their business displaced so largely in both the Pacific coast territory and the inter-mountain territory by traffic which moved from points farther east to the Atlantic seaboard and through the canal to Pacific ports and then into the interior of the far western country that the effect has been that very generally the industries in our territory have either withdrawn entirely from that trade or have largely curtailed the amount of business, either withdrawn from it or curtailed it to such a point that the business has almost entirely vanished.

"The same situation prevails also with reference to the eastbound traffic. We find even in Nebraska, in the Missouri river territory, business which we formerly did with the east in products originating in our territory has been in part displaced by traffic moving from the Pacific coast ports through the Panama canal into the Atlantic seaboard territory.

"As an illustration of that take the highly specialized commodity of eggs. Our midwest territory formerly shipped not only a tremendous volume of eggs into the Atlantic seaboard territory, but also exported to Cuba and other countries south of the United States. That business has been very much diminished by reason of eggs moving in refrigerators shipped from the Pacific coast through the canal into the same eastern, Central American and Caribbean countries.

Market Largely Shut Off.

"Our industries in the Missouri river cities that formerly supplied such things as manufactured steel products, soap, stock feed, dry goods, and furniture have likewise been largely shut out of not only the Pacific coast territory but to a very considerable extent the immediate territory as far east as Salt Lake City and even further east, points west of Missouri river cities."

R. M. Campbell of Chicago, traffic manager of the Butler Paper corporation, gave a concrete example of the handicap of central western industries.

"Just before I left the office," he said, "I was called upon to handle an order of 40,000 pounds to San Francisco. I placed the order with a mill at Lockhaven, Pa. There is a 22½ cents freight rate to Philadelphia, and a 55 cent ocean rate, insurance approximately of 5 cents, and 1 cent California toll. I think that makes 83½ cents, as compared with the rate from our Ohio mill of $1.08 or from our Wisconsin mill of $1."

MICHIGAN DRY LAW TOO HARSH; 2 WOMEN, FATHER OF 14 FREED

Lansing, Mich., July 31.—[Special]—Michigan parole authorities today took advantage of powers not granted the state courts to soften the harsh provisions of the state's mandatory prohibition law, the Cuthbertson act, for three former Lansing residents, two of them women and the other the father of 14 children.

Mrs. Lydia Foster and Mrs. Lillian Baker, housewives who formerly lived in the same neighborhood here, were discharged from serving the remainder of their sentences of one to four years in the Detroit house of correction. They were the first women to feel the penalty of the new law, enacted by the 1929 legislature under which a commercial violation of the dry law is punishable by a minimum sentence of one year's imprisonment and $100 fine.

Sentence was passed on both Nov. 29, 1929, by Judge C. B. Collingwood, who later declared that he would not have given them prison terms if he had had discretion in the matter.

Lee Fernberg, 65, whose wife and 14 children were left without support when he was given a one to four year sentence in Jackson prison in April of this year, also was paroled. It was explained that part of the family had been forced to resort to county aid since his imprisonment.

POLICE CAPTAIN DENIES COACHING MOONEY WITNESS

Says Waiter Identified 2 as Near Bombing.

San Francisco, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—Testimony of John MacDonald, recanting witness in the Mooney-Billings bombing trial, today was denied by Police Capt. Charles Goff before the California Supreme court, hearing testimony on application of Warren K. Billings for a pardon recommendation.

Goff, in detail, denied allegations that he, as sergeant of the city bombing squad, had coached MacDonald to falsely identify Billings and Thomas J. Mooney. Billings and Mooney are serving life terms for the Preparedness day bombing here in 1916 in which ten persons were killed.

Identified by Photographs.

MacDonald, the policeman testified, voluntarily identified Billings and Mooney from photographs before he had seen either of the accused men.

MacDonald, a Baltimore waiter, testified he had perjured himself at the trial which resulted in the sentencing of the two men. As a witness who testified he saw the defendants near the scene of the bombing, much importance was attached to his testimony.

In his testimony which elaborates an affidavit he recently made, MacDonald named Goff and Charles M. Fickert, district attorney in 1916, as having told him Mooney and Billings were the men he should identify and of having pointed them out to him.

Nurse Tells About Billings.

At the afternoon hearing Miss Estelle Smith, a witness against Billings in the original trial, testified. She was a nurse in a doctor's office in 1916. She said that shortly before the bombing Billings came to the office representing himself as a newspaper cameraman.

Billings had a suitcase, she continued, and when she refused him permission to go to the roof he sat down to wait for one of the doctors.

A little later he asked permission to leave the suitcase and Miss Smith said she started to give it to an office attendant.

"My God, don't touch that; you'll strain the lenses in my camera," Billings was quoted by the witness as shouting.

Vincent Kennedy, secretary to Gov. C. C. Young, announced the governor and the advisory pardon board also will examine MacDonald in Sacramento Saturday. MacDonald will be the only witness in the hearing which is on the application of Mooney for a pardon.

DROUGHT LEADS TO SHORTAGE OF WATER, DISEASE

Prospects for Rain Held to Be Remote.

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—The drought continued its unchallenged sway over vast agricultural sections today with no immediate prospect for the heavy rains necessary to rout it.

Reports of water shortages, disease, and forest fires were added to the conquests of parched fields and damaged or ruined crops in areas where there have been no generous rains for weeks on end.

Light rains and thunderstorms offered temporary relief in some sections of the south and southwest.

From the northwest, however, where the three successive heat waves that intensified the effects of the drought had their origin, came new reports of rising temperatures.

Wells Are Drying Up.

In sections hardest hit wells and springs were drying up, with farmers forced to sell their live stock at the present low market prices. In others animals were suffering from lack of water, pastures were burned, and stock was being fed on winter feed.

The state board of health in Kentucky estimated the water supply for one-third of its population was extremely limited. Water was being hauled to some communities. Four times the number of typhoid cases were reported for this July as for the month a year ago, with infant sickness greatly increased.

Large forces of men patrolled forest fires in Pennsylvania to keep them under control and away from the crops they threatened. Community water supplies were depleted in some parts of the state.

Forest Fires in West.

Forest fires raged in western Montana and northern Idaho.

Winds approaching tornado proportions and thunderstorms broke the heat wave in parts of the south, although the drought continued to stalk parts of Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas, and Kentucky. A tornado in north central Louisiana damaged buildings in ten towns and resulted in at least one death.

A hailstorm increased the damage to corn and cotton near Atlanta, Ga., and one woman was killed by lightning.

Crops Damaged, Kills Self.

Salem, N. J., July 31.—(AP)—Brooding over the extended drought, which has virtually destroyed his crops, Harry P. Artons, 64, committed suicide on his farm today.

Hannar Artons, a daughter, told police her father had shown acute distress over the failure of his crops. He had constantly read the weather reports and had prayed for rain. A note found on the kitchen table today said: "I am going away forever."

LEGGE GOES OUT ON ANOTHER JAUNT INTO WHEAT RAISING BELT

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board left Washington tonight on a two weeks' trip that will carry him across the country. His purpose is further to promulgate the farm board's policies among farmers and agricultural leaders.

Mr. Legge's first stop will be at Indianapolis, where he will address a convention of extension workers tomorrow. Over the week-end he will confer with officials of the Farmers' National Grain corporation in Chicago, leaving Monday for Montana. Later he will journey through Idaho, Oregon, and Washington, returning by way of Chicago.

While he did not indicate the nature of the subjects to be discussed at the Chicago conference, Mr. Legge declared that undoubtedly the millers are now buying wheat because of the present low prices. "If I were a miller I certainly would go into the market and fill my tanks because wheat is so cheap," he said.

IOWA CORN CROP SHORT

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., July 31.—[Special.]—Fields of corn which have passed through the third driest July in Iowa's history without suffering are like the proverbial needles in the haystack. A survey of the state indicates there has been a drop of over 45 million bushels of corn, although the exact damage which prolonged drought has done will not be evident for weeks yet, local crop observers state.

Yet, with Iowa's largest single source of rural wealth in jeopardy, not a farmer interviewed seemed particularly concerned. The general view seems to be that a smaller crop will bring more money, particularly as the forced production decrease seems general throughout the country.

High Lands Suffer Most.

L. M. Karl, federal crop statistician here, believes the crops have withstood the dry heat during the formative period unusually well, due he says, to abundant moisture and ideal planting and cultivating conditions in the spring. He says the corn fields damaged most are those replanted or on high and sandy soils. The damaged area lies well within the area west and south of Des Moines to Council Bluffs, although some reports from the northwestern Iowa corn fields show moderate damage.

As reports from other states are weighed against the Iowa corn condition today, this state probably will have twice the crop in Illinois, and these two states again will lead all others in production of corn.

Pop corn and sweet corn crops also are seriously damaged. Both are grown in large amounts in Iowa. Small grains being threshed show higher yields per acre than were forecast generally over the state.

Only two Iowa summers have been as dry during the growing season as the month just ended, according to C. D. Reed, weather bureau director here. July, 1886 was the driest corn growing month and July, 1884, the second driest. Average corn yields for the state in these years were 12 and 24 bushels, whereas the present unofficial estimate for the state is slightly under 35 bushels.

Timothy seed, of which Iowa produces nearly the entire crop, has been severely cut, and is expected to cause a shortage in hay crops next year. Live stock on dry pasture, with a shortage of old corn, makes hogs and cattle an expensive item in the state during this abnormal drought, THE TRIBUNE survey indicates.

CITY MAY PAY MONDAY, BANKS BUY WARRANTS

Monday will be pay day at the city hall, it appeared yesterday. Deputy City Controller Victor S. Petterson announced that Chicago and Detroit banks have purchased $4,000,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants and cash will be available on these sales as soon as Attorney Henry Cutler finds the tax levy valid.

Policemen and firemen will be paid with this money for the month of July. Oother pay rolls also have accumulated since the middle of the month. The purchasers of the warrants and the amounts they bought, are: Continental National Bank and Trust company, $1,250,000; Union Guardian Trust company of Detroit, $750,000; First National Bank, $750,000; National Bank of the Republic, $375,000; Foreman State National bank, $375,000; Central Trust company, $200,000; Northern Trust company, $150,000; and the Harris Trust company, $150,000.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM COURTESY EFFICIENT SERVICE ALWAYS

The Acid Test

The acid test of the importance of anything in life is to consider what life would be like without it. Applying this test to the railroads gives an impressive idea of their important place in our national life.

Without the railroads, travel and all that it means in the way of family, social and business contacts would be sadly handicapped. Only railway service offers travelers dependability in all seasons and under all weather conditions combined with speed, safety, comfort and moderate prices.

Without the railroads, the nation's commerce would be strangled. The railroads handle speedily and economically anything in any quantity going anywhere at any time. This all-inclusiveness of service is unshared by any other freight carrier or combination of carriers. Substitute services might be utilized in limited measure, but always at a sacrifice of some of the qualities that characterize railway service. For the most part, commerce would revert to the primitive conditions of a century ago or be put to staggering difficulties, inconvenience and expense if it had to do without the railroads.

Other means of transportation may have some advantages over the railroads in individual respects, but none can rival them in all-around usefulness.

Prudence suggests that an asset so important to the country should be safeguarded. This calls for liberal patronage of the railroads and a sympathetic public interest in their welfare.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,
President, Illinois Central System.

PLAN TO ENROLL 10,000 AS FOES OF VOLSTEAD ERA

Crusaders Seek Members Among Business Men.

Plans were announced yesterday for a campaign to enroll 10,000 business men in the ranks of the Crusaders, a national organization of younger men opposed to prohibition. The initial drive will be begun in the loop district during the next thirty days and will expand to the residential and industrial sections in the fall.

More than one hundred business executives have already agreed to join the volunteer brigade headed by Seymour Wheeler, chairman of the membership committee, according to the announcement. J. Russell Forgan, executive commander of the Crusaders, said that during the last three weeks thousands of men had joined in the fight against the Volstead act, the Jones law and the 18th amendment.

A Temperance Organization.

"We have met with a remarkable reception everywhere when we have pointed out that we are opposed to the old time saloon as well as to the present prohibition legislation," said Mr. Forgan. "We believe that we are one of the few temperance organizations in existence, and we have found that most of our members have come through a desire to join forces with a law and order organization. It is our opinion that gangdom and prohibition are inseparably united.

"We hope to enroll as many as possible of the men who were too young to vote or were in France fighting when the fanatical legislation was passed."

Some of the suburbs have jumped ahead of the schedule, Mr. Forgan declared, and have already organized battalions of Crusaders. A large group has been formed in Lake Forest under the leadership of Farwell Winston and plans are under way to organize in Highland Park, Winnetka, Evanston, and other nearby suburbs.

Epstein Makes Statement.

The Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform obtained a statement from Max Epstein, chairman of the board of the General American Tank Car company, to the effect that the present prohibition laws are not helpful to employers of labor.

DRANK LIQUOR HE SO LOUDLY DAMNED, SAYS WIFE OF EVANGELIST

Kansas City, Mo., July 31.—[Special.]—For twelve years the Rev. Carl Walker, "healing evangelist," and Mrs. Walker, his wife, advance agent, secretary and evangelistic assistant, have fought Satan picturesquely, ferreting out his shortcomings and holding them up to excited congregations.

Now they are fighting each other in the courts. The congregation is the public.

"Mr. Walker had his say yesterday," said Mrs. Walker last night. "Now I'll have mine. He said yesterday that liquor I found in his tabernacle Tuesday was my own. That is untrue. It was his.

"He said he never touched a drop. That man would do anything. He used to drink two-thirds of a tumbler of whisky before he went into the pulpit. It is true he preached a good sermon under its influence; he said it gave him vigor.

"Yes, sir. He would get up and damn alcohol to the congregation while my electric ice box was full of it. He used to try to make me drink. I wouldn't touch it. O! I've protected that man too long. He went out to Lake Lotawana Christmas with two suitcases full of liquor. 'Let's have another snort,' he would say.

"One of the women of the congregation was his source of supplies. When he ran out of liquor, he would call her up and say, 'I'm out of cough syrup, auntie. Bring over some more.' She brought it to him in a market basket."

Mrs. Walker has been granted temporary alimony from her husband.

DRYS RAID CAFE ON NEAR NORTH SIDE; ARREST 2

The North Star Italian restaurant, at 15 West Division street, was raided by prohibition agents yesterday afternoon.

The raiders said they found a large quantity of liquors.

Alfred Gurri was arrested as the owner and Paul Urban as the waiter. Other raids yesterday included the Champlain hotel, 4813 Champlain avenue, where Mrs. Ella Hall, proprietress, was arrested.

Albert J. [Cozy] Dolan, former baseball player, and Harold Watson were held in bonds of $2,500 by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday for a hearing Aug. 7. Dolan's Club Huron, at 16 East Huron street, was raided on Wednesday night.

MOTOR DEATHS SHOW INCREASE OF 15 PER CENT

Coroner Reports on Seven Months of Year.

Automobile fatalities in Cook county for the first seven months of the year show an increase of approximately 15 per cent over the corresponding period of 1929, Coroner Bundesen announced yesterday. The 1930 records list 556 deaths as against 483 in 1929. In the first seven months of 1928 there were 552 deaths. The figures for each month follow:

	1929.	'30.		1929.	'30.
January	60	55	June	81	101
February	51	87	July	88	89
March	48	69
April	77	81
May	78	74	Totals	483	556

Two deaths yesterday raised the 1930 toll to 556. The victims:

Dr. James L. Aldrich, 74 years old, 5941 Normal boulevard. Died at the Belmont hospital of injuries received on Wednesday when his automobile collided with a street car at Milwaukee avenue and Raven street.

Frank Harberger, 56 years old, 1479 Ogden avenue, a cement worker employed by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. Fatally hurt when struck by an automobile on the Northwest highway between Barrington and Palatine.

Winners of the interfleet drivers' safety contest, in which 74 fleets of commercial trucks competed in a campaign to reduce accidents on Chicago's streets during the last 12 months, were announced yesterday by the Chicago safety council, sponsor of the contest.

The report states that an average number of 5,936 vehicles operated a total of 76,073,792 miles from July 1, 1929, to July 1, 1930, the period of the contest. During these 12 months there were 8,708 accidents reported, with 8,736 miles traveled for each accident.

Laundry Group Leads.

The group of concerns embracing laundries, cleaners and dyers, headed the 13 divisions in which the entrants were grouped. This group had an average accident rate of .035 for every 1,000 miles operated. The Hartless Austin Linen and Towel Supply company won first place in the group. The wholesale house division, with an average of .179 accidents for every 1,000 miles operated, was at the bottom of the list.

The report shows the accident frequency rate among the contestants decreased during a period when motor vehicle accidents in general in the city were on the increase. The number of accidents reported in the contest for June was 530, the lowest recorded during the 12 month period.

HORSEBACK RIDER KILLED BY TRUCK.

Decatur, Ill., July 31.—(AP)—W. W. McDonald, Macon farmer, riding a horse to deliver in Decatur, was fatally injured when struck by a truck two miles south of Elwin on state route two this morning.

PRESIDENT PLANS FOUR DAYS' OUTING AT HIS CAMP IN MOUNTAINS

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—Another four day excursion to his lodge in the Blue Ridge mountains is planned this week-end by President Hoover.

With a party of guests he expects to leave the White House after lunch tomorrow and return early Monday.

USE CITY DOCK 3 YEARS, THEN ASK FOR PERMIT

Legal Mystery Over Boat Cafe Clears a Bit.

Some of the mystery involving the legal status of the steamship Rotarian, floating fish and chop house, run by Walter J. Powers, which has been tied to a dock on the south side of the Chicago river between Clark and La Salle streets for nearly three years, was dissipated yesterday.

A search of city council proceedings revealed that on last May 12 an application was filed seeking permission to tie the boat at the dock. The application was never acted on.

No Dock Rental Collected.

The report persisted in the city hall that the boat previously and since has been allowed to occupy almost a block of dock space by "special permit" from the office of Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe. On Wednesday Commissioner Wolfe promised to "look into the matter." He was in conference yesterday when a reporter made several attempts to see him.

The records of the bureau of compensation show the city has never collected rental for dock space, although it charges rent to others, including the speed boats which discharge and take on passengers at the Michigan avenue bridge.

Official Gives Permit Theory.

The theory under which the boat management acted in applying for a permit to tie up at the dock at which it had already been stationed for nearly three years was explained by a city official.

"Filing an application passed the buck to the city," he said. "The boat management can always explain that they can't help it if the city doesn't act on their application."

The inquiry into the Rotarian's rights was prompted by the ouster proceedings of the sanitary district against houseboats.

GORE, RICH OIL MAN IN SENATE PRIMARY RUNOFF IN OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 31.—(AP)—Two Oklahoma oil millionaires will be pitted against seasoned politicians when Democratic voters, Aug. 12, go to the polls at a run-off primary to select candidates for United States senator and governor.

Thomas P. Gore, who represented Oklahoma in the senate for 13 years, will oppose C. J. Wrightsman, Tulsa oil operator, in the senatorial run-off. William H. ("Alfalfa Bill") Murray, who was president of the Oklahoma constitutional convention, speaker of the state house of representatives and congressman before attemtping to establish Oklahoma colonies in Bolivia, will contest Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City, in the gubernatorial race.

In 3,108 of the state's 3,338 precincts Gore was leading Wrightsman tonight 65,528 to 65,029. Corrected figures from 3,220 precincts in the gubernatorial race gave Murray a total vote of 127,907, more than 60,000 greater than that accorded Buttram, who had 66,637.

Senator W. B. Pine, Republican, who will meet the winner of the Gore-Wrightsman contest in the November election had nearly a four to one lead over the combined votes of his two opponents.

"ICE BOX" BANDIT HELD AS SLAYER OF STORE OWNER

John Lawson, 22 years old, and John Mason, 21 years old, both colored, who the police call the "ice-box bandits," were held to the grand jury yesterday in $25,000 bonds each by Judge John Sbarbaro in the felony court after they had been identified by fifty of their robbery victims. Lawson was also pointed out in court as a murderer, and on this charge he was held without bail.

"Are you certain you recognize the slayer of your husband in this courtroom," Assistant State's Attorney Jack Baum asked Mrs. Rose Turek, 3702 Agatite avenue, whose husband, Isadore, was killed on Feb. 18 in a robbery of his delicatessen store.

"Yes, he is the man who killed my husband," she replied, pointing out Lawson. "I was standing only a few feet away when he fired the shot."

CRIMINAL COURT.

Charles Harbin and Peter Katnakas, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Walter P. Steffen.

Arthur McKenny, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Eddie Flowers, rape, sentenced to 1 year in the penitentiary; David D. Beyers, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary, by Judge E. I. Frankhauser.

BOOKED AS ROADHOUSE ROBBER.

Lester Gascon, 24 years old, 11034 Elbrooke avenue, identified as the bandit who escaped when his two companions were killed Saturday in the holdup of Anthony Sodo's roadhouse in Thornton township, was booked yesterday by the Homewood county highway police on a charge of robbery with a gun.

BOLTER NORRIS TURNS NEBRASKA "TOPSY TURVY"

G. O. P. Regulars, Drys, Klan Fight Senator.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lincoln, Neb., July 31.—[Special.]—Senator George W. Norris, insurgent Republican, who bolted Hoover for Smith in 1928, is in the thick of a battle for the Aug. 12 primaries that is turning the cow and corn country topsy-turvy.

The conservative, standpat Republicans are backing W. M. Stebbins, state treasurer, against Norris for the nomination, and are screaming about "party regularity" and a return to the two party system.

The big shriek they raise is that Democrats are getting ready to vote in the Republican primaries to put Norris over. Some Norris leaders admit this premonition is right and requires no mind reader to dope it.

Standpatters Swat Nye.

It's a jocund period out on the wild prairie. The standpats are swatting Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, accusing him of trying to blow up Norris' tires with his investigation of the primary campaign. The tariff is extolled by congressmen who voted for it and denounced by those who opposed it.

Grundyism has gone haywire and voices are upraised praising the "sons of the wild jackass" in arguments that Canada's overthrow of the King government this week means reprisals against the Hoover tariff in which Nebraska and the grain belt will be the sacrificial lamb. The picture album includes snapshots of politicians urging country audiences to rally round and give three rousing cheers for farm relief, to which the farmers are reported to be grunting the old response, "Bushwa."

The corn is scorched by the drought, and the other day for the first time in the history of the Omaha grain exchange cash corn sold at better average prices than did cash wheat. Farmers seem to view it philosophically—the sun is disposing of part of the surplus problem and "a short crop will fetch more bucks than a big one." Top corn in Omaha is 80 cents a bushel. In dry Nebraska, in other forms, it fetches $8 to $10 a gallon.

Both Sides Predict Victory.

To the observer Norris appears to be in the lead. The conservatives insist it will be a band wagon instead of an ambulance for Stebbins, but the ancients in politics look for Norris to win.

Senator Norris from all accounts is in bad with the Anti-Saloon league, the W. C. T. U., some of the Methodists, and the old Ku Klux Klan. Norris has been a pillar of the 18th amendment, and is rated personally and politically dry in a state known for its double wet and dry statesmen. To be sure, when the La Follette bunch was boosting him for President two years ago the senator was widely quoted as intimating that 2.5 per cent beer wouldn't be so wicked, but he stood high with the corn fed dry saints until he flopped to Al Smith.

The Rev. F. A. High, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, is off both Senator Norris and Gilbert M. Hitchcock, former senator, who is out for the Democratic nomination. Mr. High is putting in plugs for Candidate Stebbins. Norris in the opening address at an Epworth assembly here last week was as dry as ever. He said prohibition never had a square deal, and he took a slam at Secretary Andrew Mellon. In 1928 Norris said he was for Al Smith for his attitude on the "power trust" and farm relief. But despite his sustained dryness it cracked his slate with the Anti-Saloon league.

Here's a rather illuminating development: Supt. High has been whooping it up for Dr. Jennie Callfas of Omaha, for the Democratic nomination for senator. Dr. Jennie is former Democratic national committeewoman, who bolted Smith and backed Hoover. What the professional drys regard as heresy in Norris' bolting dry Hoover for wet Smith is doctrinal in the case of Dr. Callfas, who bolted wet Smith for dry Hoover. In general political gossip High is said to have got Dr. Callfas into the race.

The remnants of the old klan, too, are reported for Stebbins as against Norris, who bolted Quaker Hoover for Catholic Smith.

All these things, however, are figured by the Norris supporters to help Norris, because likely to impel Democrats to leap the party fence Aug. 12 to help the senator, who supported Smith.

A NEW COMPETITOR FOR COAL.

The coal miners' union is reported to be seeking to prevent the piping of natural gas into Chicago and other large cities. The union fears that natural gas will replace coal as a fuel. Where coal is now used, gas may be substituted, and, even if gas consumption is not increased, the amount of coal used in manufacturing gas will be lessened.

The fear that natural gas will become an increasingly important competitor for coal is well founded, but the coal miners are not going to save their market by trying to suppress their competitors. The effort to prevent the piping of natural gas over long distances can hardly succeed by legal means under our constitution, and, even if it could, the pressure of public opinion would probably defeat the effort of the union.

The only way that the competition of gas can be met is by improving all the processes of handling coal from the mine to the furnace. The unit costs of digging, loading, transporting and burning coal must be reduced if the mining industry is not to suffer another severe loss. There is room for improvement at every stage. The miners themselves have it in their power to lower the costs of bringing coal to the surface and loading it on cars. It is to their interest that coal be delivered as cheaply as possible. The industry should welcome the opportunity provided in the new traction franchise in Chicago to move coal cars at night on the surface and elevated lines, for this should mean cheaper coal to the consumer. Finally, the miners should encourage every effort made to improve the combustion processes, both for greater efficiency and for smokelessness. Under present conditions gas, for many purposes, is a vastly superior fuel, if its cost be left out of consideration, because it is clean and easily controlled. The time is coming when the public will no longer tolerate smoking chimneys in cities, and, unless raw coal can be burned smokelessly, it will have to give place to less offensive fuels.

In all these matters the miners' union is the ally of every one else in the coal business, including the owners and operators of mining properties, the railroads which haul coal, the dealers who sell it and engine room crews which handle it. All of these interests must realize that they are facing a new competition, perhaps the most devastating which has yet confronted the mining industry. Oil has cut into the market for coal, but for many purposes gas has every advantage possessed by oil and some which oil cannot claim. Even today, despite the relatively high price of artificial gas, it is being used increasingly for industrial and domestic purposes. If gas becomes considerably cheaper, as it well may when natural gas is brought to this region, the coal and oil industries will suffer unless they, in turn, can offer compensating advantages.

The coal industry, in facing competition in the past, has been reactionary. It has said, in effect, that the world cannot get along without coal and it has invited its customers to try substitutes if they dared. It has thus been not only backward but bull-headed, and it owes its present state more than anything else to its own behavior. For the sake of the thousands of men in Illinois who make their livings by mining and selling coal, we hope the industry will show better judgment in the face of the new and dangerous competitor now about to enter the field.

NEW STYLES IN CHAMPIONS.

Mr. Scott, the English heavyweight, wishes his public to understand that he was a slice or two away from his best when he met Mr. Stribling, the Georgia home boy, in the London ring, and is sorry he did not do a better job for old England. He is none the better at his age for several experiences in the American ring, where, it being impossible to enforce any rules, it has been decided to get along without them. This clears away a great deal of possible misunderstanding and complaint and leaves the championship available to any fighter who can provide himself with a strong armed second with a two by four or three feet of lead pipe.

Mr. Scott says that in the second round Mr. Stribling fetched him one in the body and caused his wind to depart for so long a time that he was in his dressing room before his breath returned to him. No fighter can do himself justice in such circumstances. The English are a fine old sporting breed and Mr. Scott will be credited with another good try. They are faithful to their traditions and Mr. Scott is one of them. Joe Beckett is another. It is a broad view and makes a boxer's life a pleasant one, different from what must be endured in the acrimonious American conditions. It must be our apology that ours also was the Roman fashion. If the fighter's toes came up too quickly the popular thumb settled his destiny.

Mr. Stribling demonstrated to the English patrons that Mr. Scott has undisputed possession of the kitchenette championship. Anywhere a button is touched everything folds up.

Any one who would in the least impede the development of heavyweight championship prize fighting along the line it has chosen for its future should be suppressed immediately as an enemy of happiness. Every day it gets brighter and better and soon may prove irresistible to Mr. Tunney, Mr. Dempsey, and even Mr. Corbett. Mr. Tom Heeney, it appears from the sporting pages, is still a participant, and that would seem to qualify all who have not been gathered to their fathers.

Mr. Dempsey and Mr. Tunney introduced the ring to its new possibilities with the long count and the rule that a blow is good wherever it lands, and there can be no complaint of the manner in which the game has availed itself of its opportunities. Thus opened up, it has become peculiarly rich in its personalities, to name only Primo Carnera, the bounding Alp; Mr. Stribling, who has his left hand anesthetized so it won't know what he's doing with it; Mr. Sharkey, who becomes pathological in the ring; Mr. Schmeling, the only heavyweight champion who ever had to learn it from the newspapers, and Mr. Scott, who has only the horizontal Mr. Beckett to fear in his class.

With these personalities and the possibilities inherent in them the prize ring is just beginning to find itself.

THE CHANGE IN PROHIBITION.

Prohibition Director Amos W. Woodcock, the administrator under the new department of justice direction of enforcement, has given his subordinates instructions in a statement in which he says that the Volstead act must be enforced "fairly, honestly, earnestly and lawfully." Mr. Woodcock said that he did not intend that the agents should waste their time with trivial offenders, but should concentrate upon the commercial traffic.

Both the government and the supergovernment prohibition organizations have endeavored of late to indicate the reasonableness of their purposes along with their regard for law and individual rights. No confidence at all can be given the fanatics. Any moderation they exhibit will be the consequence of alarm and not of true intention, and the government administration of prohibition will have to demonstrate with something more than statements. Its record is against it.

If it mends its ways it will be because it was forced to do so by the protests of citizens and of newspapers who denounced the prohibition practices when in doing so they exposed themselves to the outcry of bigots, political clerics and self-styled moralists and to reflections upon their character. Through the administration of the prohibition law the government has been indifferent to the worse procedure of its agents, including the quick trigger gunmen whose acts have been justified, whose authority has been acknowledged and whose immunity has been sustained.

The evident and general disapproval of such administrative conduct and the objection to prohibition doctrine and practice may have forced itself at last upon government consciousness, with the result that reforms will be made in the enforcement of the Volstead act, but the government cannot make a case for its own appreciation of the principles involved and violated. It may be compelled by public opinion to change its methods and it probably will be persuaded later by the same force to revise its ideas of the proper functions of government. It is too late for either to appear as voluntary. Changes in theory and act will have their source, as they are having, in the public resentment of Volsteadism and its consequences.

PAGE THE LEAGUE AGAIN.

Some casual editorial remarks were made the other day concerning the fate of minorities under the benign guardianship of the league of nations. The case of Dr. Adalbert Tuka might provide a marginal note for any discussion our ardent leaguists may be moved to give to the topic. Dr. Tuka is a Slovak who has been indiscreet enough to express the opinion that the Slovaks were entitled to complete autonomy if after ten years of union with the Czechs they were dissatisfied. He was arrested in the fall of 1928 and condemned on charges of espionage and conspiracy against the republic. The other day, "emaciated and haggard," he emerged from prison long enough to appear before the Czecho-Slovak Supreme court on the hearing of his appeal. His sentence is for fifteen years' imprisonment, of which he has served eighteen months. Dr. Tuka seems to have some rather impractical ideas, as his federation of Catholic states, but is he in jail, by any chance, because he was organizing or preaching armed rebellion, or because he was asserting claims to autonomy for his people which are among the forty-two petitions for plaintive minorities which the league of nations, their special guardian, has pigeonholed?

Editorial of the Day

A QUESTION OF QUALITY.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

Henry Ford, it will be remembered, remarked not so long ago that if liquor came back to America [he is one of those who believe that prohibition prohibits] he would abandon the automobile industry. His argument was that workmen who drank were incapable of the exacting requirements of his plant.

It was a silly remark from almost any point of view. Whether he knows it or not, his employés in Dearborn drink today. Competent observers have reported that prohibition is no more effective there than in any other industrial community, which means that it is flouted right and left. But Mr. Ford's enterprises are not confined to Dearborn or this country. He has factories in Canada and in Europe, where liquor not only is plentiful but legal. And now it appears that his foreign workmen are even better for his purpose than those who make nominal obeisance to Mr. Volstead.

The international labor office in Geneva, at his instigation, has been investigating living conditions in the various European countries to determine what scale of wages in each instance would permit Ford workers over there to enjoy a standard living equal to that of his Dearborn operatives. Among other things turned up by this inquiry, according to the report of Sir Percival Perry, chairman of the Ford Motor company in England, is the fact that with the same modern factory devices the European employé actually beats his American cousin in value of product.

The question arises, "Is he a better man?" We refuse to believe it. On the other hand, he unquestionably drinks better liquor. We suggest this explanation of his superiority as worth Mr. Ford's earnest attention.

MOTHER AND CHILD.

A WOMAN and her child are noticed as they stroll along the street. The woman is well nourished—in fact, she is rather too stout. Her arms are bare and her legs are stockingless. The skin of her face, arms, and legs is well tanned. Doubtless she has an ample supply of vitamin D. Since this vitamin is oil soluble and capable of being stored up for future use, somewhere within her there is a reservoir of this vitamin to be drawn on when the days are shorter and the sunlight is less therapeutic.

It is a fair inference that the calcium and phosphorus are in good balance in her tissues and that her resistance to infection is on a high plane. No one can say whether she has paid too much for these benefits. In all probability she will never again have a first class complexion, if she ever had one, and time will be required before she will learn whether senescence has come on too early. Be that as it may, were she to strike a balance today, I expect she could easily prove that she was not in the red. So much for the mother.

The child appeared to be a scant 4 years old. Her face was thin and her legs were scrawny. A curbstone opinion that the child was undersized, underweight, undernourished, and poorly developed was justified. The child wore shoes and stockings, her arms were covered by sleeves, and she had on a hat. The hat was justified. So were the shoes, if city pavements are ever a justification for shoes on children. But why the sleeves and stockings? If the mother thought she needed vitamin D and the action of sunlight on the skin and was willing to pay with a damaged complexion, why did she deny her child? There must be some answer that did not appear on the surface.

The glare being excluded, children need more sunlight than adults do. They have the job of growing and that requires a large amount of vitamin D. Their blood is liable to have calcium and phosphorus in a bad state of balance and, in consequence, the jaws develop poorly, the teeth are irregular in position and subject to decay. Children have less resistance to contagion and sunlight helps to build that up.

MAY LIVE LONG TIME.

Mrs. L. B. writes:

1. Is a leakage of the heart dangerous? The person is 29 years of age and quite worried.
2. How long can such a person live?
3. Can she do work, such as housework, cooking, etc.?
4. Is it necessary to be on a diet?
5. Has ether a bad effect?
6. Can she safely go on a vacation trip without any danger?
7. What form of exercise would you advise?

REPLY.

1. As a rule, persons with heart leakage discover that fact by accident.
2. Anywhere up to 80 years.
3. So long as compensation remains good persons with heart leakage should remain at work.
4. Eat the ordinary foods in ordinary amounts.
5. Let your physician decide when you come to that bridge.
6. Yes.
7. A person with a leaking heart should see his physician once a year or oftener. If there is any reason for regulating work and exercise have the physician lay down the law.

GALL BLADDER INFLAMED.

2. Is operation necessary for the first?
3. Will operation cure it?
4. Is it serious?
5. What is shingles?
6. What is the cause?
7. The cure?

REPLY.

1. The first is chronic inflammation of the gall bladder. The second is shingles.
2. Many cases of chronic inflammation of the gall bladder are not operated. The disease is not troublesome enough to warrant the cure.
3. Yes, as a rule.
4. It may be.
5. Neuralgia of an intercostal nerve.
6. Infection with a virus or a coccus.
7. It is a self-limited disease, but medical treatment helps.

Chicago, July 28.—[Friend of the People.]—I am writing to you in the hope of getting results on what I am about to say. I own a building on Campbell avenue and have a tenant living on the third floor who has been complaining about the smoke coming through her bedroom windows during the day and also at night. As the chimney on this building is lower than mine, no doubt it is a terrible thing to contend with, as the odor is mostly from burning garbage. Have made a complaint to the smoke abatement department of the city hall, without getting results. J. H.

Notice was served on owner of the offending building to extend smoke stack six feet within ten days. We are advised by agent of this build[illegible] that the stack has been extended. [illegible]spection will be made of the premises [illegible]out if nuisance has been [illegible]NK A. CHAMBERS,

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. W. M.

GENTLEMEN—BE SEATED!

Well, we saw in the papers yesterday that Prohibition Director Amos Woodcock proclaimed that he was going to train the dry law agents in the future to act always as gentlemen. Which is a perfectly swell idea. But it's going to take time. The first thing to teach the dry sleuths will be to cease, desist, and discontinue their usual uncouth remarks when searching for contraband liquor. As we have read happenings in the past the usual remark of the enforcement officials is, "Open this yere door 'er we'll kick tha damn thing in!" Instead of this ungrammatical and frequently uncalled for remark the gentleman dry agent of the future will say in a soft, well modulated voice. "I'm sorry, but if it isn't too much inconvenience or disturbing you in any way, would you please be kind enough to open the door?"

The gentleman sleuth should also discontinue the old practice of stopping a suspected automobile with the words, "Hey, youse, get inter tha curb, youse got a lot o' hootch in that car." The word "youse" for "you" is not authorized by any of the standard dictionaries and a gentleman should not employ it. Also the use of the word "hootch" was formerly frowned upon by cultured persons, but it must be admitted that our English speech has somewhat changed since the installation of the 18th amendment in the constitution. A fashionable woman moving in our best circles is quite liable nowadays to say, "Got any hootch at your house, darling? That fat-headed bootlegger of ours hasn't come around for a week and I can't get a drop anywhere. Isn't it disgusting!" And only the other evening we heard a charming member of our smartest set say to a late arrival at her dinner party, "There, you poor boob, sling that under your belt and cheer up!"

With the decadence in cultural English that has come with prohibition it will be doubly hard to teach the gentlemen hootch hounds (tck !tck! tck! but you wouldn't know what we meant if we called them by a more genteel expression) to be perfect gentlemen. Anyhow, they might be told not to say, "Hey, stop, er I'll shoot hell outten yer tires." "Outten" should never be used for "out of." The attention of the gentlemen who will in the future enforce the prohibition law should be called to this, repeatedly.

SUNRISE.

Over the dawn's pale purple the great sun comes striking, above the hills, the crimson drums

that beat insistently for that small age when day rides out
in night's dull equipage.

Only, the drums are silent as the mist rises from the mouth
night's lips have kissed.

JEANNE DELAMATER.

THEY'RE KICKING out in Colorado because the blue laws won't let 'em play peewee golf. Oh, go on, change the laws and let 'em play. If the people who play peewee golf weren't doing that they'd be sitting around in places with barred windows and padded walls with the keeper rubbing molasses on their hands and giving them feathers out of the duster so they could pick the pesky things back and forth from one hand to the other. If they take more pleasure in peewee golf, then they ought to be allowed to play it.

FOURTEEN CENTS is exactly what it cost Matt Neely to secure the nomination for senator in West Virginia. That'll make the other senators mad; fourteen cents for a campaign is establishing a dangerous precedent.

A TRIB HEADLINE yesterday said that Paris had banned legs by draping them with long skirts as a feature of next autumn's scenery. That's good; after seeing the girls on the beaches all summer it will be a nice rest for tired eyes.

THE W. K. CITY COUNCIL has passed a bill appropriating four thousand eight hundred berries to buy a squawkie machine so that that field of endeavor can be censored. That's the right idea; now every squawkie king or queen that's got adenoids or talks through the top of the nose could be sent to the city hoosegow for thirty days. And next we trust the city council will censor the radio and soak a heavy fine on every radio announcer and sermonizer who says Purdoo, constitooshun, nooze, roon, and athaletic.

IN A MOST elaborate booklet describing a fashionable hotel at Asheville, N. C., we note that "We dress our waiters in freshly laundered white suits with the sleeves buttoned around the wrist." How truly odd! We always thought that sleeves were buttoned around the ankle.

Let us part swiftly
Before it grows stronger,

That destroys with its hunger.

You may go your way
Confessing a hurt,
But I shall go my way

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 1, 1914.

VIENNA.—"Conversations" between Russian and Austro-Hungarian diplomats were continued. No reports of the "conversations" have been given out, but it seems to be admitted again that a European conflict is not inevitable. However, complete military and naval mobilization was ordered by the Austro-Hungarian government in reply to the Russian mobilization.

ST. PETERSBURG.—Never in the memory of living man has Russia lived through a day of such intense emotion as yesterday. The government decided on a general mobilization of the forces of the empire late on Thursday night, July 30. This step was forced upon it by German military preparations and considerations of strategy. Curt notices, printed on pink paper, signifying that the czar had decided to bring all the forces of the empire (about 4,000,000) to a war footing, and ordering all reservists without distinction to report to the nearest police stations, have been posted on all street corners.

BERLIN.—The German emperor made a war speech to the people of Berlin in which he expressed the hope that if he was unable to induce his opponents to maintain peace he would wield the sword and show his enemies what it means to provoke Germany. In part he said: "A fateful hour has fallen for Germany. Envious peoples everywhere are compelling us to our just defense. The sword has been forced into our hands. . . . And now I commend you to God. Go to church and kneel before God and pray for his help for our gallant army."

ROME.—The Giornale d'Italia published an extra containing two dispatches said to have been received by an Italian telegraph agency. One said that Germany has sent an ultimatum to France demanding an assurance of its neutrality within twelve hours. The other said Germany was sending a demand to Russia that it cease mobilization within 12 hours.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 1, 1900.

NEW YORK.—"Humbert is dead today. Tomorrow it will be some one else's turn. Prince or president, it is all the same. All are tyrants." This threat against rulers of the countries of the world was made at a gathering of anarchists at Kohle's hall, 414 5th street, tonight. The men were jubilating over the assassination of the king of Italy and lauded his murderer, Angelo Bresci, chosen by lot by the Paterson anarchists to go to Italy and kill the ruler.

MONZA.—The body of King Humbert was lying in state today when his assassin was removed, still defiant, from the local police station to the jail.

NEW YORK.—John Clark Ridpath, the historian, died at Presbyterian hospital of a complication of diseases. He was born in Indiana in 1840 and was graduated from Asbury [now De Pauw] university in 1863. For years he was one of the leading spirits of that institution.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 1, 1865.

BOSTON.—Lieut. Gen. Grant has been the guest of Boston today and he was given a splendid ovation wherever he went. At the navy yard he was received by Rear Admiral Stringham, with the marine guard drawn in line, and the 3,500 workmen cheering him as he passed. At the home of the Hon. George Washington Warren, near Bunker Hill monument, Gilmore's band played "See, the Conquering Hero Comes."

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Turner issued an order declaring the city election of July 25 held in Richmond void for the reason that voters were excluded because they had lost their right to vote due to absence as federal soldiers when no such ground was taken as against soldiers absent in the rebel army.

NEW YORK.—The Mexican emigration scheme has been revived. A society called the "American legion" has been organized for the purpose of encouraging emigration to Mexico with a view to developing the resources of that beautiful country.

DANGEROUS BUSES.

Chicago, July 30.—On route 52 the Chicago Motor Coach company has inclosed the back entrances of the buses entirely, making it necessary for every one to enter at the front door, which is narrow, and then pass along an 18 inch aisle, if one desires to go to the upper decks or back seats. Worst of all, they crowd these narrow aisles with passengers. Then, when those in the upper decks or lower back seats desire to leave, they must, instead of stepping off at the rear, as heretofore, push through this already crowded narrow aisle, which is particularly dangerous to children.

It will probably take an accident in which 40 or 50 lives will be lost before our city fathers will start an investigation of this flagrant disregard of the public safety. A. L. BREESE.

THE VERDICT OF THE VIRGINIA BAR.

Shabbona, Ill., July 26.—I read with interest your editorial in the July 25 issue: "Virginians Speak for Our Inheritance." You commend the resolution backed by fifty lawyers requesting the repeal of the 18th amendment. You call attention to this resolution coming from "the profound wisdom and statesmanship which the mighty sons of revolutionary Virginia so richly contributed to the foundation of the nation," etc.

About 75 years ago another group of lawyers in this same Virginia you so loudly praise decided that President Lincoln had no constitutional right to compel Virginia to remain in the Union. The verdict of history is that those lawyers in Virginia were wrong. History vindicates the constitutionality of President Lincoln's use of force to compel the rebel states to remain in the Union. The verdict of history will also vindicate the 18th amendment.

FRANK HAMPTON FOX.

WATER FOR THE LAWNS, BUT—

Chicago, July 19.—This is the time of the year when water seems to be important only to those who wish to water their lawns. Between 4 and 10 o'clock many third floor apartments are entirely without water. That means it is impossible during those hours to cook, wash, bathe or drink.

If I remember aright, once before such a condition was corrected by a police order that water for lawns could be used only during the early morning hours. WESTSIDER.

A NEW FIELD FOR PHILANTHROPY

Chicago, July 26.—Your editorial on "Changing Fashions in Philanthropy" is quite timely and to the point. Why hasn't some philanthropist thought of supplying needed capital to small worthy manufacturing industries which are hard hit by a crisis in the stock market, such as the last one? Is it because they are probably interested in one of the great monopolies which wait until all the little fellows' resources are exhausted and then gobble the patents and make more millions for a few stockholders?

I know of one such factory which had to lay off almost all help for the lack of sufficient funds to buy materials with which to fill orders.

While giving to educational institutions in perpetuity is laudable, yet it seems to some of us that a really big hearted giver would warm to the thought of investing a little money to help men keep the business they are striving to hold for themselves as a support in old age, and at the same time relieve unemployment. H. S.

BURGLARY INSURANCE RATES.

Chicago, July 28.—A recent interview between the mayor of Milwaukee and a feature writer for your paper quoted the burglary insurance rates in Chicago as $34.38 per thousand. The writer thinks it only fair to the companies and agents writing this form of coverage here in Chicago to somewhat amplify that statement. It is possible to obtain $1,000 of burglary coverage here at a rate as low as $18.00 per thousand, and at various rates ranging up to $41.25, depending on the individual need of the applicant. In the great majority of instances it is entirely unnecessary for the average applicant to pay the high rate if he will give his agent an approximate idea of the values which he desires to protect.

WILLIAM H. MCELLIOTT.

JURY DUTY FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

Chicago, July 21.—From time to time THE TRIBUNE and other Chicago papers print editorials referring to the reluctance of business men to serve on juries. Why should busy executives or their employés be compelled to leave their business when thousands of unemployed men who need money have the time to serve? Why not advertise for jurors and let the unemployed have an opportunity to earn a few dollars?

SECOND FLOOR—ALSO IN SUBURBAN STORES

Think ahead! Save on —in the August box sale UNDERWEAR

Nearly every suit of Marshall Field & Company's athletic underwear is reduced in this event! The sale is of such a sweeping nature that purchases of several boxes should be considered. Never before have we included so many of our own lines of undergarments. This August event, therefore, is of unusual significance!

SECOND FLOOR—ALSO IN SUBURBAN STORES

SUITS — in a great final re-grouping! Exceptional values—$35 and up

$35, $45 or $55 will buy a suit this month that heretofore has sold for much more. Broken lots and size ranges of our own fine merchandise now marked at the lowest price of the season. Business, four-piece and prep suits are included in this event.

SUMMER SUITS HAVE ALSO BEEN REDUCED— $25 and $35

THIRD AND FIFTH FLOORS—ALSO IN SUBURBAN STORES

Even in warm weather are worth thinking of OVERCOATS

If you'll purchase your overcoat now and hang it on a hanger until it's time to wear it you will have saved—well, plenty! These coats have been carried over and must be cleared in order to make way for incoming merchandise. In doing this the reductions we are making are extraordinary. Prices start at $35

FOURTH FLOOR

SPORTSWEAR — in an unusual and very timely clearance

Two months of sporting activity remain. Here's an event that will save you dollars . . . and you'll have plenty of time left to use the articles offered. Knickers, riding breeches, sweaters, robes, bathing suits, four-piece suits, leather jackets—there's a little bit of everything; however, none of the size ranges are complete.

FIFTH FLOOR

Reductions will also be in effect on silk Ties, white jacquard madras and broadcloth Shirts, and Straw Hats, as well as Hose and Handkerchiefs!

RUSSIA ORDERS FOREIGN REDS TO MOBILIZE TODAY

Decrees Test of Might in Case of War.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 31.—Parades, trial mobilizations, and war games will feature the celebration throughout Russia tomorrow, which the soviet government has designated as "International Red day" for the purpose of advertising bolshevism throughout the world.

The feature of the celebrations in Moscow will be the presentation of 51 bombing planes to the Red army by the Defense union, which announces the planes were purchased by "voluntary contributions of workers to the war union's funds" and are called "an answer to the pope."

Test Red Might Abroad.

The Moscow Pravda states that the government has ordered similar trial mobilizations of communist elements in other countries in order to give Moscow an idea of how much support it can obtain abroad in case of war.

The ministers of the four Baltic states, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, and Finland, announced today that they had forbidden Red demonstrations and that the second international Red day would prove to be a greater fiasco than last year's. The usual round up of agitators has resulted in few arrests since most of the communist leaders are already in jail.

Latvia has found the best cure for communism, a Latvian police official said:

"We present the would-be commissar with a two pound hammer and a pair of gunny sacks in which to wrap his feet, sit himself beside a fine granite boulder and let him pound it to gravel. After a few months of this work he and his likes are cured."

The Moscow Pravda also reports that special forced labor detachments are being recruited in all Russian provinces to decrease the cost of production in soviet industry. The paper reports that a new and large supply of man power, which costs nothing to the government, has been discovered by the staff of the red army.

Repeal Tax, Force Labor.

Until now red army recruits came from the families of workers and peasants. Declassed elements in Russia, of age for military service, were not permitted to join the army and were forced to pay a variable tax to compensate for their exemption. The sons of the declassed elements, such as engineers, lawyers, business men, and former czarist officials, usually managed to obtain a membership card in a trade union of a coöperative which decreased the tax to a small sum. This tax has now been repealed.

Hereafter, according to the red army recommendations, all sons of bourgeois families not considered reliable enough will be sent to join special labor detachments, which will be sent to various parts of Russia for periods of service varying from 12 to 18 months. No exemptions from the forced labor detachments will be granted by the army recruiting authorities.

According to the commissariat of work and defense, these forced labor detachments will prove a great economy for the government.

Arrest 200 Paris Reds.

PARIS, July 31.—(AP)—Two thousand republican guards, mounted and afoot, reached Paris this evening and were distributed at various strategical points as reinforcements for the city police as a precautionary measure against the "anti-war" day communist manifestation tomorrow. "Preventive arrests" have reached nearly 200.

Seize 44 Budapest Reds.

BUDAPEST, July 31.—(AP)—Forty-four leading communists were arrested by the police today as a preventive measure against demonstrations during tomorrow's communist celebrations.

WOMEN IN NEW YORK STATE PRISON WANT SMOKING PRIVILEGES

Auburn, N. Y., July 31.—(AP)—Inmates of the state prison for women want equality with men in smoking privileges.

The report by the Cayuga county grand jury, after an investigation of nearly seven months, says:

"The inmates of the women's prison as a whole are well satisfied with conditions and their treatment.

"We find the only decided cause of dissatisfaction is the rule preventing the women from smoking. The inmates feel that it is a privilege given the men and should be given them if they care to use it.

"We find 75 per cent of the punishment is given for violation of the no smoking rule."

THIRD SHIP LADEN WITH PULP FROM RUSSIA BARRED

New York, July 31.—(AP)—A third freighter laden with pulpwood from soviet Russia joined the pair at anchor off the statue of liberty today, prohibited by a government embargo from landing its cargo.

It was the Norwegian ship Hektor, chartered by the Amtorg Trading company, soviet trading agency in the United States. Amtorg officials were still hopeful that the treasury department would lift the embargo and permit the unloading of the three cargoes, and of other pulpwood shipments on the way here.

Final Meetings on Protest Today.

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—Final hearings on protests against the action of the treasury in barring Russian pulpwood from this country because convict labor entered into its production will be held tomorrow by Assistant Secretary Lehman.

Lowman announced late today that representatives of the Amtorg Trading corporation, the official Russian commercial organization, ship owners, charterers, and paper manufacturers would appear.

CHURCH LEADER SEEKS DIVORCE; WIFE SUES GIRL

He Led Fight to Unfrock Bishop Bast.

Kansas City, Mo., July 31.—[Special.]—Dr. Hans Jensen, leader in the fight against Bishop Anton Bast of Copenhagen, Denmark, which led to the conviction of the bishop on three counts by the Methodist Episcopal general conference in May, 1928, yesterday filed suit for divorce from his wife at Reno, Nev.

The wealthy scientist, whose research into serums against cattle diseases won for him recognition of the Danish government, said in his petition he had suffered fifteen years' mental cruelty at the hands of his wife, Mrs. Nellie Jensen. Mrs. Jensen, 58 years old, today filed in Kansas City a $50,000 suit alleging alienation of her husband's affections against Miss Hazel Kern, 30, of Kansas City. Miss Kern is cashier and credit manager in Jensen's serum manufacturing and veterinary supplies plant.

$100,000 Property Involved.

There are two sons and a daughter, all adults, in the Jensen family. Dr. Jensen's petition indicates a property settlement amounting to a $100,000 trust fund, and two houses and lots in Kansas City, Kas., had been offered.

However, Mrs. Jensen, and indirectly the children, served notice they would fight this settlement through resistance to the divorce petition. In the suit filed here Mrs. Jensen charges that Miss Kern "is planning to secure for herself the fortune of said Hans Jensen to the detriment of the plaintiff and her children."

It was all news to Miss Kern, a brunette. She seemed puzzled today.

"I don't know a thing about courts and lawyers and all these big sums of money," she said. "I can't quite understand what it all means."

Affectionate Letter Cited.

The petition filed here today by attorneys for Mrs. Jensen states:

"Since the said Hans Jensen has left his home he and the defendant herein have been in constant communication with one another and the defendant herein has written Hans Jensen many letters in the most affectionate terms, addressing him as 'Dearest Doctor,' and closing said communications with expressions of 'love and kisses,' and during said time the said Hans Jensen has failed to communicate with his family by reason of the influence of the defendant upon him and by reason of her unlawful and malicious acts."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jensen are now in Reno or vicinity, Mrs. Jensen having established residence in a neighboring county, apparently with the plan of filing a counter divorce suit or cross bill.

KIWANIS HEAD PRAISES CITY AND 1933 FAIR

Raymond M. Crossman, president elect of Kiwanis International, voiced praise for Chicago and the Century of Progress exposition yesterday in a talk before the local Kiwanis at the Hotel Sherman. Mr. Crossman is here from Omaha to complete arrangements for a meeting of the organization's board of trustees.

"While Chicago's natural advantages are great, the real foundation of the city's greatness lies in the character and individual responsibility of its leaders," Mr. Crossman said. "They have contributed their time to civic means, withstood criticism and constantly pursued an unswerving purpose of making this city great. In its present growth and development and its approaching World's Fair, Chicago again spurns obstacles and discouragements to achieve its ends."

DYE WORKS TO BUILD.

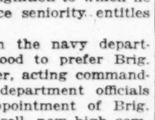
Milwaukee, Wis., July 31.—[Special.]—A building permit to erect a $150,000 structure at 45 Capitol drive was issued today to the Novelty Dye Works by Leon M. Gurda, building inspector. The structure will be 125 feet high.

GEN. BUTLER MAY RESIGN IF DENIED NEVILLE'S POST

Brig. Gen. Fuller Is His Strongest Rival.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—Resignation of Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler, picturesque ranking officer of the marine corps, from the service was hinted today as a possibility if he fails to receive the appointment from President Hoover as commandant to succeed the late Maj. Gen. Wendell C. Neville.



GEN. SMEDLEY BUTLER.

Gen. Butler is reported to have told fellow officers that he is seriously considering resigning if the President does not give him the recognition to which he believes his service seniority entitles him.

High officials in the navy department are understood to prefer Brig. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, acting commandant, while state department officials have proposed appointment of Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, now high commissioner in Haiti, and others are supporting Maj. Gen. Logan Feland, who is 12 years older than Gen. Butler, although ranking just below him in service seniority.

Adams Visits Gen. Butler.

Interest in the contest for the appointment was at white heat today following a show staged yesterday for Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams at the marine camp at Quantico, Va., where Gen. Butler is in command. It was the first time Secretary Adams has visited Quantico. Gen. Butler acted as his host at an afternoon review, a sunset dress parade, a dinner party, and a boxing exhibition at night. Accompanying Secretary Adams was Brig. Gen. Fuller, regarded as Gen. Butler's chief rival for the post of commandant of the marine corps. It was Gen. Butler's 49th birthday.

The climax of the day's events came during the boxing exhibitions in the Quantico gymnasium. More than 1,200 enlisted men and officers of the marine corps were having an uproarious time when Gen. Butler entered with Secretary Adams, Gen. Fuller and others who were guests at dinner at his home. Gen. Butler watched the boxing bouts quietly until there was a lull caused by the singing of "Sweet Adeline," led by a quartet of "Devil Dogs." He climbed over the ropes and stood in the center of the ring under the glare of the lights.

Gives Marines Time Off.

"I've got something to tell you," said Gen. Butler after the song, which is said to be his particular favorite, was concluded. "You put on a hell of a good show this afternoon and the secretary of the navy is very much pleased.

"I am going to grant you liberty until next Tuesday."

When the shouting and applause died down Gen. Butler in his gruff voice roared to the marines:

"Now, let's sing 'Sweet Adeline' right."

The general waved his arms and swayed his body in regular Billy Sunday fashion as he led in singing his favorite all over again. His men seemed to like it and they fairly shook the rafters with the song.

The Happy Solution of Cod Liver Oil User's Biggest Need

Sugar-Coated Tablets Give You Cod Liver Oil's Full Benefits Without the Fishy Taste

The fiction writer's wildest dreams are not to be compared with the actual achievements of the modern scientific laboratory. Think of the marvellous "electric eye", which maintains a constant lookout for burglars and turns in an alarm the instant a hand reaches toward a safe.

And think how modern laboratory science makes the weight, strength and health increasing elements in cod liver oil palatable as well as beneficial. Today, these elements (vitamins) are taken from cod liver oil and put full strength into sugar-coated tablets free from fishy taste, odor or oiliness, and sold by all druggists under the name of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets.

The millions of men, women and children in need of cod liver oil's rich flesh, strength and energy building properties are no longer obliged to take them as a disagreeable dose. Nor have they cause to shirk from the regular cod liver oil treatment that their thin, weak, nervous, rundown and underweight bodies so sadly need. McCoy's will give them cod liver oil's full benefits without the taste.

Mrs. Henry A. Thaler has sent in word that she and her young daughter recently gained 7 pounds on McCoy's. They are equally sure to help all others who take them. McCoy's have been tested and approved by the Good Housekeeping Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health. And all druggists guarantee them—60 tablets 60 cents.

RED, ROUGH SKIN is ugly and annoying—make your skin soft, white, lovely by using Resinol

- For the BLONDE or with grey hair—"Symphonie" overcomes that all-too-neutral look, enriches the tone of your skin, brings it warmth and life.
- And if you're "MEDIUM"... you'll admit that you need a distinguishing touch! "Symphonie" gives it—the blush of pearl and rose against brown hair is ravishing!
- With AUBURN HAIR one usually finds a fair skin and partiality to tones of brown in dress. Of all types—"Symphonie" was made for you—its creamy tint lights the burnished copper of your hair.
- And DEEP BRUNETTES find "Symphonie" most flattering. The usual shades of powder form too great a contrast. But here's a tone that's rich and mellow . . . and miraculous!

"SYMPHONIE"

That perfect powder-shade you couldn't buy... nor blend yourself... but always hoped to find! Here it is, triumphant, waiting for your test!

TODAY your face powder is just as fashion-important as your frock! The new clothes demand a new complexion and Armand has created a rare, subtle powder-shade that brings you entrancing fairness for today's more feminine mode.

You'll never know how lovely you really can look until you try "Symphonie" . . . the new Armand complexion powder. It's the greatest cosmetic development since the coming of cold cream powder itself.

"Symphonie" has a secret tint, blended to the exquisite flesh-tones found in Old-World paintings. All women, fundamentally, possess these same translucent tints, but most face powders change or obscure them hopelessly. "Symphonie" complements these basic tones in color, so that you, whether blonde or brunette, have only to apply this powder to see your skin made glorious!

"Symphonie" shade is found only in Armand "Symphonie" Powder, and the rich consistency of this particular blend furthers the effect of the magic new shade. Follow directions for applying, as given in the Armand "Little Hat Box," and be rewarded with a loveliness that is quick to come and not soon to go!

- "With the new clothes . . . the new complexion." This billowy cotton gown by Best & Co., complexion by Armand, compliments by everybody!

SHOW LAKE DRIVE WILL TAKE 3D OF BOUL MICH AUTOS

Use Survey in Fight on Shore Car Line.

More than one-third of the traffic in Michigan avenue will be diverted to the new outer drive and loop congestion will be equally relieved as soon as the connecting links in the drive are completed. This was the conclusion yesterday of traffic engineers who, by a survey of traffic at the Michigan avenue bridge, have shown that 35 per cent of the traffic over the bridge originates south and west of Jackson park and an equal amount is destined to points north of Devon avenue.

The survey was made by J. Rowland Bibbins, a traffic engineer of New York and Washington, under the supervision of Hugh Young, consulting engineer to the Lincoln park board. Each motorist was requested to forward a card to the Chicago plan commission, on which, by marking a map of the county, he indicated his starting point, his destination and the route traveled.

Show Track Removal Need, View.

The results of the survey will be presented to the Illinois commerce commission on Sept. 9 in the petition of the park board requesting removal of street car tracks in Lake Shore drive.

The tracks parallel the drive on the east side from Chicago avenue to the Navy pier. They were laid during the Pageant of Progress of 1922. The park board charges the rails will create a bottleneck because if not removed they will be in the center of the widened drive.

Synchronizing of all traffic lights in Michigan avenue was another suggestion. Mr. Bibbins asserts the present system has reduced traffic capacity until it is no greater than that accommodated by the old Rush street bridge.

New Plan Being Considered.

At the present time traffic lights in Michigan avenue are under the control of the city, Lincoln park, and the south park system. A plan to synchronize the lights has been suggested by Leslie J. Sorenson, city traffic engineer, and has been tentatively accepted by the Lincoln park board and city.

Mr. Bibbins, who has studied most of the larger cities of the United States and Canada, prophesied a great future for Chicago in handling traffic.

"No other city in the United States," he said, "and probably no other city in the world will possess the great advantage held by Chicago in this great lake front highway running unbroken for twenty miles. But what impresses me most is that it will be both a pleasure drive and an important business artery, performing both functions without hindering either."

Create 'Motion Judge' to Speed Trial of Law Cases

A change in the procedure of the Superior and Circuit courts which is expected to speed the hearing of law cases has been adopted by the executive committees of the courts, Superior Court Clerk Szymczak announced yesterday. The new system creates the post of "motion judge." This judge will hear all motions and assign all cases. Beginning Sept. 15 this office will be filled by Superior Judge Walter P. Steffen, now a trial judge assigned to the Criminal court.

Two Indicted for Slaying Cafe Owner in Holdup

Richard Sullivan and Frank Bell were indicted by the grand jury yesterday for the murder of Chris Patras in his Villa Rica restaurant at 2752 North Clark street. The murder occurred during a robbery several weeks ago.

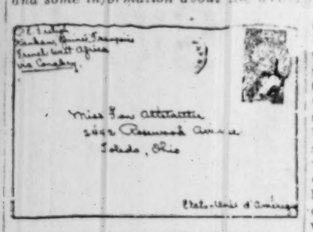
INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from a interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by Miss Fon Altstaetter, 2442 Rosewood avenue, Toledo, O.:

"This letter came from Kankan, Guinea Francaise, French West Africa," Miss Altstaetter writes. "The author is a friend who married about eight years ago and she and her husband went to French West Africa as missionaries. They now have two beautiful little girls, born in that country.

"Mrs. Freligh writes that their oldest child was the first white baby the natives ever had seen. She said that when she took the baby with her to missionary meetings, she could do most anything with the native women, they all were so attracted by the child.

"Mr. and Mrs. Freligh were home two years ago on a furlough. They have returned to stay another five to seven years.

"Her letter says in part:

"'We have just returned from our vacation at Dalaba, where we spent a most restful and profitable month. It did us all good and we escaped a month of the hottest weather here at Kankan. It certainly was hot when we came back and we were glad that the children had a month away. Paul (Mr. Freligh) was terribly tired when we left for Dalaba, as he had made several long trips before going with no rest in between. I, too, was weary and sick and glad to get to a place where it was cooler. We are back at our work here and the rains have at last begun and help tremendously to cool things off and make life seem worth the living.

"'I have been thinking a great deal of you home folk these days. It is the first of June and how lovely everything must be now! I miss that season out here so much and already I am looking forward to our next furlough.'"

Boy, 10, Kills Youth, 17; Declared an Accident

Mount Vernon, Ill., July 31.—[Special.]—Ralph Robinson, 17, son of Ed Robinson, died at the hospital this afternoon, the result of a revolver shot fired by Robert Toney, aged 10 years. The Robinson boy told the nurse the shooting was accidental.

Los Angeles Returns to Newport After Cruise

Newport, R. I., July 31.—(AP)—The United States navy dirigible Los Angeles returned to Newport about 7 o'clock tonight from a sail over parts of New England. She was moored to the ship Patoka. She flew here early today from Lakehurst, N. J.

NORTHWEST SIDE TO GET 15 MORE TROLLEY BUSES

Surface Lines Also Will Build $140,000 Garage.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Chicago Railways company, comprising the north and west side surface lines, obtained permission of the Illinois commerce commission yesterday to purchase 15 new trolley buses and to erect a garage for the company's growing bus fleet on the northwest side.

The buses are to be ordered at once and will be ready for service in September. Work on the garage is to start as soon as land can be acquired, which, officials said, will be "within the next few weeks." The estimated cost of the buses is $215,000 and of the garage $140,000.

These sums will bring the total investment in northwest bus service to more than $1,500,000. The routes cover more than 40 miles. So far the service has been popular. Originally the company ordered 41 buses. Later fourteen more were added. The fifteen others now to be acquired make a total of 70 trolley buses, in addition to 14 gasoline motor coaches.

Delay Hearing on Extensions.

The hearing on the proposed extensions of south side surface lines was delayed before the commerce commission yesterday. Some objectors, principally a bus line on South Western avenue, insisted upon the 10 day notice allowed by statute.

On Western avenue between 75th and 111th streets the Chicago City Railway company proposes to construct a double track street car line. The company also wants a bus line on Oglesby avenue between 69th and 71st streets and then on Yates avenue south to 87th street. Also it plans a street car line on Damen avenue between 57th and 63d streets. These plans were set for hearing on Aug. 19.

Other improvement plans are to be heard on Aug. 5. These include proposals for street car lines on 87th street between Ingleside and Vincennes avenues and on 51st street between South Park way and Cottage Grove avenue.

Some of these improvements involve the building of new electric substations concerning which the Commonwealth Edison company is expected to make an announcement shortly.

The city's subway engineers are cramped for working space. For several days they have been searching for suitable loop space and a selection of location is expected today if the city real estate agent can obtain rental offers that he considers reasonable.

FESS WILL BE NAMED TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN OF G. O. P. COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] is to be named as "provisional or temporary" chairman of the Republican national committee at the meeting of its executive committee scheduled for next Thursday to receive the resignation of Claudius H. Huston.

It has been decided that the executive committee will have the power to receive the resignation of Mr. Huston as chairman of the full committee and to select Senator Fess to succeed him, subject to ratification by the full committee.

Robert H. Lucas of Kentucky, present commissioner of internal revenue, will be elected as chairman of the executive committee.

The plan is to call a meeting of the full national committee probably in September to ratify the selection of Senator Fess.

"Over 6 million germs have been found on one fly"

says The North Carolina State Board of Health

On the furry, hairy legs of the common house fly, on his body, on his tongue with which he sucks at your food, are dangerous disease-carrying germs.

No wonder. The fly breeds in filth and flies right from the diseased home or the dirty and polluted refuse heap direct to your kitchen or your dining room table.

Flies are largely responsible for carrying typhoid fever, dysentery, diarrhea, enteritis, and other communicable diseases, according to the United States Public Health Service. Over fifty thousand people die from these diseases every year. What are you going to do about it?

Be comfortable and safe. Keep your home insect-free. Spray Flit, which is guaranteed (or money back) to be quick-death to flies, mosquitoes, moths, roaches, bed bugs and other household insects. Yet its clean-smelling vapor is harmless to humans. Flit kills quicker if you use the special inexpensive Flit Sprayer. Insist on Flit and don't accept a substitute. Get yours today!

SOX WIN TWO; LYONS HURLS 17TH VICTORY

CUBS' PACE TOO SLOW FOR FLAG WINNING TEAM

Must Take 38 Out of 55 Games.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Our Cubs are quite well rested, thank you, and are eager to get back to the business of playing baseball after their two cool and refreshing days off. This afternoon they will open a three game series with the Pirates.

Added to the invigorating effects of the beautiful weather was the Phillies-Brooklyn score of yesterday, a Philly victory that had not been anticipated by even the most optimistic of the Cub fellows. Strange as it may seem, however, the tailenders, with six victories, now have defeated the leaders more than any team besides the Cubs, who have turned back the Robins 11 out of 15.

Several of the Cub players, on learning of the details of the Brooklyn defeat by Sugar Sweetland of the Phils, professed to see evidences of the predicted cracking of the National league pacemakers. But the last time evidences of cracking were suspected the Robins stepped out and won a 1 to 0 victory which inspired them to resume their winning habits in most distressing fashion.

Six Cub Hurlers Ready.

In the Pirate opener tomorrow Manager McCarthy will have many pitching candidates rested sufficiently for duty. He has Teachout and Osborn, who won their games in the last three piece series with the Pirates, and he also has Root, Malone, and Bush. Malone worked briefly Tuesday as relief for Sheriff Blake, but says he is ready to fire if needed. Heinie Meine is the probable Pirate choice.

The Pittsburghers have been playing while the Cubs were resting, so the selection range of Manager Jewel Ens is not wide.

Today will be ladies' day and a crowd of 17,500 guest spectators already is assured under the new first come first served self addressed, stamped envelope scheme for the admission of the beautiful and loud cheering maids and matrons.

Tip for Next Week.

And for the benefit of the ladies who were a bit late in sending their requests this week, it might not be amiss to mention that next Friday is another ladies' day, operated under the same plan. And it also is the first day of the more or less desperate eastern invasion. Boston opens up the parade on that day.

Inasmuch as the Cubs spend most of September on the road, they are basing their plans for another pennant on the big lead they expect to acquire during the present home stand, interrupted in August only by a three day visit to St. Louis next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

If the Cubs finish with a won and lost percentage as high in favor of the wins as they did last year they will have to sweep virtually all these home games.

Will Have to Step on It.

Last year the McCarthys finished with a record of 98 games won in a schedule of 152 games. This year, if they play out the schedule of 154 games, they will have to do a lot of successful playing to approach the slightly shorter calendar of last season.

To date the team has played 99 games, winning 58 and losing 41. Obviously, to hit the 98 wins they accomplished last year, they'll have to win 40 games out of 55. And 40 games while losing only 15 is a pretty big ticket.

However, there is nothing conclusive in the last year targets, though precedent has shown that a club cannot win the pennant with many games under that number.

Here are the number of games won by the pennant winner in the last 20 years, exclusive of the bobbed war season when only 129 games were played:

1928	95	1917	98
1927	94	1916	94
1926	89	1915	90
1925	95	1914	94
1924	93	1913	101
1923	95	1912	103
1922	93	1911	99
1921	94	1910	104
1920	93	1909	110

The average number of games required to win the National league pennant is approximately 96, so on this basis the Cubs must win 38 games while losing 17.

LARRUPIN' LOU

Lou Gehrig yesterday hit his 33d home run and two doubles to win game for the Yankees. (Story on page 19).

TED SHUTS OUT ST. LOUIS, 1 TO 0; SCORES THE RUN

Browns Fall, 10 to 2, in Opener.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Ted Lyons, the star without a prima donna temperament, now is the owner of seventeen official victories for the current American league campaign. He contributed No. 17 yesterday as a sort of celebration for what his mates had acomplished in the first part of a double header. The cause of the celebration was a 10 to 2 triumph over the Browns, while the celebration itself consisted of an air tight, one hour and sixteen minute hurling duel, in which Lyons shaded Dick Coffman by 1 to 0.

In attaining No. 17 after only two days of rest Lyons felt sprightly enough to hold his foes to four hits, only two of which were legitimate. Ted prevented the Brownies from sending aspiring run getters farther than second base. Only once were two hostiles on the bags. This happened in the third inning because of his only pass and the Sox's only fielding miscue of the battle. To escape from this predicament Lyons induced Metzler and Goslin, both worthy gents with the bat, to retire on taps to infielders.

Lyons Scores Only Run.

Coffman also turned in a four hit affair, but his bid for the decision was voided by blunders in which he played no part. In the third Tate opened with a hopper to Kress and Schulte dropped the throw at first. Lyons forced Tate. Then Watwood looped a double to right center. Lyons hiked to third and intended to stop there, but when Metzler's return throw hit Watwood and bounced into unguarded territory Ted continued homeward with the lone run of the struggle.

Before Lyons could get into action the day's glory had been cornered by Garland Braxton, the ex-Washington southpaw, Fatty Fothergill, late of the Tigers, and Smead Jolley, who is a graduate of various places. Braxton had a rather shaky time early in the first battle and his co-workers were almost completely subdued by Sam Gray. But with the coming of round six the Sox began to cut up, and in the three concluding sessions rammed nine runs over the plate. It was in these revolts that Fothergill and Jolley were prominent, one with a single and double and the other with his fifteenth homer of the year.

Henry will try to halt the Tigers at Detroit today. Whitehill is due for the enemy.

Braxton Shaky at Start.

The Browns started the first controversy as if they meant business. They slapped Braxton for a run in the first inning, the factors being a pass to Metzler and Goslin's double to left. The Sox lost no time grabbing back the run. This was done in the second on a scratch single by Cissell and triple by Ryan. The Browns moved back in front by 2 to 1 in the fourth when Kress singled and Schulte doubled. Then the Sox proceeded to convert the party into a rough house affair.

Two runs that put the Hose in the van in the sixth began when Braxton singled. Gray hit Watwood on the foot. After Mulleavy had popped out, Fothergill singled to center and Braxton went in with the tying run. Jolley prolonged the rally by singling to Melillo. This let Watwood hike home with the run that put the Sox in the lead for keeps.

There was nothing flukey about the manner in which the Sox leaned against Gray's offerings for four tallies in the seventh. Tate's single started it. Braxton fanned but Watwood singled. Mulleavy flied out, whereupon Fothergill banged a double down the left field line, Tate and Watwood scoring. Then Jolley added to the hilarity by sending the first ball pitched to him into the right field seats for a homer, Fothergill preceding him across the counter. Three more in the eighth were due to singles by Cissell, Ryan, Tate, and Watwood.

Three of One Family Race on Same Day

It isn't often that a brother and two of his sisters run at the same race track on one afternoon.

About every 70 years it happens, one of the statisticians and a guard of the turf archives declared last night.

Yet two sisters and their little brother sought victories at Arlington yesterday.

The little brother was the 2 year old Boundless Deep, which ran next to last in the Crystal Lake purse won by Good Jest.

His sub-deb sister was Susie Jane, 3 years old, which ran brilliantly and won the Tattler purse. It qualified her for the Arlington matron stakes to be run tomorrow.

The old maid sister was Sweet Verbena, now 4 years old, and heavily backed, which ran last in the Glen Ellyn purse over the mile course.

The mare Oktibbena is the mother of each member of the trio, and Negopel is the daddy of the three racers. They are all owned by Tal Hendleton, the old Princeton football star, who is now a Texas oil millionaire.

Tuesday Is Deadline in Tribune Golf

Next Tuesday has been set as the deadline for entries in THE TRIBUNE'S public golf tournament. Three hundred and fifty players from all corners of the Chicago district are competing every week and some already have played third round matches.

All you must do to enter is play a trial round on any course you choose and send your card to THE TRIBUNE golf editor. If it is in his hands before 6 o'clock next Tuesday night, you will be matched against an opponent whose card indicates that his ability is about equal to yours.

Most of the results are close because of the system used in pairing. For instance, Ray Coyne of 6425 Wayne avenue beat Richard Chorley by a single stroke in their match yesterday. Coyne was playing on a course of his choosing while Chorley was doing likewise. They never have seen each other but both got all the fun of tournament play with none of the inconvenience usually attached to it.

In a few days Coyne and Chorley will be matched against new opponents and play another round. This will continue throughout the season and in the end prizes will be awarded to contestants having the best records.

Final second round results:

L. Kotora, 5150 West 25th street, beat J. R. Malone, 1234 West 95th place, 3 strokes.

J. S. Endler Jr., 2781 Henry court, beat Walter Janusch, 10052 South Lowe avenue, 5 strokes.

The following won by default in the second round:

A. B. Darguzis, 127 Davis avenue, Joliet.
Milton Boiskou, 2533 Fullerton avenue.
R. M. Comfort, 8304 South Bishop street.
L. A. Harney, 1023 North Grove avenue, Oak Park.
Leonard Hill, 4725 Malden street.
John Hughes, 6429 Glenwood avenue.
Stephan Lillis, 1401 North Linder avenue.
R. W. Meltzer, 7612 South Shore drive.
James Osgood, 1108 Arlington street, La Grange.
Pat Pringle, 10 North Clark street.
Charles Sandelman, 5100 Cornell avenue.
E. H. Seymour, 7008 Kimbark avenue.
S. Stefanik, 638 West 111th street.
Cherry Workman, 110 East 70th street.
Wallace Whittiger, 1608 Sherwin avenue.

Additional third round results:

Ben Welcher, 2631 Ainslie street, beat Moody Damron, 7612 Rogers avenue, 5 strokes.

C. F. Guthrie, 4923 West Jackson boulevard, beat J. A. Lew, 3 strokes.

Bert Lake, 105 South Lotus avenue, beat M. E. Brown, 119 North Mayfield avenue, 4 strokes.

Ray Levy, 4602 North Monticello avenue, beat J. G. Henderson, 1423 Hudson avenue, 5 strokes.

A. L. Colton, 8226 South Marshfield avenue, beat P. W. Hay, 11020 Vernon avenue, 1 stroke.

Herbert Otten, 625 Temple court, Kenilworth, beat L. Houlding, 2 strokes.

W. C. Draper, 6710 South Claremont avenue, beat Charles Frazier, 7243 Constance avenue, 4 strokes.

Phillips Houghton, 9600 South Seeley avenue, beat Carl Conradi, 1927 North Richmond street, 1 stroke.

Fred Wigglesworth, 8204 Blackstone avenue.

OLD WHISKERY'S 'REP' AGAIN IS COSTLY TO FANS

Derby Winner Beaten by a Head.

Jockeys Recover

THE last of the injured Arlington steeplechase jockeys left St. Joseph's hospital in Elgin yesterday when Jockey D. Hutt and Harry Hunt were released.

Hutt sustained a fractured collar bone and severely torn shoulder ligaments while Hunt suffered a concussion from which he was unconscious for three days. Both jockeys are at the Arlington Park emergency hospital and plan to depart for Saratoga as soon as they regain their strength.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Old Whiskery's Kentucky Derby reputation always costs his public plenty when he goes to the post. His public seems to forget that since Whiskery won a Derby he has started many times and rolled up only one victory. Yesterday he made his 27th start since that 1927 Derby triumph, in the Glen Ellyn purse at Arlington, and he was beaten again.

Once more Whiskery was the favorite at less than 2 to 1. But when the numbers went up after a furious stretch drive in which Whiskery was in the thick of it, Whiskery had been beaten a head by Val Crane's Macedon, a 6 year old son of Polymelian-Pinkie.

Macedon won in the last stride. When the field headed into the stretch Lieut. Russell was leading, Whiskery was running second, Devon was third, and Macedon was last.

Veteran Rider Gets Lesson.

Then Jockey E. Steffen gave the veteran Willie Garner a riding lesson. Garner took Whiskery out from the rail. Steffen came through next to the rail. And when Garner went wide with the old Kentucky Derby winner, Steffen saved enough ground on Macedon to get the verdict.

When the field hit the lower bend there were less than two lengths between Lieut. Russell, which was leading, and Macedon, which was running last. Four in the field of six were noses apart as the battle down the stretch began. But Whiskery gradually worked his way to the front, and just as he seemed to be going on to a brilliant victory up came Macedon on the rail to grab all the glory away from him.

Macedon ran the mile in 1:38 2-5, which was not so fast when compared to the lightninglike miles horses were turning in at Arlington a week ago. Macedon was a long shot, paying nearly $7.50 to $1.

Upset in Tattler Purse.

The Tattler purse at 6 furlongs also brought an upset when Susie Jane raced from far back and beat the favorite, Curtsey, from Herbert Bayard Swope's stable, by a length and a half.

Susie Jane didn't do much running until the field hit the head of the stretch. Then she galloped over horses and conquered Curtsey a sixteenth from home and was going away in the final strides. It was Curtsey's first start in some time. Jeanne Wachs showed fine speed and hung on long enough to be third. Susie Jane was at nearly 8 to 1 in the betting, and as a result of her good race she may go to the post in the Arlington Matron stakes tomorrow afternoon.

Birthday Gift a Flop.

The greatly overrated Birthday Gift, whose reputation was made at Fairmount Park, was beaten a head by Good Jest, a 20 to 1 shot, in the Crystal Lake purse, which attracted several Post and Paddock stakes candidates.

After taking the lead in the stretch Birthday Gift weakened when challenged, and while it appeared that Jockey Smith had been caught napping in the final strides, Birthday Gift gave the impression that he is not a colt that can stand a good stiff drive from a rival. Hyman was probably best in the race.

Pegler Discusses Channel Swims, Lyons, and Dempsey

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—Just to keep the record straight, Trudy Ederle did not go deaf swimming the English channel in August, 1926. But she was almost deaf when she shipped for France to make that attempt, which was her second. She had spent hundreds of hours in the water training and competing, mostly as an amateur, and her hearing had been almost destroyed by the action of the sea on her ear drums.

GERTRUDE EDERLE.

Modern swimmers who plow along with their heads almost submerged, using the trudgeon stroke, run greater risks of deafness than the old timers, who swam with a high free board and with their head somewhat upraised, after the manner of a snake. Trudy used the trudgeon or crawl in racing, and did not vary her stroke once between Gris Nez and Kingsdown.

Thunders with Voice Like Wild William's.

Trudy's ailment seemed progressive, and she probably would have been no better today even if she had not swum the channel in 1926. She had received much medical treatment before she went to France the second time, and at that time she was in such bad shape that, like most persons who are unable to hear well, she generally spoke in a slightly modified bawl.

When at table on the Berengaria, bound for France, she asked for the boiled mutton or roast beef rare, she boomed her desires in such a thundering bellow that the passengers at tables forty yards away thought Wild Will Lyons had somehow stowed away and crawled out of concealment, demanding rations.

Senator Lyons, by the way, is not a statesman by trade, but a cloak and suit huckster, who puts in most of his time touring the old horse and buggy routes of the mountain and desert states peddling consignments of pegtop pants with four inch cuffs and jackets with half belts in the back to cross road emporiums.

Takes Voters' Little Joke Seriously.

The senator was once the official best friend of Jack Dempsey, and it did him no hurt in his calls on the hinterland trade to flash his gingersnap watch engraved with the legend, "To My Pal, Senator Wild Will Lyons, from Jack Dempsey, Heavyweight Champion of the World."

Will is a man of rising 70 years, with a remarkably accurate and fixed white blaze running fore and aft through his hair, which is astonishingly black and glossy on a man of his many semesters. Once, years ago, long before Eugene Field covered the drama at the Tabor Grand in Denver, Will was elected to the Colorado state senate by a careless or humorously inclined constituency, and, unable to take a joke, he has been running for public office periodically ever since.

Will puts into New York for a month or so two or three times a year to dig up samples of the styles of 1902, 1903, and 1904 for his clientele, and when here he has a tendency to rear up and get forensic on political topics when he has dined well in public places in the company of public persons, many of whose friendship he enjoys. If he were a younger man today he might go far in the political affairs of the nation.

Jack Sacrifices Pal in Defense of State.

The senator broke with his pal, Jack Dempsey, after Dempsey had ceased to be heavyweight champion of the world, over a matter of a campaign contribution, he wishing to run for some office, and Mr. Dempsey, out of consideration for his home state, refusing to abet him in this threat against the peace and diginity of Colorado. For quite a spell thereafter they did not speak as they passed by, which was no hardship to Mr. Dempsey, but I believe they are speaking again nowadays. That is to say, the senator speaks, conversation being always one sided when he is a party thereto.

Dempsey, incidentally, denies that he ever was a hobo, but explains that in his younger days he and most other surplus field hands of his home region

In the WAKE of the NEWS

YOUNG STRIBLING.

YOUNG STRIBLING of Macon, Ga., who for several years has ranked among the near greats of the heavyweight division, has stepped into the front rank of contenders by his last two bouts—those quick victories over Otto Von Porat and Phil Scott of England. It was not so much that Stribling won as that he showed a "punch" and a willingness to use it.

With Stribling becoming the leading pugilist to question Sharkey's right to the next bout with Herr Schmeling, there may be some action in the now almost moribund heavy situation. For one thing, Stribling always has been a boxer who thought a boxer's business is to box. We doubt whether any other modern ringster of equal prominence has made so many ring appearances. W. L.'s record until this year was 268. When that record shows only nine defeats it's pretty creditable.

All Stribling's opponents have not been great boxers, but he keeps going with no danger of ring rustiness, and he collects until he now shows a better bank balance than many champions. Nor do we recall any reluctance on W. L.'s part to take them as they come.

Of course, Stribling's great opportunity was against Sharkey at Miami a year ago last winter. It was Sharkey's decision, well earned, but not by a wide margin. We thought that if the former Georgia schoolboy had forced the milling and traded punches instead of trying to box in the later stages he might have earned a draw or possibly victory. He had a shade in the early rounds.

Sharkey was greatly improved against Schmeling, as compared to Stribling, until his foul which cost the title. Similarly, Stribling was greatly improved against Von Porat, and we suppose against Scott. Scott, despite his claim of foul failings, is a clever defensive boxer and had Sharkey puzzled last winter until the bout suddenly ended by a knockout, or what many always will believe was a foul which should have given the contest to the Briton.

So on these comparative showings, at least, Stribling is a potential candidate against Schmeling. Campolo and Sharkey stand in the way. There are rumors that Boston Jack may not fight again. The Wake doubts whether Sharkey cares to make any ring appearances other than to get another crack at Schmeling. So Stribling just now gives better promise of action to ring fans than any of the others.

EVA JOHNSON TO PLAY MRS. JONES FOR GOLF TITLE

Beats Ariel Vilas, 6 and 5, in Semi-Finals.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Mrs. Melvin Jones of Lincolnshire and Eva May Johnson of Skokie will meet today at the Illinois Golf club for the women's Chicago district championship.

Mrs. Jones, the defending title holder, came through her semi-final match yesterday by defeating Mrs. Lee Mida of Butterfield, 3 and 2, thereby reversing the outcome of their previous meeting in the western open at Acacia.

Miss Johnson advanced by a 6 to 5 victory over Ariel Vilas of Glen View, last year's junior champion.

The match between Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Mida hung in the balance until the champion sank an eight foot putt for a birdie on the 16th green.

Starts with Eagle.

Mrs. Jones began the battle in sensational style. Her second shot landed in a poor lie 185 yards from the first green, but she holed out from that distance with a midiron for an eagle 3. She went two up on the fifth when Mrs. Mida's tee shot bounced off the green, but gave the stroke back by driving into a trap on the sixth. She was again two up when Mrs. Mida missed a two foot putt on the seventh.

Mrs. Jones hit her next drive into the woods and lost the hole when her opponent made a birdie 4, but she got it back after Mrs. Mida had driven into a bunker on the ninth. That put Mrs. Jones 2 up at the turn.

Mrs. Mida Gains on 10th.

Mrs. Mida gained a stroke on the 10th when Mrs. Jones dubbed her second and overshot the green with her third, but Mrs. Jones again went two up when Mrs. Mida three putted the 11th.

Two trapped shots put Mrs. Mida three down on the 12th, where she took a seven, but she won the next when Mrs. Jones' approach was short. The match ended on the sixteenth when Mrs. Jones holed an eight foot putt for a birdie. The cards:

Mrs. Jones—Out	355	535	453—38
Mrs. Mida—Out	555	544	544—41
Mrs. Jones—In	635	543	4
Mrs. Mida—In	547	443	5

Fails to Win Hole.

Miss Vilas was unable to win a hole in her match with Miss Johnson. The latter was out in 42 to reach the turn 5 up while her opponent was taking a 49. Coming in, the first three were halved and the match ended on the 287 yard 13th when Miss Vilas was short with her second, over with her third and down in 6 while Miss Johnson was taking a 5. The cards:

Miss Johnson—Out	557	534	553—42
Miss Vilas—Out	667	564	564—49
Miss Johnson—In	556	5
Miss, Vilas—In	556	6

Browns Are Ball's Idea of a Good Time

Phil Ball stands unique among big league owners and will continue to stand that way.

His St. Louis Browns have ceased to interest the natives of the Mound City and there is great hue and cry about what should be done. His fellow magnates, more in the business for profit than pleasure, would delight in moving the Browns to another city.

PHIL BALL.

Mr. Ball, however, continues to display no excitement. He owns a big league club because he gets pleasure from the thought of possession and from the sight of seeing it win. If they win he would enjoy watching them even if there were no paid customers present. Those are almost his own words. When he went into the Federal league it wasn't with the idea of making money. He wanted to have a good time.

This season the Browns have drawn so poorly at home that there always is a funereal atmosphere about Sportsmen's park while a battle is in progress. From Monday to Friday inclusive the paid figures run from 700 to 1,000. Saturdays and Sundays will run from 5,000 for the weak attractions up to 20,000 for the contenders. However, the latter figure is a rarity.

The suggestion has been made that night baseball might be attempted at St. Louis, but Mr. Ball has displayed no interest in this novelty. He is reported to have said that it was good enough for the minors but not for the majors.

Just what the baseball ventures of the St. Louis owner have cost him can only be guessed at. They run into big figures, but Ball never has let it worry him. He has plenty more to lose and probably will lose it without complaining, the moans from his fellow magnates notwithstanding.

There Is Justice! Ump Is Fined for Fighting Fans

Cedar Rapids, Ia., July 31.—[Special.]—A peculiar twist has been furnished in Mississippi Valley league news by two fines on Umpire L. A. Williams. He was fined $1 and costs in Dubuque last week as the aftermath of a quarrel with several fans after a game three weeks before and this week he drew $5 and costs in Justice court at Waterloo for using his fists on a spectator.

PHILLIES POUND 3 ROBIN HURLERS TO WIN, 12 TO 7

Babe Herman Knocks 23d Home Run.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 31.—(AP)—After eleven straight setbacks the Phillies turned back Brooklyn today, 12 to 7.

Ray Phelps, who started for Brooklyn, was hit by a line drive from Chuck Klein's bat in the second inning and forced to retire. Fred Heimach followed and was the victim of the first of two five run rallies by the Phils. They scored five in the third inning and as many in the fourth off Clise Dudley to clinch the triumph. Babe Herman knocked his 23d homer. Sugar Sweetland went the route for Philadelphia although hit freely. Score:

Panasette Is 6-1 Victor in Saratoga Race

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 31.—[Special.]—There are few stakes which have not been won by the horses of Harry Payne Whitney or his father, William C. Whitney, who served so long as president of the Saratoga association. Another of the small number remaining was crossed off when Panasette, bearing the familiar Eton blue silks with brown cap, was first in the Schuylerville here today. The Schuylerville is a test for 2 year old fillies. Eighteen went to the post.

Two lengths back of Mr. Whitney's horse finished the Goodest One stable's Blind Lane, which showed surprising improvement over recent races when she closed strongly to beat the Rancocas stable's Ladana by half a length for the place. The George G. Widener pair of Sovietta and Stefana, which were heavily backed as the public choice at 9 to 5, followed, but as in the Clover stakes at Aqueduct the Stefan the Great blood did not hold up and the two tired after showing good early speed.

Panasette's victory was worth $6,075 and was her first race in the east after two starts at Arlington Park. In the first of the Chicago races she won in a walk, but in the Lassie stakes could get only third after being the early leader. This tendency to stop was feared today and made the filly a 6 to 1 shot.

B. R. B. Cubs Beat Hoellens in Midwest League Game

The Boys' Brotherhood Republic Cubs defeated the Hoellens, 7 to 5, in a Midwest league twilight game at Paul Revere park last night. Younger's double in the seventh scored Blonstein and Gordon with the winning runs. The Hoellens scored all of their runs in the third, but Klein, who relieved Dundon, held them hitless the remainder of the game.

made a practice of hopping from job to job within a radius of two or three states in, or upon or under box cars. He insists that he never shaved with a chunk of bottle-glass or cooked his coffee in a can at a jungle campfire along the right-of-way.

Ranks with Man o' War as Money Maker.

As an athlete he cannot be ranked within the first fifty that this country has produced, for he fought no long fights and in his whole career as champion, from July 4, 1919, to Sept. 22, 1926, he beat only five out of six opponents, including three set-ups and his reign was limited to about two and one-half hours of actual competition. But, for this he received at least $1,000,000 an hour, from one source and another and the only performers who excel him in earning capacity per minute of competition are such horses as Man o' War, Zez, and Gallant Fox.

However, Dempsey, long after his time in action, is still instantly known to all who see him wherever he goes in this country or abroad, whereas race horses are mere names and reputations even to the majority of horse track patrons who could not pick Gallant Fox out of a herd of $500 platers if they were lined up at Saratoga today, without numbers or other distinguishing apparatus.

MORGAN'S HOMER HELPS INDIANS TO BEAT TIGERS, 5-3

Wes Ferrell Hurls 17th Victory of Season.

Cleveland, O., July 31.—(AP)—Eddie Morgan's 21st home run of the season with Porter on base and two out in the last half of the ninth broke a 3 to 3 tie and gave Cleveland its third victory in four starts over Detroit here today, 5 to 3. Detroit had tied the score in the eighth.

Morgan's drive over the right field wall climaxed a tight pitching duel in which Wesley Ferrell won his 17th game of the season and his sixth straight. Vic Sorrell pitched six innings for Detroit and gave way to Cantrell. Score:

It's All Gehrig as Yanks Beat Boston, 14-13

Boston, Mass., July 31.—(AP)—Lou Gehrig once more blazed the way to victory for the New York Yankees today as they eked out a 14 to 13 victory over the Red Sox.

Gehrig had a perfect day at bat, hitting a home run, his 33d of the season, and two doubles in three official times at bat. He drove in eight runs and scored three. The homer was made in the seventh inning with the bases full and scored the runs that eventually won the game.

The teams got a lot of bad baseball out of their systems in the two hours and 45 minutes of play. The Yankees committed seven errors and Boston six. The Red Sox outhit the winners, 17 to 12, but they had 14 men left on bases. Rabbit Warstler, new Boston shortstop, also hit a homer. Score:

Woods and Waters by BOB BECKER

Muskellunge fishermen who have difficulty in setting the hook when a big one strikes and consequently find that many of their fish can shake the point of the hook loose after a short struggle, have only to look at the mouth of a muskie to understand why it is a tough job to sink the barb into the fish's jaw.

All fish have more tooth bearing bones in the mouth than any other group of animals. When such a one of the finny tribes as a 35 pound 'lunge finishes the job of growing these bones and sets of teeth, his mouth is much like the side of an armor plated battleship. It's not an easy trick to set a hook in such an armament.

In the muskie's mouth there is only one bone which does not sprout teeth. This is the maxillary, which forms most of the upper edge of the mouth opening. All the other patches of hard bone bear teeth to give the muskie one of the finest sets of "weapons" that any fish can boast of.

Another interesting fact about the bone and tooth arrangement in the muskie which the average fisherman ought to know is that the large, sharp teeth on each side of the lower jaw can always be replaced if they wear out or break. These teeth are shed whenever anything happens to them.

It is this set which is supposed to be discarded every summer when the muskies are said to have sore mouth or show indications of not having their usual savage, 'smashing disposition. However, there is considerable doubt about the 'lunge going through a "moult" whereby he loses all of his teeth every season, although many muskie fishermen swear that such is the case.

On the contrary, observation of Wisconsin muskies in aquariums do prove this: that the 'lunge has a habit of fasting for several weeks every summer. Fish that we have caught in August seem to bear this out. They were thin, but nary a sign of "falling teeth" could we find.

Lassman Died a Hero; Suicide Rumor Spiked

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—New York university made a statement today in defense of the good name of Alfred Lassman, one of its greatest athletes, who was drowned in Long lake, 40 miles from Portland, Me., on July 7.

University officials admitted that circumstances had stirred talk among his classmates and friends of his having committed suicide. Today, after two weeks of investigation, they declared that instead of dying as a coward the football star had drowned, after saving the lives of two children, in an attempt to save a third.

The facts were, according to Controller Leroy Kimball of New York university that Lassman took three boys for a canoe ride with permission and as part of his duties. The canoe overturned in smooth water and Lassman died after dragging two of the youngsters astride the overturned canoe and while diving for the third, who was subsequently rescued by another athlete employed, like Lassman, as counselor at a neighboring camp.

JOHNSON'S WIFE ILL; JUDGE TAKES CHARGE OF GRIFFS

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—The Washington Senators will leave tomorrow for a week's trip minus the services of Manager Walter Johnson, who will be detained in the capital by the illness of his wife. Joe Judge, veteran first baseman, will be in charge of the team.

The condition of Mrs. Johnson, who became ill after a recent trip to Coffeyville, Kas., was said today to be serious.

Mrs. Johnson was taken to a local hospital where their son, Walter Johnson Jr. was a patient recently after both legs had been broken by an automobile.

MORRISON WINS NET TITLE.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 31.—(AP)—Donald Morrison of Washington, D. C., defeated Marvin Brown of Syracuse, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2, to capture the New York state junior tennis championship here today.

MASTRO OFFERS $40,000 TO BIND BATTALINO BOUT

Art Winch, manager of Earl Mastro, yesterday announced that he had offered Bat Battalino, featherweight champion of the world, $40,000 to defend his championship against Mastro, providing Mastro defeats Fidel LaBarba in their ten round bout at the Chicago Stadium next Thursday.

Winch said Kid Chocolate is the only featherweight who is better than Mastro, but that the difference is not so great as to eliminate all doubt of his superiority.

"LaBarba is next to Earl," Winch said. "We are going out to whip him. Then we want Chocolate and it is quite possible that we will get him in Detroit next month.

"Immediately after the LaBarba fight we are going to claim the championship and post a big forfeit. We expect the boxing commissions to help us force Battalino into a match."

THE SHOCK ABSORBER PROBAK ZONE
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. MADE IN U. S. A.
He killed the shock – that spoiled your morning shave . . . . .
HE developed a blade that's as keen and true in your razor as it is in the package. Henry J. Gaisman, world's foremost authority on safety razors and blades, guarded against edge-distortion by two strokes of inventive genius—butterfly channeling and duo-tempered steel. All bending shocks are absorbed before they can reach the finely honed edges of the Probak blade. Experience the amazing difference this makes in shaving speed and comfort. Buy a package of guaranteed Probak blades. Use two in your double-edge razor (old or new model). Compare them with your present blades. If every Probak shave isn't quicker, cooler, smoother—return the package and your dealer will refund every cent—$1 for 10, 50c for 5.

Yank and Irish Pats to Clash in British Meet

It will be Pat against Pat when the hammer throwers do their stuff in the coming track and field meet between the British empire and the United States at Soldiers' field on Aug. 27.

On the British team will be Patrick O'Callaghan, Ireland's greatest athlete, who gained world wide fame by winning the hammer throw in the 1928 Olympic games. Following O'Callaghan will come Patrick McDonald, the portly New York policeman, who has been winning the hammer throw championship in this country for years.

Of late years the Gotham strong man has turned his attentions to the 56 pound weight in which event he holds the National A. A. U. championship. However, when he learned that O'Callaghan would be at Soldiers' field he announced his intentions of trying for a position on the American team in the 16 pound weight at the National A. A. U. meet at Pittsburgh where the squad will be selected.

The presence on the empire team of athletes from ten British dominions—Canada, Ireland, Scotland, Australia, New Zealand, Wales, South Africa, Newfoundland, Bermuda and British Guiana—has aroused the interest of former citizens of these countries who now reside in Chicago.

4 CALIFORNIANS REACH SEABRIGHT NET MEET FINALS

Seabright, N. J., July 31.—(AP)—All California finals in both men's and women's singles were assured in the annual Seabright invitation tennis tournament today as favorites fell by the wayside in the semi-final round.

Tomorrow Ellsworth Vines Jr., 18 year old sensation from Pasadena, Cal., will meet his fellow townsman, Sydney B. Wood Jr. for the men's title. On Saturday Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana and Mrs. L. A. Harper of Los Angeles will fight it out for the women's crown.

Vines defeated Frank Hunter of New Rochelle, veteran Davis cup player, today, 3-6, 6-2, 8-6. Almost as surprising was Wood's triumph over Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0.

The women's play was featured by an upset victory for Miss Cruickshank over the favorite, Edith Cross of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-3.

Amateur Oarsmen Open Regatta at Boston Today

Boston, Mass., July 31.—(AP)—Sixteen rowing clubs from 10 cities have entered the 58th annual championship regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. The meet will open here tomorrow with a two day schedule of 13 title events on the Charles River. Philadelphia has supplied the bulk of the field—50 oarsmen and 15 racing shells.

STUDEBAKER, BETHLEHEM CO. PROFITS SHRINK

First Concern Cuts Dividend Rate.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Recovery of the steel and automobile industries from the slump that marked the first half of this year is expected by Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, and A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker corporation.

A. R. ERSKINE.

Both companies showed sharp declines in their semi-annual earnings statements, issued yesterday, and the Studebaker directors reduced the annual common stock dividend rate from $4 to $3 by declaring a quarterly payment of 75 cents. Three months ago the rate was cut from $3 to $4 a year.

"Things look a little better but I will have to say, in all frankness, it is very little," Mr. Grace said. "But I believe we have seen the worst in steel demand and prices. Normally, we get a seasonal pickup in August and September and we hope it will be permanent."

Mr. Erskine indicated that the $3 rate on Studebaker will be retained by a statement that a quarterly dividend of 75 cents also will be declared in October. But he added that with the revival of the corporation's business and profits, stockholders in due course may anticipate extra dividends.

$17,768,981 in First Half.

Net earnings of Bethlehem Steel for the second quarter of this year were $7,091,496, equivalent to $1.86 a share on the common stock, compared with $10,077,484, or $2.60 a share, in the first quarter and with $11,766,473 in the second quarter of 1929. Net earnings for the first half of this year were $17,768,981, or $4.46 a share, compared with $29,512,063, or $7.21 a share, for the first half of 1929.

Second quarter earnings were more than sufficient to cover the quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the common stock and it was declared. Mr. Grace said that steel production now is geared to actual demand. Plant operations are around 55 per cent of capacity, compared with an average of 69.3 per cent for the second quarter and 80.8 per cent for the first quarter, this year, and full capacity for the second quarter of 1929.

"So far as possible, we are keeping the entire force working part time," he added. "We believe it would be false economy to cut wages under present conditions. Workmen are not having an easy time of it, as their monthly wages are about two-thirds of what they are normally. Last year the average yearly wage was $1,542."

Bethlehem Steel had unfilled orders valued at $59,906,772 on June 30, compared with $78,333,010 on March 31 and $66,329,800 on June 30, 1929.

Studebaker's Net.

The Studebaker corporation has net profits of $1,075,180 in the second quarter of this year, which was equivalent to 41 cents a share on the common stock. This compared with $6,150,239, or $2.02 a share, in the second quarter of 1929. Net earnings for the first half of this year were $2,567,317, or $1.03 a share, compared with $11,183,878, or $5.56 a share, for the first half of 1929.

Car sales for the second quarter totaled 19,855, compared with 35,423 a year ago; while sales for the first half of this year totaled 38,320, compared with 67,430 in the same period in 1929.

With little real change in stock market activity or prices in the last week, brokers' loans showed only a nominal increase of $2,000,000, according to the weekly report of the federal reserve board. The current total of $3,328,000,000 marks a decline of $3,732,000,000 from a year ago. The New York banks increased their own loans by $50,000,000 but interior banks withdrew $31,000,000 and other lenders, including corporations, drew down $18,000,000.

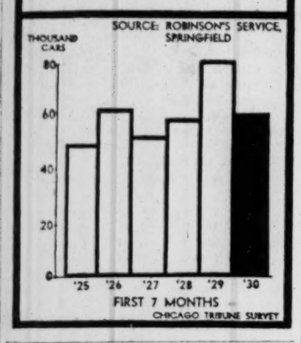
Credit Conditions Steady.

Little change in credit conditions was shown in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system. Borrowings of the member banks increased $6,521,000 to a total of $197,391,000. The reserve banks disposed of $19,761,000 of bankers' acceptances, but about maintained their holdings of government securities. Deposits declined $15,741,000 and note circulation fell $21,029,000. Gold and total reserve declined $19,245,000 and $15,171,000 respectively. The ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 83.5 per cent, compared with 83.2 per cent last week.

The New York reserve bank made no change in its 2½ per cent rediscount rate. Its report showed member bank borrowings increased $6,495,000 to a total of $38,430,000. Bankers' acceptances declined $8,560,000 and deposits fell $9,326,000. Reserves remained $7,860,000, but the reserve ratio rose to 87.7 per cent, compared with 87.6 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed member bank borrowings little changed at $16,739,765. Bankers' acceptances declined $2,877,000. Deposits expanded $3,574,000. Reserves held abut steady and the reserve ratio rose to 85.7 per cent, compared with 85 per cent a week ago.

New Car Sales in Cook County Have Been Good Despite Drop from 1929



SINCLAIR OIL CORP. WILL RETIRE 8 PCT. PREFERRED SHARES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—(AP)—The Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, which recently arranged to sell its half interest in the Sinclair Pipe Line company and the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company for $72,500,000 cash, will retire its 8 per cent preferred stock, it was learned today.

The amount of the stock outstanding is $15,177,500. The stock is subject to redemption at $110 a share plus accrued dividends on thirty days' notice. The series D 6 per cent bonds outstanding in the amount of $15,463,500 will be paid off at maturity Sept. 1, and will not be refunded.

As a result of those two operations the capital outstanding will be cut by approximately $30,500,000. It is expected that a special meeting of stockholders will be held in about a month at which time the stockholders will be asked to approve the sale of Sinclair's interest in the crude oil purchasing and pipe line companies. Details of the plans to reduce the outstanding capital are likely to be revealed in the letter soon to be sent out calling that proposed special meeting. The preferred stock is selling around the call price.

Negotiations are proceeding for the acquisition of additional properties to replace those being sold.

No Bonus for Schwab Who Gets $150,000

Youngstown, O., July 31.—(AP)—A former director of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company today defended from the witness stand the merger of the company with Bethlehm Steel corporation and denid that knowledge of Bethlehem's bonus system, under which President Eugene G. Grace was paid $1,623,753 in 1929, would have influenced him to oppose the deal.

CHAS. M. SCHWAB.

The witness was John W. Ford, who resigned to go to Europe following the meeting of the stockholders April 8, when the merger was ratified.

Bonuses of Bethlehem officials revealed so far follow:

	Bonus.	Salary.
Eugene G. Grace [president]	$1,623,753	$12,000
H. E. Lewis	375,784	10,000
C. A. Buck	378,664	10,000
O. Bent	378,664	10,000
F. A. Shick	216,729	6,000
R. E. McMath	134,538	6,000
J. M. Gross	110,077	6,000
J. H. Ward	54,305	3,000
C. R. Holton	48,923	10,000
J. M. Larkin	36,692	10,000
A. Johnston	24,462	10,000

Before questioning Ford, the Eaton attorneys obtained figures on further Bethlehem bonuses and salaries from defense attorneys and introduced them into the record. They revealed that Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board for Bethlehem, receives annual salary of $150,000 and no bonus. Schwab apportions the bonus, which in 1929 amounted to 6.54 per cent of the net earnings, among the various high officials of the corporation.

Ford was taken over as a defense witness after the Eaton attorneys brought from him an explanation of why he and other directors refused to furnish a committee of stockholders, opposed to the merger, with information. He said he did not believe they wanted the information in "good faith."

He accepted responsibility also for the refusal of the directors to delay their action on the merger on the requests of Eaton. He made the motion, he said, that the board proceed without delay.

WORST DROUGHT IN YEARS BURNS NATION'S CROPS

Corn Up 3c in Wild Buying Wave.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Fears felt for the American corn crop which is being daily damaged by what is termed the worst drought in years brought about a wild wave of buying yesterday and prices spurted upward around three cents a bushel.

The condition of the corn crop borders on a near calamity according to private estimates given the trade yesterday. Dry weather is reducing the prospective yield 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 bu per day and this is expected to continue until the most severe drought in many years is broken, as viewed by Nat C. Murray, the Clement, Curtis & Co. statistician, and former head of the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture.

Sensational claims of damage to the crop, which have been the basis for a bulge of over 16c in corn prices in less than a month were regarded as fully confirmed by the E. H. Miller-J. E. Bennett & Co. report, which placed the yield at 2,495,000,000 bu on data of an average date of July 25. It is the smallest crop with five exceptions in over thirty years, and only twice since 1868 has the condition of 69.6 been lower than it is at the present time.

Shows 400,000,000 Bu Drop.

The Miller report showed a reduction of 400 000,000 bu from a month ago, when the government placed the prospective yield at 2,802,000,000 bu, while last year's harvest was 2,614,000,000 bu. Statisticians generally claim that it is almost impossible to accurately estimate the crop at the present time. Some sections have already experienced sufficient damage to warrant the belief that practically no grain will be secured, while in more favored sections of the belt rain immediately might result in a fairly good crop. The plant, however, has now reached the limit of its endurance except in sections that have received moisture from the scattered showers

Salesmanship Seen Factor in Depression Resistance

BY SCRUTATOR.

There is an essential stability about many businesses that make them seemingly depression proof.

The supplying of foodstuffs, on the basis of available figures, would appear to be one of them. Federal reserve board figures show that in the first six months of 1930 the wholesale grocery trade showed a loss of only 2 per cent as compared with the first half of 1929, the same percentage applying both in the Chicago reserve district and the country as a whole.

Other wholesale lines showed much larger falling off. As the reserve board figures are on dollar value, and as prices have fallen somewhat in foodstuffs in the intervening year, it is indicated that neither the generally depressed conditions nor the chain store competition has hurt this line much.

Most Immediate Necessity.

Food is, of course, the most immediate of necessities. At the other end of the consumer scale we might put life insurance. For most of us it is an effort of will to sign up for twenty years or more of installment payments with the returns in the event of survival small, even as compared to bond interest. Yet enough Americans have that will power and the means to make life insurance one of the apparently unshakable industries.

Statistics from the life insurance sales research bureau of Hartford, Conn., show that the volume of life insurance sold in the first half of this year was 3 per cent above the volume in the corresponding period of 1929. For the twelve months ending with June sales were reported as increasing 6 per cent over the preceding twelve months.

Seventy-eight companies having 88 per cent of the legal reserve insurance in the country furnished the figures. New England and the east south central and west south central groups of states were the only ones which showed losses in insurance volume in 1930.

Several explanations have been given to account for the showing of the life companies. One is that the crash in the stock market last fall relieved them of competition—that persons who believed they could build up an estate by guessing right on margins were convinced to the contrary and turned to the most conservative of all methods.

Keep After Prospects.

Another is that speculators discovered in their policies a rock of refuge in turbulent financial times. The Connecticut insurance department found that forty-two companies doing business in that state increased their policy loans by 337 million dollars, or nearly twice the increase in the year, 1928. A rather far fetched theory is that those who like to speculate have been convinced they should have an insurance reserve for borrowing purposes.

The most likely explanation is that insurance agents kept after their prospects. Food sells itself. So, in these days, does gasoline, which has been sold in greater volume this spring and summer than last. Insurance has to be sold. It is possible that salesmanship as a factor in making prosperity has been overlooked in some of the industries that are not doing so well.

NATIONAL DAIRY PRODUCTS EARNS $12,947,211 NET

National Dairy Products corporation for the first half has net profit of $12,947,211, equal to $2.16 a share, compared with $11,601,872, or $1.85 a share in the corresponding period of last year.

Thomas H. McInnerney, president, said the earnings represented an increase of 11½ per cent, which included consideration given to the issuance of rights in September, 1929, and the regular quarterly stock dividends. He added that consolidation of various units and increased operating efficiency played an important part in the higher profits.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—There is courage in the stock market yet, for it struggled back up the financial hillside today to gain a bit of the ground it lost when it began to slide yesterday. The climb was slow, painful at times, and always difficult. At the close the gains were spotty and ranged from 1 to 3 points. There was no real test of strength, for the market still is considerable distance below the deadline the bears have drawn across the price range.

The gain today was only the forward swing of the pendulumlike movement and, as it did not swing as far forward as it did backward Wednesday, it is reasonable to conclude that unless the spring is wound the swing is eventually going to stop at the bottom.

With a reduced volume of trading, which amounted to 2,162,770 shares, the market extended its decline in the early hours, then picked up a few points in the afternoon.

Irregularities Noted.

Irregularity was noted in groups and in specialties. Most of the rails were down a point or more, but there were notable exceptions. Santa Fé had

We Lend the Tools— Jones Does the Work

Jones is about thirty-five years old, married, and has three children . . . He is in a good position, and is buying his home . . . He has always made it a point to save part of his income . . .

Last fall the kids got sick, and you know what that means . . . there was a trained nurse for almost three months, in addition to the doctors . . .

Jones might have been in a predicament . . . for he had used all the money in his savings account . . . and needed $400.00 besides . . .

Jones comes to the Personal Loan & Savings Bank . . . borrows $400.00 . . . pays back $8.00 a week out of his income . . . of course pays all his bills. At the end of the year he has not only paid back his loan . . . he has found it possible to lay aside an additional $15.00 a month in his savings account.

Your name may not be Jones, but you may borrow the tools and work out your own problem if you happen to be in a financial situation similar to Jones.

We extend a "personal" invitation

AN ADVANTAGE

The fact that A. G. Becker & Co. is not primarily concerned with one type of financing but underwrites and distributes bonds, short term notes, commercial paper, preferred and common stocks, is an advantage both to the investor and to the corporation for which financing is done. For the corporation it assures financing exactly suited to its needs. For the investor it provides a variety of offerings from which to select securities that best meet his individual requirements.

AN EXAMPLE

For the Hammermill Paper Company we underwrote a short term issue in 1916, which was redeemed before maturity. Subsequently, we offered two issues of preferred stock, a block of its common stock, and distributed its commercial paper when the Company borrowed in the open market.

CHICAGO STOCKS STAGE RALLY AND CLOSE IS FIRMER

Snappy Rally Reduces Earlier Losses.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

An uplift movement which started in the last half hour of trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday rescued wavering stocks from what earlier appeared would be another day of lower prices. The rally was short and snappy and reached its intensity only a few minutes before the final gong halted trading.

Final prices showed no startling changes from the previous day's last quotations, but compared with the early morning lows they made a good appearance. There were no conspicuous strong spots. In fact, instances in which the net gains exceeded a point were the exceptions rather than the rule.

Among the issues which gained a point or so net were Majestic, Insull Utility, and Gleaner Combine. Early trades found Insull selling at 60, while the close was 1½ above that level. It was again the most actively traded issue on the board, with a turnover of over 19,000 shares.

Give Good Accounting.

Other shares which gave a good account of themselves in recovering from their lows were Borg Warner, Grigsby, and Middle West Utilities.

The exchange yesterday issued a report on the cumulative volume of sales so far this year. While the July volume amounted to only 3,504,800 shares, the exchange points out proudly that the transactions for the first seven months are 32 per cent greater than the volume for the corresponding period of 1929.

Seven months' volume was 48,781,600 shares, as compared with 36,969,300 shares last year. Par value of bonds sold during the period was $22,382,000, compared with $3,411,000 in the like period last year. The July volume was $1,093,000, as against $293,000 a year ago.

The exchange's compilation shows that July was the lightest month so far in 1930. Sales for the month declined from June volume of 8,236,100 shares to 3,504,800 shares. January was the second dullest month, when only 4,541,200 shares were transferred.

Lion Oil Earnings.

The Lion Oil company yesterday reported earnings before taxes for the six months period ended June 30 of $19,054. This compares with $502,287 for the corresponding period last year. Sales amounted to $3,666,992, slightly in excess of the $3,580,970 reported in the like period of 1929.

Col. T. H. Barton, president of the company, stated that every possible charge-off had been made during the period and he confidently expected the final half to prove satisfactory.

The balance sheet as of June 30 last shows current assets of $2,657,050, against current liabilities of $1,577,984. Current assets as of Dec. 31 last were $2,692,596, against current liabilities of $1,220,563.

CHICAGO CURB EXCHANGE STOCKS

Moderately lower levels were found by a number of Chicago Curb exchange issues yesterday in a session marked by brisk trading in Insull common and preferred rights. The Insull common showed a tendency to firm up, but finally closed at the previous figure.

NEW TRIBUNAL TO BE FORMED BY BLDG. TRADES

Will Work with Builders to Adjust Disputes.

BY THOMAS WREN.

Headquarters of the National Association of Building Trades Employers were notified last night that the Atlantic City joint meeting of builders and building trades leaders late yesterday had agreed on the formation of a new tribunal through which adjustment will be made of jurisdictional strife between the crafts of building artisans.

O. W. ROSENTHAL.

The new board is comprised of building trades executives and an equal number of builders and it is called the board of trade claims. Its establishment was hailed by the local building industry as a stabilizer of labor conditions and insures, it is claimed, a virtual elimination of jurisdictional rows between the building trades.

Urged by Hoover.

Builders pointed out that changing materials in construction made the institution of the board of trade claims imperative, as the sash work done today on buildings by carpenters may give way six months hence and its installation be claimed by sheet metal workers. While reticent to estimate the economic loss occasioned by the disputes, builders state a conservative annual compilation should be around $50,000,000.

Several meetings preceded the Atlantic City conference, which has been in session since last Monday. President Hoover, at the instigation of John Donlin, labor official, urged the Tampa, Fla., joint meeting of builders and labor representatives to establish an adjustment board, which he said would procure public confidence in the nation's building industry.

Draft Provisions.

Provisions of the new board of trade claims were drafted by E. M. Craig and Oscar W. Rosenthal, two officials of the National Association of Building Trades Employers, and they worked which have fallen in some parts of the west.

WORST DROUGHT IN YEARS BURNS NATION'S CROPS

Corn Spurts 3c in Wild Buying Wave.

Jarvis Browne, a long range forecastar who has frequently been in conflict with the department of agriculture in late years, and who bases his views on the movement of ocean currents and other factors, was out with a statement claiming that there would be no relief from the hot and dry weather until after Labor day.

A wild wave of buying swept over the corn market when the bullish crop figures were made known, and at the finish of the previous day with commission houses, local operators and shorts free buyers. Sellers of offers were also forced to protect themselves on the way up, and the finish was within a fraction of the top with net gains of 2¾@3c on the active futures, September closing at 86⅞@87c with December, 81¾@82c, and March, 84⅝@85c. July was 86¼@87c at the last, the average price showing a gain of ¾c over Wednesday.

Owing to the character of the crop comments it is the general belief of traders, that extremely rapid price movements will continue in the corn market for sometime to come. At the present time all factors other than the weather are being ignored. A car of No. 1 white corn sold in the Chicago sample market at 91c, the highest figure of the season, but Argentine grain was reported as having been offered at Toronto, Canada, at equal to 16c per bu lower than it could be laid down from Chicago.

Wheat in Strong Bulge.

Sentiment in the wheat trade underwent a radical change overnight as the result of an immense export demand, sales late Wednesday and yesterday being estimated as high as 6,000,000 bu, mainly Manitobas, but there was a heavy business at the gulf with the basis there up ½c as compared with futures.

Short covering developed in volume and there was much less pressure than of late with prices moving up over 2c from Wednesday's finish. Houses with eastern connections that were heavy buyers on Wednesday took the selling side on the bulge, and caused a reaction from the top with the close at net gains of 1⅛@1¼c, with July, 84¾@84⅞c; September, 86⅝@86¾c, and December, 92¼@92⅝c.

Winnipeg wheat was stronger than Chicago and finished 2¾c higher, while Liverpool was unchanged to ⅛d higher. October in the latter market was about 16½c over Chicago September when it closed, the widest difference in many months.

A total wheat crop for the United States of 808,000,000 bu, or practically the same as a month ago and last year was shown by the Miller-Bennett report, and was slightly less than the trade had been expecting. Reports of frost in parts of the Canadian northwest of late, as officially reported, attracted some attention, but it is impossible to estimate the damage.

Oats Crop Reduced.

An oats crop of 1,279,000,000 bu, or 78,000,000 bu in excess of last year was shown by the Miller report, a drop of 50,000,000 bu from a month ago. July and September dropped to a new low on the crop early, but heavy buying of December by houses with northwestern connections and the strength in corn lifted values nearly 3c from the bottom and the close was 1@1¾c higher with July, 33⅞c, and September, 36@36¼c. Kentucky farmers were said to be trucking oats for feed from as far north as Frankfort, Ind.

Heavy short covering was on in rye and there was no material pressure. Final trades were 2¼@3c higher, July finishing at 53¼c, and September, 55c.

HALF YEAR NET OF FAIRBANKS, MORSE SLUMPS

Fairbanks, Morse & Co., manufacturers of scales, Diesel engines, etc., report net profits for the first six months of 1930 of $803,460, as compared with $1,121,826 earned during the same period last year. The 1930 earning is equivalent to $1.52 per share on the 368,977 shares of common stock outstanding. Customers' orders for the 1930 period totaled $15,009,737, against $19,004,026 the first six months of last year.

C. H. Morse, chairman of the board, reported that the extensive product development program planned at the first of the year has been vigorously carried on despite conditions. He said the total of unfilled orders on hand June 30 was 28 per cent above the amount at the beginning of the year.

PIT NOTES

Private crop reports are due today and are expected to be bullish on corn and oats and bearish on wheat. Estimates on wheat are for 815,000,000 to 835,000,000 bu, against 807,000,000 bu by the government last month. Winter wheat estimates are for 570,000,000 to 585,000,000 bu, compared with 558,000,000 bu by the government last month. Corn estimates are for 2,475,000,000 to 2,540,000,000 bu, against 2,802,000,000 bu last month, and 2,614,000,000 bu last year as revised. Oats are estimated at 1,275,000,000 bu, against 1,234,000,000 bu harvested last year.

A further rally in wheat is expected by the trade as the upturn is not believed to have fully corrected the local situation. Country holders are not offering wheat so freely except from Nebraska, and cash premiums are holding strong. The disposition of traders is to take profits on all sharp bulges.

COTTON CROP SHORT

A large shortage in the cotton crop is expected this year, due to drouth and extremely hot weather. An estimate of 13,412,000 bales, or 1,409,000 bales less than last year, is forecasted by the Bennett-Miller crop report, based on returns from cotton ginners on an average date of July 25.

Their estimate last year was the closest of any of the private returns, being 14,845,000 bales, while the final of the government of 14,821,000 bales, a difference of only 44,000 bales. Condition is 64.3, which is low, compared with 69.3 last month and a ten year average of 68.7. On Aug. 1 last year it was 69.6. Texas is given 4,225,000 bales against 3,940,000 bales last year, with a condition of 63, which is only 6 point under a year ago. The crop is later and the plant much smaller with fruiting lighter than last year. Comparisons with the last three figures omitted, follow:

SECURITY FIRM COMBINE NOW AGREED UPON

hase Corp. Will Acquire Harris, Forbes Cos.

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Acquisition of the Harris-Forbes companies the Chase Securities corporation, affiliate of the Chase National bank, form the largest security distributorganization in the country has n agreed on, subject to legal forlities and approvals.

Announcement of the transaction s made late today. The Chase is quiring the entire capital stock of arris-Forbes companies, which own various operating concerns bear- the Harris-Forbes name. The Har--Forbes interests will become large stockholders of the Chase National nk, largest banking institution in world, and Chase Securities corration. Terms of the exchange of ock were not revealed.

Retain Identities.

The Harris-Forbes corporations will tain their separate identities, the nouncement said, and will continue siness as heretofore under the same ecutive management. They will also ntinue the long standing relationip in the distribution of investment curities with the Harris Trust and vings bank of Chicago. It was said at Chase would have no financial terest in Harris Trust and Savings. Word of the transaction took Wall reet by surprise, although officers the corporations involved said the al had been under discussion for bout two and a half years. Harris-orbes, identified with the security stribution of many large companies, cluding Cities Service, Associated as and Electric, and American and nited Founders, has a strong organiation abroad, and was a pioneer in the utility and municipal bond business in this country.

Several members of the Chase organizations will become members of the directorate of the Harris-Forbes companies, while representatives of the Harris-Forbes units will be put on the boards of the Chase National Bank and the Chase Securities corporation.

Started Here in 1882.

The Harris organization, said to be the largest bond house in the United States, started in Chicago in 1882 as W. W. Harris & Co. A Boston house was added in 1886, and four years later the New York branch was established. In 1907 the Chicago house was reorganized into the Harris Trust and Savings bank, ownership of which was retained and still is held in Chicago, primarily with the Harris family.

The eastern units were incorporated and gradually came into the ownership of the eastern partners, headed by the late Allen B. Forbes. The organization has sales offices in fifty cities in the United States and Canada, as well as in London and Paris. There are also permanent representatives in Berlin and Buenos Aires.

The Harris-Forbes companies have taken a prominent part in foreign financing since the war, and have been especially active in bringing out loans of central European countries, particularly Germany.

CITIZENS OPPOSE SOUTHWEST SIDE SEWAGE PROJECT

Declare Plant Will Hurt Realty Values.

Property owners, civic organizations, school board officials, and railroad attorneys crowded the sanitary district rooms yesterday to protest construction of the new southwest side sewage treatment plant at 51st street and Lavergne avenue. The board members, who previously had expressed themselves in favor of the selected site, met in special session at 11 a. m. and continued in session throughout the day with a short intermission for lunch. No decision was reached and the matter was deferred to the next regular meeting of the board.

More than 300 persons attended the protest meeting. They were headed by a group of experts on sanitary engineering, zoning and real estate law. All testified that construction of the plant at the site selected would destroy real estate values in a residential neighborhood. The board of education objects to the site of the grounds that a sewage treatment plant, through a decrease in residence, would render the May school valueless and cause a great loss to the board of education. The site is in the Austin school fund tract.

Special Committee Selected.

Due to protests during the last year the sanitary board some time ago asked that a special committee of disinterested citizens make a survey of the sites available and give recommendations. The committee selected was composed of Robert Isham Randolph, Joseph K. Brittain, John Cornell, A. A. Sprague, and Sewell Avery.

It was their unanimous decision that the Lavergne avenue site was the only possible location without the expenditure of an excessive sum in addition to the $40,000,000 needed for the plant. More than $8,000,000 would be needed to effect a change.

Attorneys Francis X. Busch and Julius Smietanka, appearing for the southwest side taxpayers, suggested enlarging of the present west side plant at Stickney. Heretofore Argo has been offered as the alternative site, but the sanitary board vetoed it as too expensive. D. W. Townsend, assistant chief engineer of the Milwaukee sanitary district, testified that the Stickney plant could be utilized until 1960. L. R. Howson, consulting engineer retained by the protesting citizens, supported this view.

Zoning Expert Testifies.

Jacob L. Crane, a zoning expert, testified that the Lavergne avenue district was ideal for residential purposes and would be ruined by construction of the treatment plant. Trustee John English and Don Rogers, building manager of the board of education, protested for the schools with the support of Mrs. Harvey Tyler, president of the Woman's City club.

Although the decision was postponed, Walter Beebe, attorney for the sanitary district, said nothing conclusive had been advanced to cause a change in the site. The two alternatives are not available, he said, because the expense of the Argo site makes it prohibitive, and a cemetery occupies the only available land at the Stickney site. He said a cemetery has never been condemned for such reasons and it would be doubtful that it could be done now. The present site, although residential, is poorly settled, he asserted, and would inconvenience the fewest people.

CRUSHED TO DEATH AT WORK.

Joseph Burch, 43 years old, 8608 Houston avenue, a laborer at the South Chicago plant of the Illinois Steel company, was crushed to death yesterday at the plant by a weight which fell from a magnetic crane.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Save the Pieces

WELL, MAYBE WE CAN USE THESE BOARDS FOR SOMETHIN'- THEY'RE WORTH SAVIN' ANYWAY-AYE- WE MIGHT USE THIS LUMBER TO BUILD A HOUSE LATER ON-A HOUSE? SAY- THAT'S A GOOD IDEA- THINK YOU COULD BUILD A HOUSE?
AYE- THERE'S FEW THINGS OLD SPIKE MARLIN CAN'T DO WITH A GOOD SET OF TOOLS-
LUCKY WE BROUGHT ALL TH' TOOLS AN' THINGS ASHORE WHERE THEY'RE SAFE 'FORE THAT STORM OR WE SURE WOULD BE UP AGAINST IT-

SET UP MARTIAL LAW IN CITY ON THE RIO GRANDE

Mexican State Head Jails Electoral Foes.

El Paso, Tex., July 31.—(AP)—Political differences which arose during the recent heated gubernatorial campaign in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, today were renewed with the arrest of the mayor, city secretary and three aldermen of Juarez, across the Rio Grande from here. The city was placed under martial law.

Lieut. Col. Ignacio L. Campos, aide to Gen. Francisco del Arco, commander of the Juarez garrison, was acting chief of police and with two squads of soldiers was in charge of the municipality.

Those held were Mayor Gustavo Flores, Aldermen Jose Motta, Carlos Austin B. Gardea and Valention Fuentes, and Alejandro Fallinger, city secretary. There was a warrant out for Patricinia Candelario, fourth alderman.

Charge Voting Obstructions.

It was known that Gov. Romulo Escobar of Chihuahua had been making an investigation of charges that the partisans of Manuel Prieto, defeated candidate for governor, assisted by Jaurez officials, interfered with free exercise of suffrage in Juarez. Gov. Escobar was the successful candidate against Prieto.

It was announced that Andres Padillo, another alderman, was slated for appointment as temporary mayor and that alternate aldermen would take the places of those ousted by the military régime.

The city treasury was guarded by federal soldiers and a check of the finances was under way. A large crowd of persons gathered around the city hall and the guard of soldiers was augmented. Excitement was tense with crowds gathering on the street corners.

News Surprises Capital.

MEXICO CITY, July 31.—(AP)—The report that Chihuahua had been placed under martial law and the mayor and other city officials arrested caused surprise here. The department of the interior had published a statement in the morning press saying the political difficulties of Chihuahua had been settled.

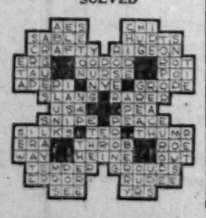
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



FORD FIRES STAFF AT PLANT IN SPAIN; BLAMES TARIFF RAISE

BARCELONA, Spain, July 31.—(AP)—Six hundred men, representing the entire production staff of the Ford assembly plant here, were dismissed today. The management gave as its reasons general business depression and uncertainty as to how badly the new Spanish tariff would hurt industry. G. D. Jenkins, general manager, said:

"We cannot definitely say whether we will close down the business or not. We normally employ about 700 men in all branches. The production staff, numbering 600, which assembles cars, was dismissed today. Meanwhile our experts are studying the new tariff provisions."

A committee representing the dismissed workers visited the governor of Barcelona and complained against the company's measure, which, they declared, was "taken as a reprisal against the tariff."

MISSING NURSE FOUND TO FACE DR. RONGETTI

Lorraine Irwin, nurse, whose testimony was one of the high spots in the first murder conviction of Dr. Amante Rongetti, and who has been missing for some time, was found last night at 4340 Drexel boulevard and taken to the detective bureau for questioning by Assistant State's Attorney John P. Hampton.

Mr. Hampton, in charge of the third prosecution of Dr. Rongetti for the death of Loretta Enders and her newborn baby, said he wished to put Miss Irwin on the witness stand again merely as a matter of legal routine.

A blow was dealt the state's case yesterday when William Cozzi, father of Miss Enders' child, changed his story. He said he had taken Miss Enders to a midwife before taking her to Dr. Rongetti. He said he had not told of that previously as he was afraid of prosecution.

In the first trial of the case Dr. Rongetti was sentenced to the electric chair. The Supreme court granted a new trial. He was convicted a second time on a manslaughter charge, and was again granted a new trial, which is now being heard.

9 Children Share Estate of Anson P. Stokes' Widow

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Nine children of Mrs. Helen Phelps Stokes, late widow of Anson Phelps Stokes, clergyman and educator, share in her estate under the will filed today. After bequests of $20,000 apiece have been given to sixteen grandchildren and other bequests of from $1,000 to $25,000 have been paid to seventeen other legatees. Among the children are Anson Phelps Stokes of Washington and Carolyn Hunter of Santa Barbara, Cal. The value of the estate was placed merely at "more than $100,000," although bequests greatly exceeding that amount were provided for.

Young Wife Falls from Sixth Floor; She May Die

Mrs. Sylvia Munzenmaier, 22 years old, a bride of nine months, leaped or fell from her sixth floor apartment at 841 Windsor avenue last night. About 9 p. m. she had complained of illness and her husband, Clarence, a draftsman, summonded a physician. Before he arrived she opened a window and fell to a paved court below. Surgeons at the Lakeview hospital said she incurred a fractured wrist, possible fracture of the pelvis and internal injuries which, they said, might prove fatal.

Rites Today for Youth Who Died on London Tour

Funeral services will be held at Bryn Mawr Community church, 7000 Jeffrey avenue, at 2 p. m. today for Cyrus H. McDermut, 18 years old, 7060 Bennett avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. McDermut, who died suddenly on July 23 at London, England, while upon a European tour with his mother. Young McDermut was a student at Cornell university and a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. Interment will be at Oakwoods cemetery.

Youth Injured as Wall of Condemned Building Falls

Charles Jasbin, 16 years old, 1211 North Artesian avenue, a newsboy, was slightly injured last night when a wall of an abandoned two story brick building in the rear of 1216 North Western avenue, formerly occupied by the Western Wrecking company, collapsed and caught him under the debris. The building had been condemned and was about to be razed. A fire department ambulance took the youth to the county hospital.

Leaves Hospital After Six Years; Stabs Wife; Dies

St. Louis, Mo., July 31.—(AP)—Steven Thomas, 52, a patient in a hospital here for the last six years, left the hospital today to visit his wife. They quarreled over an inconsequential matter and he stabbed her with a kitchen knife.

Thomas died an hour and a half later of a hemmorrhage of the lungs, induced by excitement.

Mrs. Thomas's wound was slight.

NEW SUBURBAN ELECTRIC RATES IN EFFECT TODAY

New rates announced by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois are effective today and the company declares they will mean a reduction of more than $1,000,000 a year to householder customers for electricity. The company serves an area of 6,000 square miles including the suburban territory of Chicago.

The change, according to John G. Learned, vice president, is from the maximum demand system to the room basis, the charge being based on the number of rooms in the home, the number of sockets not being considered. The first four kilowatt hours per room will cost 8 cents each, the second four kilowatt hours or less per room, 7 cents each, the third four kilowatt hours per room, 5 cents each; and each kilowatt hour per room in excess of 12 will be 3 cents per kilowatt hour. Because of ordinance provisions the 8 cent rate will not apply in Arlington Heights, Kenilworth, Lake Bluff and Melrose Park.

A new rate for small commercial users was also announced as effective today. It will amount to a reduction for stores, shops and offices. Any customer who wishes to be billed under the old system will be accommodated, the company announces.

KING OF BRITAIN SIGNS NAVY PACT; WAIT FOR JAPAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, announced in the house of commons this afternoon that the instrument for the ratification of the London naval treaty had been signed by King George. He said the ratification would be deposited simultaneously with those of the Dominions, the United States and Japan when all three parties to part three of the treaty are in a position to bring the treaty into force. The treaty has been approved by both the house of lords and the house of commons and as soon as the ratification of the other powers have been deposited, it becomes a part of the law of Great Britain.

RADIUM POISON GIRL NEAR DEATH IN NEW JERSEY

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—The second of the "five radium girls" who contracted radium poisoning while painting the luminous dials of watch faces in the plant of the United States Radium corporation in Orange, N. J., several years ago, was reported near death tonight.

She is Miss Katherine Schaub of Newark, who was instructor in radium application at the plant, when she, together with many of the girls she had taught radium dial painting, was poisoned.

Miss Schaub was taken to an Orange hospital ten days ago with the poisoning in her left leg, which has become an inch shorter than the other, rapidly spreading.

Says Mate Offered $325,000 for Freedom; Names Rival

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—Lewis R. Stark, stock broker, had offered his wife $75,000 cash and an insurance policy of $250,000 if she would free him so he might marry another woman, according to documents filed in Supreme court by Mrs. Stark in a suit for separation. Her further allegation is that Mr. Stark spent more than $100,000 on Mrs. Rose Stern, whom she names as the other woman, built a home for the latter at Miami, and was in Europe with her now. She also stated that Mr. Stark had declared he would not return from Europe until she had divorced him.

KEEP COOL With Kruschen

It's the acid and toxins in your blood that causes it to boil in hot weather.

You can keep free from acid and toxins and at the same time gain in vigor, ambition and keenness of mind by taking half a teaspoonful of Nature's Own Magic Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Ask for Kruschen Salts—At any drug store in the World—Not just one salts, mind you—but a combination of six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts that Nature put into the Human body at the beginning of creation — And demands you keep there or good health will not be yours.

Kruschen Salts is what you need to keep your stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys in fine working order. A bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents and before the bottle is half gone you'll feel the spirit of youth within you—Your bright eyes—your clear skin—your spry walk and great power of endurance will mean but one thing—Good Health—Life will be well worth living.

ALCOCK SUSPENDS 2 COPS ACCUSED OF DISOBEDIENCE

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock suspended two policemen yesterday pending investigation of charges that they had disobeyed their superior, Capt. Hugh McCarthy of Town Hall station. Sergt. Charles M. Mueller and Patrolman William J. Touhy, desk sergeant and lockup keeper respectively, are accused of having taken prisoners into a station office and of permitting them to make arrangements with professional bondsmen.

Acting Commissioner Alcock also announced the transfer of two captains and one lieutenant. Capt. Patrick J. Collins of the Chicago Lawn station was transferred to Fillmore street district and the Fillmore commander, Capt. Daniel Lynch, was shifted to Chicago Lawn. Since Capt. Lynch starts on his furlough immediately, Lieut. George Teeling of Woodlawn was assigned as acting commander at Chicago Lawn.

Konjola

—32 ingredients in one mighty medicine, and each has its own work to do.

MRS. M. MIXTER
508 South Irving Ave., Chicago

Konjola, the modern medicine, works swiftly yet thoroughly in combating ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Consider the experience of Mrs. Mixter, 75, for 38 years a resident of Chicago, who says:

"Eight years I have been troubled with rheumatism in my limbs so bad that I could not go up nor down stairs. I could hardly comb my hair, and I endured terrible pain. I read so much about Konjola that I tried it, and I can say that Konjola has helped me, for I can go up and down stairs without help; can use my arms freely and comb my hair. I do not know a better medicine than Konjola".

Buy Konjola at Any Drug Store.
It Is Sold Everywhere in Chicago.

MEMORY GONE, DOCTORS SEEK GIRL'S IDENTITY

A 23 year old woman who is thought to be Dorothy Coady from near New York City, was in the Psychopathic hospital last night, apparently a victim of amnesia. While the police and hospital officials were attempting through questions to establish her identity, the girl wept and begged them to bring back her memory.

"I remember sitting in a railroad coach and then the train stopped and every one got off, so I got off, too." That was all she would tell about herself.

The police found her at a drug store and took her to the hospital. In her black purse they found $5.44, a birth certificate issued to Dorothy Teel in 1907, and the record of a marriage to a Thomas Coady in 1926.

Paper Co. Official Sued by Wife for Fifth Time

Frederick W. Smalley, vice president of the Messenger Paper company, 732 West Van Buren street, was sued for separate maintenance yesterday by Mrs. Rose C. Smalley, 247 Franklin road, Glencoe. She charges cruelty and declares she has several times had to call the police when her husband created disturbances. The bill, filed in Circuit court, is the fifth she has filed against her husband, she asserts, the other four suits having been dropped when he promised to be kind to her. She sets his income at more than $750 a month.

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

In the nine hundred block, with its deteriorated dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Ames and her mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood gossip. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and B. Jones, a reporter; also Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good for the girl to whom he regrets, since meeting Theresa, he is engaged. He has found employment painting automobiles. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and her mother, who has been better days. Mrs. Colt wants Theresa to marry Billie Treadway, a rich bachelor friend of her own girlhood.

Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, married again after Theresa's mother divorced him to marry Barrington Colt, who recently died. The father now has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with Harold Gale, a friend, to secretly give Theresa work.

Johnny Deane had determined not to tell Theresa of his love for her until he had broken his engagement, but does not keep his vow. Theresa loves him, but her mother doesn't approve of so poor a suitor as Johnny supposedly is.

Johnny sends his laundry to a neighbor, and Mrs. Baum, noting the Paris and London labels, spreads the report that Johnny is a prince in hiding.

Two days before Christmas Theresa receives a purse, containing a thousand dollar bill, from her father. Johnny sends his father a Christmas gift, inclosing a patch of his paint smeared overalls.

Theresa is upset by Mrs. Baum's gossip. She sees Johnny, and he tells her some incidents of his past.

Johnny receives a letter from the girl to whom he is engaged, threatening to sell his picture to the papers if he doesn't fix it up with his father to marry her. He writes to her, breaking the engagement, then confesses to Theresa.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

BREAKING HEARTS.

Theresa smoothed Johnny's hair; for a little space he hid his face upon her knees, and then he raised his head to make his confession.

She sat drawing away. "Do you mean to say—" she demanded in a small, crushed voice, "that you were—engaged—when you—began to—love me? When you—asked me to marry you?"

"Darling, I didn't ask you to marry me," he faltered, "I wanted to—but I couldn't—honorably——"

She smiled. His face lost color.

"You kissed me."

"I couldn't help it—before God, I couldn't, Theresa."

"How many girls have you kissed?" Stony, the usually soft face; too pretty, the voice.

"I—I don't know.

"Twenty?"

"Yes."

"Thirty?"

"Yes." . . . [He wasn't going to lie to her.]

"Fifty?"

"I presume so."

"How many times have you been engagede, John?"

"Three—times, Theresa."

"Have I added—color to—your rosary, do—you think?"

"Don't, dear, please!" he begged.

"What sort of—women were you engaged to?"

He beat the lumpy mattress with his hard, clenched fist.

"Two actresses and a girl who—who had a tea shop outside—New Haven—kid stuff, darling. Nothing—like this——"

"I guess—you told the others that, too."

"It—wasn't the same—even if I did," he whispered, voice roughened by the tragedy that was growing in him.

"Did the other engagements—impinge?" she probed on.

He shook his head; "No——" he gulped.

"Then you had a little more regard for the others," she stated, surely.

"I have never loved before," he said. "I never will again. If I had not loved you so much—I could have lied to you. Don't—don't turn away from me, Theresa. You're killing me!"

She smiled at that and coldly again, and unjustly. For the boy who had lived long in him was dead, and a strong, decent man had taken his place.

"Will you go now—please?" he asked.

"No!" he answered, violently. She pushed away his arms [with finger tips] and rose. He too rose to take her into his arms and to try to kiss something back in her that his honor and his truth had lost for him. But she was ice in his arms. He went to pieces then to beg her frantically for "a chance;" a chance to make her know. . . . But she shook her head, smiling. . . . "Will you go now, please?" he asked once more.

He stormed for a half hour; petitioned, voice breaking, wept suddenly and to his shame; and nothing changed her. He had betrayed her and he had charted his feeling for her. He had kissed her while engaged to that "actress" . . . He had played with her. He had kissed fifty girls . . . he had been engaged three times . . . Mrs. Baum had been right.

Johnny lurched up the stairs beaten. His father's money—that would be his money—made no difference to her, he had learned with mentioning it. He had not thought it would be, but at the last he had almost hoped for some little flaw in her that would make it count.

"You can't buy the qualities you lack," she said.

"I know," he answered, "but you can help me—build them."

"By letting you kiss me while you're engaged to some one else?"

He had told her then, she was cruel.

"What of you?—who made me love you?" she asked.

She sat so sick that she almost fainted after he left; sat in the chair with the rent upholstery; rubbing cold hands together; staring ahead, through black spots that wavered.

It didn't matter now. Nothing mattered. She would please her mother.

Johnny, who had lurched up stairs [not two at a time] dropped face down on the bed. He heard the door of the Colt-Ames apartment open and close. Katie stirring in her rooms.

Below him a girl so white that her mother had halted, jaw dropping as she saw her, spoke loudly and clearly.

"Mother," she said, "I'll marry Mr. Treadway. I don't love him. I never will, I know. But to think—perhaps that is an advantage."

She went to bed to think of Johnny and his considering her to be an easy prey; a stenographer; a girl far parted from his world, whom he could use carelessly, the while he wrote another girl love letters. [She was certain it had been thus.] A girl whom his father would again fight Johnny's marrying. Not that, she supposed Johnny ever really meant to marry her.

How long must you live, if you were quite strong, and must you live not wanting to?

"Mother's so happy, pet . . . will you tell mother what brought you to your senses?"

"Later, mother. I can't—really can't now—I feel quite—badly."

"Mother's poor pet! And darling baby!"

"O, please, no!" Theresa petitioned inside.

One; the little clock with the tiny strike spoke it. Two . . . three . . . four . . . five . . . So long, the nights, when hearts are breaking.

Above, Johnny struggled up to turn a flash light on his watch. Five, he saw. He'd wire his father; ask for some kind of a job. Leave in the morning. Never see her again—perhaps—his lips twitched. But—that couldn't be! Couldn't be! They were made to be together!

He beat his lumpy mattress with hard clenched hands. "I can't—stand it——" he said aloud. A great many people stand those things they say they cannot stand and Johnny was to learn it. He lay back, spent.

Six, Theresa heard. Johnny turned the flash light on his watch a few min later; two minutes after six. Day slow to come . . . and coming, gray; clammily cold; damp and depressing.

Three days later, the door of Arnold Ames' office having closed after Harold Gale, Arnold Ames opened a letter:

"Dear Father:—" he read: "The bracelet you sent me is perfectly beautiful. I really never saw so beautiful a bracelet. You are so kind. But, since you wrote it was an engagement present, I want to tell you that I am not engaged to Mr. Deane any more. I was engaged to William Treadway instead. I don't suppose this will make any difference to you and I am very grateful for the bracelet.

"With loving gratitude, Theresa."

Arnold Ames frowned on the note; read it again; sat back in his chair, sat forward. It did make a difference to him. Elsie; Elsie had managed this—the "damnable arrangement." He remembered Deane's face; he saw Billy Treadway's skimmed-milk leer which came out with his hints of a wild past . . . He heard Billy Treadway making poor puns; he saw—heard Billy Treadway as a host, saying, fussily, "Wait a moment—I want you to see the most adorable tea set I picked up for a song! Octagonal cups—you know. Sweet things!"

Arnold Ames saw, too, Theresa—his daughter—very gentle in Billy Treadway's museum that he called a house; traveling her long days with a bored, lifeless smile and a question in her eyes; closing windows, bringing the tea tray to Billy, asking how he felt now; bearing, with an outer stoicism, which denied an inner shrinking, the rather ponderous, but intense love-making of an old, in her sight, but a hungry man. Arnold saw her reminding herself again and again of how much Billy had done for her and for her mother, in order to keep herself from showing, through flesh, her nauseated spirit's revulsion. He saw her smiling with lips at old jokes, [the one, for instance, that Billy told each time they had ducks] avoiding a look at a hideous carriage, [none of this generation of Treadways had children] taking long parleying, [so many lonely people poke in earth]-trying not to think of young Deane, [being very tender to Billy when she had—again] and being spring.

Divorce Rate Growing Fast in Other States

Chicago Ratio Advancing During This Year.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Figures cited two days ago by Thomas O. Wallace, clerk of the Circuit court, centered attention on the rising divorce rate and the falling marriage rate in Cook county as shown by his records, especially during the first six months of the present year. Yesterday, however, the Chicago statistics were compared with those from other states and showed that the situation here benefits by the comparison.

While the Circuit court records indicate an increase of 4.29 per cent in divorce here for the half year, North Dakota's statistics show that between 1928 and 1929 divorce there increased 22.3 per cent. Washington, D. C., showed a gain of 13.9 per cent for the same time, while the state of Michigan reported it had surpassed the previous year by 13.8 per cent. In Nebraska 1,538 couples were divorced in 1928 and 1,728 in 1929—an increase of 12.4 per cent.

Mr. Wallace pointed out that the number of divorces granted in the Cook County Circuit court alone during June, 1930, was 424. That exceeds by 18 the total granted in the entire state of Vermont during the year of 1929. To that statement he added yesterday the information that between 1916 and 1929 marriages in Vermont decreased. Yet in the face of a slight decrease in population, divorce gained 2½ per cent between 1928 and 1929. Connecticut totals show 30 per cent less marriages in 1929 than in 1916, and Delaware 70 per cent less for the same period. Eight states show divorce increases of more than 9 per cent from 1928 to 1929, each also showing decreases in marriages.

The total divorces granted in the Circuit and Superior courts in Chicago for the first half of 1930 total 4,902. This is more than any state in the Union granted in the twelve months of 1929, except Arkansas, California, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Illinois.

California's marriage rate for 1928 and 1929 outran the divorces. The increase in weddings was 5.9 per cent. For although 14,431 couples obtained decrees there in 1928, and 15,100 in 1929, an increase of 4.6 per cent in the two years, California married 46,945 couples in 1928 and 51,866 in 1929, giving Cupid a surplus of 10.5 per cent.

California, however, leaves all the other states far behind when it comes to annulments, being debited with more than 39 per cent over all the other states combined during 1928 and 1929. An inquiry as to the reason for this total, which was 1,441 in 1928 and 1,486 in 1929, merely brought the response that the causes cited were the same as in other years.

For 1928, it was shown that the causes and totals given were: Fraudulent representation, 536; below legal age, 392; bigamy, 383; insanity, 28; coercion, 16; other causes, 5; not reported, 81—total, 1,441.

Annulments in all the other states for 1928 totaled 1,035. Of those, 172 were allowed in Illinois.

LATIN SCHOOL GETS ATHLETIC FIELD FROM J. G. SHEDD'S CHILDREN

BY AL CHASE.

Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed and Mrs. Charles Schweppe, daughters of the late John G. Shedd, have given the Chicago Latin school, now at 1531 North Dearborn parkway, a nine acre athletic field and campus on the west bank of the north branch of the Chicago river, extending from Addison to Grace street and bounded on the west by California avenue. This announcement was made last night by George Norton Northrop, head master of the school.

MRS. KERSEY COATES REED. [Steffens Photo.]

"The athletic field, which is to be known as the Kersey Coates Reed campus, was given in memory of Mr. Kersey Coates Reed, whose vision and care were so largely responsible for the founding of the new school," Mr. Northrop said.

"It may be that eventually it will seem wise to move the upper school to this new location.

"In time a boathouse, a swimming pool, a gymnasium, and five courts could be added. Evantually it might be well to have a dormitory for housing a number of boarding pupils and some of the younger, unmarried masters."

At the start the new campus will be provided with a football field, baseball diamonds, a running track, tennis courts and a fieldhouse for lockers.

A committee of the board of trustees, consisting of Frank Porter, Edward Ryerson, Philip Reed and Clarence Seipp, will be in charge of construction. Edwin H. Clark, architect of the school building on North Dearborn, has been selected to draw plans for the new campus and for the fieldhouse.

The new campus site was purchased from the Commonwealth Edison company and the estate of Sophie Beyer for an approximate $125,000. The total gift given by Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Schweppe was $250,000.

The Chicago Latin school had its beginning in 1887. The building at 18 East Division street, erected in 1899, was utilized until 1926. In that year a group of parents incorporated the Latin School association. That association built the present fireproof structure on North Dearborn, first occupied in the fall of 1926, and invited Mr. Northrop, for six years head master of the Brearley school of New York City, to take charge. The school was founded by Miss M. S. Vickery.

Movie Shows Today to Buy Ice for Poor

Warner Bros. Theaters to Give Benefits.

Vice President Curtis, acting for President Hoover, will press a button at his home in Topeka, Kas., at 1 p. m. today, Chicago time, and things will begin to happen for THE TRIBUNE free ice fund.

In most large cities over the eastern part of the country things will start happening, too, in Warner Brothers theaters. For the punching of that button will officially begin the Warner Brothers' silver anniversary celebration. Over a direct Western Union wire connection between Vice President Curtis' home and theaters in Chicago, Newark, Washington, Pittsburgh, New Haven, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, and Albany, the Vice President will start the matinée performances which will mean much to charity.

All receipts from the Warner Brothers theaters in the ten cities named, taken between the hours of 1 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. today, will be given to a charity already chosen.

And so it happens that THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, selected as Chicago's most deserving charity, will benefit from the matinee performances today at the Capitol, Stratford, Highland, Grove, and West Englewood theaters.

As to the picture you'll see at the theaters: There's "All Quiet on the Western Front" to be shown at the Stratford. Then there's "Wild Company," with H. B. Warner, and a new Fanchon and Marco stage show at the Capitol. The Highland will present Betty Compson in "Midnight Mystery," while the Grove and West Englewood theaters will offer Ramon Novarro in "In Gay Madrid."

In commenting on the silver anniversary of Warner Brothers, Vice President Curtis sent the following telegram to H. M. Warner, president:

"It has been brought to my attention that you are celebrating the 25th anniversary of your enterprise. I wish to congratulate you upon the advancement of the motion picture industry and especially upon the inauguration of sound pictures. You and others have been instrumental in bringing to the people of our country and the world the greatest pleasure through your pictures and are to be commended upon your wonderful progress."

PARIS DRESSED WOMAN TO RIVAL THE AUTUMN LEAVES FOR COLORING

PARIS, July 31.—(AP)—Paris dressmakers, with skirt lengths and silhouettes settled satisfactorily from their viewpoint, are having fun launching new colors and fabrics.

Winter styles, which are just seeing the light of day, introduce browns, greens, blues, purples, and reds, which heretofore have been seen only in the paintings of the old masters.

Lusterless wool fabrics for daytime and rich fabrics for evening, including velvet and metal brocades, crepes, and satins, have a color range such as Paris has not seen for many years.

The beauty of the colors is accentuated by the extensive use of black and white, both for day and evening.

The new browns have a mixture of plum and garnet red in their makeup. Wine reds and rich shades of heliotrope and prune are important, while dark greens for day wear and lighter for evening are apparently due for a tremendous vogue.

One house uses the whole color card in sport costumes made of true Scotch tartans bearing the names of the clans.

Gen. Calles, 52, to Wed Girl of 24 at Noon Today

MEXICO CITY, July 31.—(AP)—Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, former president of Mexico and one of her outstanding military leaders, will marry Señorita Leonor Llorente, 24, at his big ranch, fifteen miles from here, at noon tomorrow. The announcement was made tonight in circles very close to the Calles family.

Gen. Calles is 52 years old. His first wife, Señorita Natalia Chacon, died in June, 1927. The general was then president of Mexico.

Gen. Calles and Señorita Llorente have been much in each other's company for two years. In February it was announced they were to be married within the next month, but this subsequently was denied. Señorita Llorente lives in Mexico City with her mother and studies singing.

Movie Actor's Mother Flying to His Bedside

Danville, Ill., July 31.—(AP)—Notified that her son, Harlan Hilton, movie actor, is critically ill at Los Angeles, Cal., his mother, Mrs. Lula Hilton, Fairmount, Ill., left Thursday by train for Kansas City after chartering passage on a plane that will speed her from that point to the bedside of her son. Hilton, a former resident of Fairmount, has been appearing in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures for seven years. He is reported in a coma as a result of a brain hemorrhage.

Lucrezia Bori Wins New Laurels with the Role of Violetta

It is sometimes difficult to avoid being annoyed by the combination of flimsiness and gush which is the opera "La Traviata," but the Ravinia performance thereof last night was enough to bring back all heretics into the fold. That uncannily clever artist, Lucrezia Bori, was the Violetta, playing and singing the rôle with a cleverness that went to beguilement of expression, gesture, costume, as well as of voice, leaving out an occasional high note when it got in the way, and by no means harming the music thereby, since it preserved all the beauty of song. It was an uncommonly brilliant performance that managed to remain entirely human.

And if Miss Bori is the first of the Violettas, Mario Chamlee is not far from being in the same position with reference to the part of Alfredo. Not in years have I heard the rôle sung as well as he did it, and at all times he was simple, unaffected, as direct of manner as of voice.

For several weeks Giuseppe Danise has been struggling with an ailment of the face which he skillfully conceals while on the stage and never permits to affect his voice. His way with the part of the elder Germont was wholly admirable, giving it noble and sympathetic treatment of voice and manner.

The weekly children's entertainment in the afternoon became a display of military and naval forces. A platoon of soldiers and a band from Fort Sheridan, a detachment of marines, and two companies of sailors, also with band, from Great Lakes station, went through reviews, marches, drills of various types, the manual of arms, the guard mount ceremony, and as a special feature there was an exhibition of wall scaling on the field by the marines.

Shaw's First Novel, Written When 23, to Be Issued Soon

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—George Bernard Shaw's first novel, which he wrote at the age of 23, is to be published in September, fifty-one years after it was written, William H. Wise, publisher, disclosed tonight.

The early work, which will run to more than 400 pages, will be included in a collected set of Shaw's writings, the first five volumes of which will appear next month simultaneously in London and New York.

Mr. Wise said some of those who had read the manuscript, called "Immaturity," considered it the best of Shaw's novels. Despite its title, Mr. Wise said, it is surprisingly mature work for an author of 23. The manuscript was sent by Shaw to about sixty British and American publishers, all of whom refused it, Mr. Wise said. After several years of fruitless effort to find a publisher, Shaw put the manuscript away. When he opened it to revise it for inclusion in the collected set of his works, the playwright remarked that "it was like opening a grave."

Shaw's handwriting of half a century ago is remarkably like his writing of today, Mr. Wise said. Included in the set will be some fifty portraits of Shaw, many from self-photographs made by the playwright. "Immaturity," has little plot, Mr. Wise said, dealing with the experiences of a young clerk who comes to London and is unable to express himself in his work. In part it is frankly autobiographical, Mr. Wise said.

Hail America as Peril, Savior at Convention

"Menace," Londoner's View; "Blessing," Yank.

Williamstown, Mass., July 31.—(AP)—Traditions of western culture surviving in Europe face possible corrosion or corruption by the "ncreased efficiency for wealth and power which American influence in Europe undoubtedly produces," Prof. C. Delisle Burns of the University of London, said today in an address before the opening session of the institute of politics.

"Europe, which hitherto believed itself to be in the van of civilized life, now fears to be 'conquered' by America," Prof. Burns said. "The Americanization of Europe, however, is only the latest phase of the industrialization of the world.

"The problem is whether the increased efficiency for wealth and power, which American influence in Europe undoubtedly produces, will not corrode or corrupt the magnificent tradition of western culture that still survives in Europe."

At another point in his address he said:

"The people of China starve, while the wheat of America is burned, because western nations prefer to sell armaments in China."

Dr. George H. Blakeslee, professor of international relations at Clark university and member of the board of advisers of the institute of politics, also addressing the opening session, said the foremost general foreign policy of the United States was to help establish peace with justice throughout the world.

"The genuineness of this policy is sometimes questioned in other countries since the United States has not joined the league of nations and is regarded as somewhat insistent upon its viewpoint in international disputes," he said. "Nevertheless, the will to peace is one of the most fundamental purposes of the American people. It has shown itself in the last decade particularly in the effort to bring about a mutual and equitable limitation of armament.

"In the Americas we aim to maintain the Monroe Doctrine, to exercise a fatherly supervision over the Caribbean and to group the American republics into an association to advance friendship and mutual interests. These policies would be especially successful—but as a matter of fact they are the object of especially severe attack.

"There are critics who even regard the Monroe Doctrine as more of a liability than an asset. We must choose between the Caribbean policy as it has been carried out in the last two decades and a genuine Pan-Americanism. For many of the Latin-American republics are so strongly opposed to our recent action in the Caribbean that, if it should continue unmodified they would be unwilling to coöperate with us in a warm sincere friendship."

Postal Veterans Bid Farewell to Comrades

A farewell ceremony, marked by the congratulations and well wishes of Postmaster Luedet, was held at the federal building yesterday when 29 veteran letter carriers and ten postal clerks were retired on pensions.

Flowers and traveling bags were presented to the retiring veterans by the postal employés' association. Jimmy Mahoney, the postal poet, who soon will be eligible for retirement himself, read verses dedicated to postmen. Alexander Nelson, with 25 years of service toward a pension, spoke on the old days of hand cancellation and horse cart delivery.

Only ten of the veterans were present, for the others were making their last rounds in outlying districts. These ten were: Charles Fink, 36 years of service; John Anderson, 36 years; John H. Pearson, 30 years; John Burger, 41 years; Fred A. Goman, 37 years; Stephen J. Williams, 40 years; Jacob Koertgen, 40 years; Carl Klose, 39 years; Paul C. Stammer, 38 years; Max Wertheimer, 35 years. Thirty years of service and 62 years of age entitle a postal employé to a pension.

Call of Wild Lures Society to Dude Ranch

BY THALIA ——.

The first of August discovers those susceptible to the charms of the wild and not so woolly west as represented by dude ranches, either on their way or else packing their ranching duds in preparation for trekking towards the Rockies. The Edward J. Berminghams of Lake Forest and their quartet of young ones, Edward Jr., George, Harriett, and John, are to set off on Sunday for a stay at one of the ranches near Du Boise, Wyo.

Mrs. Barrett Wendell, who has been in Boston since late winter, will go west Aug. 10 to Diamond G ranch, also near Du Boise, and Mr. Wendell will join her there. Their daughter, Miss Barbara, already has had a stay at Diamond G and is on her way east.

The Warren A. Lamsons of Winnetka departed on Wednesday with their daughter, Miss Virginia Lamson, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Washburn, for Sunlight ranch in the vicinity of Cody, Wyo., for their fourth summer there. The youngest daughter of the family, Jean, is already there. They are to remain until after Labor day, shortly before Miss Virginia is to have her coming out tea, which is set for Sept. 16. It is to be a tea dance at the Lamson residence.

The season's outstanding demonstration of good sportsmanship generally is being attributed to Sterling Morton by Chicago yachtsmen. When his yacht, the Volante, making port one dark, windy night a few days before the recent Mackinac races, ran smack into the Siren, a smaller sailboat, he spared neither pains nor expense to get the Siren's broken mast replaced. The damage couldn't be repaired by local shipbuilders, so Mr. Morton got into communication with the east and finally tracked down a new mast that would fit. It was then shipped to Boston on two flat cars, and the two cars were hitched to the Century and brought on here. The mast arrived the day before the race, and the Volante's crew helped to step it, the night before the boats set off. The Siren was the winner of the contest.

Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin of the Drake hotel is to sail today on the Ile de France with Mrs. Rensselaer W. Cox of 1539 Astor street and Miss Jane Cox for a stay of several months in Europe. They will go first to Carlsbad. Mrs. Junkin, whose interest is about equally divided between music and traveling, has been a frequent attendant at the summer opera at Ravinia. She always manages to be in Chicago for part of the interseason of opera also.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hines of Winnetka are being congratulated upon the birth of a daughter at the Evanston hospital on Wednesday. Mrs. Hines was Miss Pussy Notz before her marriage. The baby's grandfather, Edward Hines, is recuperating from his recent serious illness and may be well enough by September to take the European trip that he and Mrs. Hines had planned to go on earlier in the summer.

Theodore Sheldon of Winnetka and James Curtiss of 1404 Astor street left Chicago yesterday to motor east to Fairfield, Conn. There Mrs. Sheldon and the Sheldon youngsters, Peggy and Polly, are spending the summer. Mr. Curtiss is to go on to Prout's Neck, Me., and Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon and the former's mother, Mrs. Theodore Sheldon of New York, are to go by boat to Yarmouth, in Nova Scotia. After a stay there they will motor back to Fairfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks H. Whitman [Adelaide Chatfield-Taylor] at Cedar Hill, their summer place at North Beverly, Mass.

Andrew McNally, commodore of the Thousand Islands Yacht club at Alexandria Bay, N. Y., and Mrs. McNally are active in the social life of the summer colony in the Thousand Islands. Mrs. McNally was hostess at the annual children's party at the Yacht club last Friday, and this week the McNallys have as their house guest Miss Virginia Vilas, who is entered in the annual invitation golf tournament at the country club.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Hibbard of 2440 Lake View avenue are departing today for Eagle Knob lodge at Lake Owen, Wis., to be gone until September.

Mrs. Elliott Donnelley and her baby have gone to spend the month of August in Cleveland with her father, William E. Steinwedell.

Miss Jane Trowbridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin M. Trowbridge of Lake Forest, is visiting Miss Carolyn Durand in Dorset, Vt. She is to be gone until the middle of September.

Miss Bertha Alling, daughter of the Van Wagenen Allings of Lake Forest, has returned from a two months' trip to France and Spain. Mrs. Alling's niece, Miss Valerie Baker, is visiting them for the summer.

WIFE OF DIPLOMAT HELD IMMUNE ON AUTO TAGS CHARGE

Baltimore, Md., July 31.—(AP)—Warrants against the wife of the chancellor of the Greek legation in Washington for using District of Columbia tags on an automobile owned and operating in Maryland have been voided and she has been offered a set of Maryland tags without charge.

The announcement was made today at the office of E. Austin Baughman, commissioner of motor vehicles.

The warrants were issued for Mrs. Catherine Koundouriotis during an investigation of complaints that numerous residents of the county were operating cars with District of Columbia licenses. The state's attorney held the warrants could not be served because of diplomatic immunity.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover about noon tomorrow will receive Miss Blanche Wilcox Noyes, aviatrix from Chicago. She will arrive at Hoover field about 11:30 and go immediately to the White House. She is to deliver a floral invitation to the President and Mrs. Hoover to attend the national air races in Chicago Aug. 23 to Sept. 1. After receiving Miss Noyes President and Mrs. Hoover will leave for their camp on the Rapidan. Miss Noyes will be met at Hoover field by officers of the Eagles' Wings, flying unit of the Women's City club of Washington.

Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war, returned to Washington tonight from a flying trip to North Dakota. Mrs. Hurley has joined her parents, Rear Admiral and Mrs. H. B. Wilson, in Atlantic City, at the Chelsea. Her children have been there for more than a month. The secretary will join his family there for the week-end.

Former Secretary and Mrs. William N. Jardine were given a dinner tonight by the president of the University of Maryland and Mrs. Raymond A. Pearson. Mr. Jardine will leave tomorrow for Idaho to visit his mother. He also will visit in Kansas. He will sail Sept. 6 on the Leviathan for England. From there he and his family will go to Cairo. In addition to Mrs. Jardine, there will be Miss Marian and Miss Ruth Jardine and Miss Katharine Lowman, daughter of the assistant secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. Seymour Lowman. Miss Lowman is the fiancée of William N. Jardine Jr. Mr. Jardine is the newly appointed United States minister to Egypt.

Mrs. William P. MacCracken, wife of the secretary of the American Bar association, who formerly was assistant secretary of commerce, has been selected chairman of the women's committee for the visit of the delegates to the meeting of the bar association in Canada and Chicago, who will be guests in this country of the American Bar association. They will visit Washington for three days, beginning Aug. 26.

Largest Known Radio Network to Transmit Col. Lindbergh's Talks

New York, July 31.—(AP)—The largest known network of broadcast stations leading from a single microphone will be set up for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when he makes his first prepared radio address on Aug. 8.

Speaking from the Columbia Broadcasting headquarters in New York, he will address listeners of that chain as well as of the combined networks of the National Broadcasting company, it was announced today. The total number of stations is expected to approximate 150.

Col. Lindbergh will face the microphone twice. The first broadcast, set for 3:25 p. m., eastern standard time, is to be transmitted via the A. T. & T. trans-Atlantic short wave radio circuit to England, Europe and other sections of the world.

Networks in America will not be set up for this broadcast, which is expected to be retransmitted in England and in a number of other countries.

The second broadcast will be intended primarily for America, although it, too, will be sent out on short waves by associated stations of WGY, KDKA, WABAC, and WCAU. It has been scheduled for 10 p. m., a change having been made from the previously announced time of 9 o'clock to permit the NBC chains to coöperate.

This will mark the first time on record where two broadcasting systems will make a pickup from a single microphone. Numerous simultaneous broadcasts have been made, but always each chain had its own microphones. Connection to the NBC network will be to the outgoing wire from the Columbia's studios through a test board in the telephone office.

The combined setup is being made at the request of Col. Lindbergh, who desired to reach the largest possible radio audience. His talk is expected to treat on international aviation.

Because of his desire to face the microphone without a large visible audience, Col. Lindbergh selected the smallest of the Columbia studios for his talk.

MacDonald Gets a Haircut; Off on Trip to Germany

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 31.—Prime Minister MacDonald has not waited for the end of the long session of parliament, which closes tomorrow. Accompanied by his daughters, Ishbel and Joan, and Sir Alexander Grant, an old personal friend, he left London today to see the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Germany. He is the first British premier to enter Germany since the war.

Political friends have been remarking that Mr. MacDonald is showing the effects of strain, or, as one journal puts it, "his robust features have thinned down to a drawn asceticism and his fine head has shrunk somewhat under its heavy iron crown."

Actually, the premier's changed appearance is due to the attentions of a barber, who was determined to admit no half measures. The prime minister has had his shaggy graying hair cropped and the mustache, which was once a primary feature for the pencils of cartoonists, has received a grimmer line above the mouth.

The Evening Standard remarks that even David Lloyd George once every two years has his hair cut and the effect upon that leonine personality, in the Standard's opinion, is "deplorable."

Scots Guards Captain and Helen Guthrie Are Engaged

OTTAWA, Ont., July 31.—(AP)—For the third time in three years an aide de camp at Rideau hall, residence of Canada's governor-general, has won the heart of a Canadian girl.

The engagement is announced of Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie, to Capt. Victor Blundell of the Scots guards. Capt. Blundell came to Canada last February as aide de camp to Viscount Willingdon.

Margot Fleming of Ottawa married Viscount Hardinge in February, 1928, and Elizabeth Lawson's marriage to Capt. Derek Murphy took place the next March. Both came from London as aides at the "Canadian white house."

Mrs. F. E. Encell, vice president of the Maywood Associated Civic Opera club, will be one of the hostesses.

Capt. J. H. Towers, U. S. N., to Marry French Woman

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Announcement of the engagement of Mlle. Annie Pierrette de Grandmont, daughter of Mme. Pierre Chauvin de Grandmont of Paris, and Capt. John H. Towers, U. S. N., was received here today.

Mlle. de Grandmont's father was the late Col. Chauvin de Grandmont, who was killed in action in the Argonne during the world war. Capt. Towers is assistant chief of the bureau of aeronautics in the navy department. He was married in England in 1915 to Miss Millie Carstairs, daughter of Charles Carstairs of Philadelphia. The marriage ended in divorce and the former Mrs. Towers married Martin B. Saportas, New York banker and clubman.

The wedding of Capt. Towers and Mlle. de Grandmont has been set for Aug. 9. The ceremony will be performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. P. Pell at Fort Ticonderoga, Lake Champlain, N. Y.

Dolores Del Rio to Marry Again, She Announces

Los Angeles, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—Dolores del Rio, film actress, announced today she will be married next Wednesday to Cedric Gibbons, film studio art director. The place of the ceremony has not been selected, but the actress said the wedding would be "very quiet."

"I am very happy to announce the wedding date," said Miss Del Rio. The Mexican actress obtained a divorce from the late Jaime del Rio of Mexico City and New York, at Nogales, Sonora, in January, 1929.

Last week Miss Del Rio was named in the divorce action of Gunther Lessing, Los Angeles attorney, as being responsible for his marital troubles. He charged her with influencing Mrs. Lessing to leave him and with telling her to "seek real romance," as she had done.

Jesuits Celebrate in Rome in Memory Their Order's Founder

ROME, July 31.—(AP)—Solemn services in commemoration of St. Ignatius of Loyola, founder of the famous missionary and teaching order known as the Society of Jesus [the Jesuits], were held today at the Gesu, mother church of the Jesuits, and at Sant' Ignazio, the church that bears his name.

It was the biggest celebration of their own that the black robed priests of the world-wide organization have had since the canonization of nine distinguished Jesuits, the eight North American martyrs and Cardinal Robert Bellarmine, in St. Peter's just over a month ago. The members of the order now in Rome and Vatican City, recruited from all nations, were out in force at the early masses, as were the young men undergoing their long novitiate.

A courtier and soldier of Spain in early life, St. Ignatius, about 1522, was the subject of a remarkable conversion, brought about, it is said, by an apparition of the Blessed Virgin with the child Jesus in her arms.

Though wounded severely in battle, suffering ill health and poverty for long spells, he persevered in his intention to prepare for the priesthood, and soon after his ordination organized his brotherhood, then known as "the Company of Jesus." Sixteen years later he died in Rome, on July 31, 1556, having seen his companions well launched in the struggle of the counter reformation, and carrying the gospel as far as India and Japan. He was canonized in 1622 by Pope Gregory XV.

CHICAGOANS MAY SEE ROOM INTERIOR MADE FOR QUEEN ELIZABETH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—The famous oak panels and other fittings of the great chamber of Gilling castle, Yorkshire the most famous Elizabethan room left in England, have been acquired by Arthur Stannard Vernay of New York. The materials are going to America and may be exhibited at the Chicago world's fair.

The room was done in 1585 for Sir William Fairfax in honor of a visit by Queen Elizabeth. The oak panels, etc., were offered at auction at Southeby's in London recently and withdrawn at $90,000. Mr. Vernay acquired them by private purchase.

The room has a remarkable wealth of heraldic decorations. The frieze consists of 450 shields of which seven are blank and the rest are emblazoned with the arms of all the gentlemen of Yorkshire of that day. The room is 39 feet long, 22 feet wide and 11 feet 7 inches high. It contains some of the best painted glassware surviving in England.

THIS IS MARY'S SECOND DRESS TODAY...
I DON'T ENVY YOU ON WASHDAY! THE WATER AROUND HERE IS SO HARD, TOO
OH, I DON'T MIND. I LET RINSO, THE HARD-WATER SOAP, DO ALL THE WORK. IT SOAKS CLOTHES LIKE NEW
I'VE HEARD SO MUCH ABOUT RINSO— I MUST TRY IT

For whiter washes safely ... try these hard-water suds

THE SOAP you use makes a big difference on washday. If the suds are flat and lifeless, you'll have to scrub to get the dirt out. And even then your wash won't look white enough.

But Rinso means a gleaming, snowy wash every time! Its suds are creamy, active—even in hardest water. Saves scrubbing and boiling. Of course clothes last longer!

Cup for cup, Rinso goes twice as far as lightweight, puffed-up soaps—without the help of powders or softeners. The makers of 38 washers recommend Rinso. Get the BIG package.

Apple Crop Comes Pouring Into Chicago

Nearby States Are First to Ship Fruit.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The beginning of the annual influx into Chicago of the apple crop started this week from Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin orchards where reports differ as to the quantity of the fruit for which there is a demand in Chicago of at least one bushel per capita per year.

Approximately one-third of this fruit comes from the state of Washington but west coast shipments do not begin to start heavily until October and November when nearby orchard crops have been depleted. Michigan growers found frost damage prevalent early this year and then in June were forced to further lower their estimates of the state's apple crop, according to Verne H. Church, agricultural statistician, because of a heavy June drop.

Apples now arriving include the Dudley, to be supplemented in a few days by the Duchess and followed by the Wealthy, Macintosh, Jonathans, Snow, Northwest greening and Wolf river varieties. In the picturesque Kickapoo valley in southwestern Wisconsin there is a highly developed apple industry centralized at Gays Mills.

One Company Operates.

More than 1,000 acres of orchards top the crest of a rolling hill country overlooking the valley. All but a small portion of this is operated for owners by a local company which plants, fertilizes, prunes, sprays, picks and ships the crop. Last year's 140 carloads made but a small dent in the fruit appetite of Chicago where nearly 4,000 carloads of around 500 bushels each are eaten each year.

But the Kickapoo orchards are credited with producing a high quality fruit, according to Theodore Bakke, superintendent, who points to an annual average rainfall of 45 inches as compared to around 10 inches less per year for the rest of the state, a longer growing period in the valley, a rich clay soil especially adapted to tree crops, and later appearance of frost in the fall than in adjacent sections.

Pickers number between 200 and 300 persons, mostly recruited from the valley section and kept busy from now until the middle of October when the last of the Wolf Rivers and Snows will be harvested. Bushel baskets are used for shipping—the packages preferred by the retailer, bringing apples in better condition to stores and making display easy, Mr. Bakke says.

Big Harvest Last Year.

The federal government estimated that last year the apple trees of the United States produced 86,919,000 bushels, of which 39,960,000 were harvested in the far western states. Through W. H. Hall, local representative of the market news service of the United States department of agriculture, it is learned that in this city last year carlot arrivals credited the state of Washington with shipping 1,955 carloads for consumption in Chicago; Michigan, 736; Illinois, 783; Idaho, 535; New York, 299; and Wisconsin, 242.

Barrels, boxes and bushel baskets are the standard containers used for shipping to large consumption centers. Ten cents a pound retail has been the average price current for some time. Cooking apples now being received by rail and truck are selling for from 6 to 10 cents per pound in Chicago. Roadside stands on highways of Cook county are also selling the first cooking apples of the season at low prices.

THREE MEALS A DAY

From the Tribune Cook Book

BY META GIVEN.

When you go to the market today to purchase food for the week-end you will find an abundance of lovely fresh fruit and vegetables. And the prices will be reasonable, more reasonable it seems, than they have been for years. And no doubt you will say to yourself, "If such prices and abundance could only be maintained throughout the year, how much more would my money buy!"

There is only one way of our having all of these good things next winter at present prices and that is by canning, preserving or pickling. But you say, "Why, I can buy commercial canned foods of excellent quality as cheap as I can buy the fresh foods for canning and without all the extra work." This is true of a number of products, but not of the unusual ones. Then, too, the flavor and individuality of the home prepared is a feature that is well worth working for. And evidently there are a number of housewives who feel the same way or we wouldn't have the requests that we do for canning corn on the cob, pickling whole string beans, pickling peaches, and recipes for a dozen other goodies that are sold at prices almost prohibitive to the average household.

If you are equipped for putting up several cans or bottles at a time, it does not require much time and labor to can fruits and vegetables. A large oven, a steam cooker or a hot water bath is essential. Pickles, preserves and fruit butters are most satisfactorily put up by the open kettle method. Here are some recipes that will help you to stock your pantry with foods that your family will enjoy next winter.

An adequate diet maintains health at its most abundant level.

Here Are Recipes for Preserving Fruits for Winter

PICKLED PEACHES.

2 pounds white sugar.
2 cups vinegar.
½ ounce stick cinnamon.
¼ ounce whole cloves.

Dip the peaches quickly in hot water and remove skins. Boil the sugar, the vinegar and the cinnamon for twenty minutes. Place a few of the peaches at a time in the sirup and cook them until they are tender. Pack them into clean jars. Adjust the rubbers and fill each jar to overflowing with the hot sirup. Adjust the covers, and seal the jars immediately. Pears may be pickled in the same way. The skins should be removed.

Yield: Seven pints.

GRAPE JUICE.

1 gallon grapes.
1 cup water.
Sugar.

Wash and steam the grapes. Crush and add water. Steam the grapes in the top part of a double boiler until tender. Pour cooked fruit into a jelly bag and allow it to drip over night. Holding the strained juice over night permits it to settle. Then the clear top can be poured from the sediment.

Add ¼ cup sugar to each quart of juice. Put into clean bottles or pint jars and set on a rack in a covered boiler or kettle. Boil 25 to 60 minutes depending upon the size of the jar.

Seal jars with new jar rings and lids. Put clean corks into bottles and when cool dip in paraffin.

Use the pulp of the grape for making grape butter.

Yield: Varies from 3 to 4 pints.

GRAPE AND APPLE BUTTER.

1 pint apple pulp.
1 pint sugar.

Prepare the fruit pulp in the usual way by rubbing the cooked fruit through a sieve. Combine the ingredients and cook the mixture until it is thick. Seal it in hot, clean jars.

Yield: Two pints.

TRUCK AND AUTO COLLIDE; 4 DEAD.

Asheville, N. C., July 31.—(AP)—Four persons were killed and five injured today in a collision between a truck and an automobile two miles north of Weaverville.

Roadside Vegetable and Fruit Stands Opening by Scores

Roadside stands for selling home grown fresh fruits and vegetables are opening up by the scores and hundreds this week to supply the demands of families that like the idea of shopping in the countryside near the fields where the produce is growing.

According to August Geweke, president of the Cook County Truck Growers and Farmers' association, several hundred stands are operated annually by the growers themselves, with many others, both small and large, operated by gardeners or commercial groups who may grow a portion or none at all of the commodities they sell. Sales at these stands, Mr. Geweke estimates, run from a business of $200 or less during the season, to a turnover of $5,000 to $6,000 worth of fruits and vegetables.

Summer squash, cucumbers of both the long green and pickle varieties, sweet corn, wax beans, beets, carrots, spinach and green onions now are among the most seasonable and newest on the counters and shelves of these stands. The season begins for some of them early in June and lasts until the middle of October when winter kept vegetables—potatoes, dry onions, carrots and squash—constitute the final sales.

California Peach Growers Co-operate to Limit Their Sales

Controlled marketing of California's annual peach crop is back of a new coöperative movement by growers and canners which would limit the state's yearly pack to 13,000,000 cases. The project is a voluntary outgrowth of what the American Farm bureau says is an attempt at control without assistance of the federal farm board.

A fund of $1,750,000 is being solicited in order to purchase surplus peaches during years when the total pack of the state threatens to go beyond the 13,000,000 case maximum.

Breakfast Nook Sounds Cheery Note in Morning

Steps Are Saved by Eating in the Kitchen.

BY SALLY LUNN.

Men, according to the latest architectural reports, insist on having dining rooms in their houses. Women, on the other hand, want to do away with the dining room and substitute a breakfast nook and the dinette. Both sides present good arguments. Men think of a separate room, away from the hot kitchen, where they can dine leisurely and comfortably. Women think of the labor and time saved when dining is done in the breakfast nook. Both the dining room and the breakfast nook are important features to consider in the modern home.

In most homes breakfast is a hurried meal, eaten by the family in relays. Luncheon is usually prepared only for the mother and the children. For these meals a nook is certainly much more convenient. However, for a family dinner in the evening a separate dining room is more desirable.

Family Together for Dinner.

All members of the family are present for dinner. It is the end of the day, when a pleasing and attractive setting is essential for the thorough enjoyment of the meal. And the most comfortable place is the dining room.

The cloth for the breakfast table in the kitchen may be very gay, to start off on the cheery note. The size and shape are not extremely important, but the cloth should look attractive when laid. A simple but cheerful centerpiece adds the touch of difference to the table.

Pretty china and glassware help dispel the morning grouch. We may purchase a lovely breakfast set inexpensively, or a luncheon set with extra dishes for the breakfast service.

Placing the Services.

The arrangement is that usually followed—service plate, which may later be used for the main course; knife, cereal spoon, and fruit spoon at the right of it; forks and napkin to the left; bread and butter plate at the tip of the fork and to the left of the service plate, and a drinking glass at the right of the plate and at the tip of the knife.

Devices that simplify preparing and serving the meal complete the picture, such as a toaster and drip coffee pot. And with a minimum of labor we have started the day as gayly and cheerfully as possible.

Try wearing rubber gloves when canning grape juice or handling fruits that stain. B. D. T.,
La Grange, Ill.

When packing ice cream to take on a picnic or to a church supper, seal the edges of the mold cover with melted mutton tallow. It will stay hard as long as the freezer is cold and can be easily picked off with a knife. MRS. D. J. T., Chebanse, Ill.

An empty celery salt or similar container with a sifter top may be filled with flour and kept close at hand for dredging steaks and chops, or for any other cooking where a small quantity of flour is needed. It proves a great convenience. E. F. D.,

BABY STRANGLES TO DEATH.

Thomasboro, Ill., July 31.—(AP)—Patricia Ann Maddock, aged five months, was strangled to death last night when her head caught between the wall and her bed as she fell out.

All in the name

A rose might smell as sweet by any other name, but malted milk lacks its finest savor if it's not Horlick's. And when it is Horlick's it has that rare quality that cannot be imitated. Don't be deceived by substitutes. Send ten cents today for sample and mixer.

Health takes you to the top!

Enjoy the sunny, tonic invigoration of this delicious Tomato Soup often!

Energy, vigor, exuberant vitality! Success comes easier to him who has them. And they depend largely on the right food.

Tomatoes, for instance. Nature has stored them full of healthfulness. And there is no more delicious way to enjoy them than in Campbell's Tomato Soup.

All the sunshine, all the tang, all the glorious flavor of the finest tomatoes, with the added richness of golden creamery butter. What a soup! You'll agree with the millions of other people who believe that only Campbell's famous chefs could produce such perfection in soup.

Summer is soup-time. Hot soup with cold meals aids digestion. And Campbell's is so convenient. Already cooked—on your table in next to no time!

Friends Big Asset in Luring the Man, Opines Doris Blake

BY DORIS BLAKE.

In the initial stages of a love affair don't turn your back upon old friends and old interests. You need both friends and interests more at this time than ever.

Don't do as one Helen did. Helen closed in on her man, George, too much. She eventually suffocated him with too much Helen and not enough else. Helen's idea was all right in the beginning. She saw her man and she determined she'd get him. And for a few months she had every reason to believe she was going to get what she wanted. But it is one thing to stimulate a beau to fresh efforts of winning you, or at least to reminding him what a lucky dog he is being favored by you, and another to have him become slowly aware that he is being hedged in tightly and there's no chance of escape.

Friends provide a certain prestige which a girl cannot well afford to desert. Friends are a measure of man or maid. The more popular one is with her friends the more appreciative the man is going to be of his particular blessing. If a girl suddenly withdraws from all social contact with her former playmates, the suspicion of unpopularity is apt to settle in the man's mind. Or, if he is not given to analyzing, he will miss the associations himself and he will likewise miss the more interesting Helen that was when she was engrossed with friends and interests.

Another reason—an important one—for holding to old friends and interests is to keep the mind from fastening too firmly on the subject of one's heart until such time as one is justified in believing the compliment is returned.

Another reason is to prevent the occasion of futility, voiced in "I gave up my friends and my work for him." No one is thanked for the sacrifice, which is no sacrifice, but a piece of folly.

One must keep some glamour about her in order to be a desired person. So that, until one is sure of the man's affection, it were well to not discard any admirer that may have preceded the favorite.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Forgot Selves.

This dreadful moment could happen only during the honeymoon. My husband and I were giving our first dinner party. As it happened we had twelve dinner plates, and twelve of everything in flat silver, so we arranged for a dinner of twelve. Can you feature our embarrassment when the guests arrived and we found that we had invited twelve? We had entirely forgotten to include ourselves. I never arrange a dinner table for guests but what that "tragedy" again flashes before my eyes. You may well believe that I have never duplicated that "boner." H. T.

Sally's Guests Get Big Thrill of Mimic War

The weather man must have known what a glorious time was in store for my hundred young guests yesterday when he provided us with such a lovely day for our party at Ravinia. The temperature rested at a perfect degree and the sunshine fairly poured down upon the green, velvety lawn that was the setting for this outing. The combination of delightful weather and a marvelously interesting program resulted in a party that could be nothing but a success.

Britton I. Budd of the North Shore railroad provided us with cars for the ride to our destination and our fun began the moment we boarded them. Whizzing through the north end of the city and out to the picturesque suburbs, it seemed almost no time until we arrived at the gates of the park. Here Mr. Eckstein, our genial host of the afternoon, met us, and the performance which was as delightful a one as we've ever witnessed began.

First, the boys from Fort Sheridan with their band. File on file of khaki clad soldiers passed before our eyes in perfect formation. Then came the sailors from Great Lakes with band music that thrilled us. They played our favorite marches and they sang some of the songs that haven't been heard in these parts since the war. There was a bit of real battling when the platoon from Fort Sheridan charged across the field to attack an imaginary enemy. They had all the appearances of real fighters and the opponents didn't have a chance.

Among the most interesting numbers of the Army and Navy Day program were the exhibition of wall scaling by a detachment of U. S. marines and the physical drill without arms by the men from Great Lakes.

Refreshments awaited us at the refectory when the performance ended and our rush for them closely resembled the attack we had seen a few minutes before. A delightful party, we all voted, and a shame that one's dinner hour had to end it.

Spiral Evening Frock Employs Greek Theme

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—All that part of Paris that goes in for mode making is playing around with the Greek theme, particularly for evening clothes. The French dressmakers are completely convinced that our modern girls are suited by nature to wear the robes of Venus and Helen of Troy, modernized a bit for the slimmer figure that is the badge of beauty in this year of gracefulness.

Doeuillet-Doucet have designed one of the best of these Greek frocks, and it is shown in the accompanying sketch. The drapery of this dress is based on the spiral. It begins at the lower right side of the draped bodice in a series of tucks that are released into fullness at the center front, the fullness being draped up to the left shoulder, from which point a circular ruffle takes up the spiral movement extending down across the back of the bodice, and over the right hip, around to the front and diagonally down the skirt, where it merges into the skirt. This spiral movement is particularly beautiful in itself and gives grace to any figure, whether thin or leaning toward surplus avoirdupois.

The material of which this frock is made is rose chiffon brocaded with green and silver flowers and leaves, a fabric that is smart for formal evening dresses this summer.

The diamond necklace, made of oblong stones set together in the form of a slave collar, is the only jewel worn with this dress. The evening gloves are rose colored glacé kid.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Catherine was 4. One day her mother asked her to find her sister. When she returned she said, "Helen is in the basent."

Mother told her that she should say "basement." Catherine tried, but finding it too difficult finally said, "Well, then, she's in the cellar."

Bible Class Graduated.

Ninety-four graduates of Moody Bible Institute were given diplomas at the summer commencement of the institute last night. The Rev. Gustav A. Briegleb, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Los Angeles, Cal., delivered the baccalaureate sermon. Class day exercises were held yesterday morning. The commencement exercises were held in the Moody auditorium, La Salle street and Chicago avenue.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

To Lose Her Home.

I have been taking care of a rooming house and in exchange my employer has given me a room for myself and family. Now she is giving up the place and we have nowhere to go. My husband is not well and cannot find a light job and we have four children—a boy, 14, twin girls, 2½ and a girl, 6. If you could get us a large tent, I'd take them to the country for the rest of the summer and by fall perhaps my husband will have found work. We need clothing, also. I wear size 48 or 50 and my husband wears size 37. "Mrs. J. L."

The situation is becoming almost hopeless for this family and even the home they've had is about to be taken from them. Can you help a bit by supplying the clothing and tent Mrs. L. asks for?

Encourage Every Interest or Talent Your Child Shows

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

If you want to enjoy nature with your children write to Mrs. Bevans for a list of books on the outdoor world, which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If when you take the children to the zoo, instead of putting in the time as a chore, you take a real interest in the animals yourself, discuss them with the children, and occasionally contribute something from your superior knowledge, they'll have a lot more fun and so will you. In addition they will grow in intelligence and in their understanding of animals.

Now it may be that in the course of time the children's lively interest in the zoo animals will subside. If so, it is quite all right. The interest will have served its purpose. Childhood has many passing interests which are needed at times, then expire.

But sometimes familiarity with animals will not die out. It will feed a talent which your child may have—the talent of the naturalist or the artist.

This love of animals and more, an enduring interest in them, in childhood may eventually develop into a knowledge and skill that will become a profession. The naturalist, or the naturalist-explorer is a well known figure in the world of today. Witness Roy Chapman Andrews, Beebe and others. Usually these people become writers as well.

Sometimes a child has the instinct of the naturalist combined with that of the artist. Then he may become an etcher, a painter, or a photographer of wild or domestic animals. Or if it does not become a profession the interest may prove to be an absorbing hobby.

A love of live animals often leads children to museums and books and they will astound you with the accurate knowledge and lore they will accumulate if they are given any sort of encouragement.

It always is a good plan to help children develop interest or talent or enthusiasm, even if you think it is only temporary.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

GIRL'S DRESS.

Here is an intriguing little frock with snugly fitted hips and a basque bodice. The cape collar will be pretty made of a contrasting color and you will find the dress an easy one to make. Tub silk, silk pique, crêpe de Chine, flat crepe or rayon voile are all lovely materials for a dress of this kind.

The pattern, 2543, comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 16 requires 2½ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Drink Lots of Water During Season of Summer Sports

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One may not be able to control perspiration in hot weather, especially under pressure of strenuous outdoor muscular activity such as comes when playing tennis, golf and so on, but one can reduce the possibility of an odor in connection with the unusual sweat gland activity if one will drink plenty of water.

A test was made a couple of years ago, I remember, during which students were made to do strenuous exercise in heavy woolens. One-half were given water to drink before the exercise hour; the others had to be "dry" for the workout period. It was determined by the test that the water drinking eliminated greatly the odor that often accompanies perspiration.

You are asked to take the water without ice, if you can possibly manage it. Let it run as cold from the faucet as it will, or if you have bottled water on hand, you are asked not to let it get ice cold. You can drink more water at a time that is not ice cold.

The ice water has some effect on the digestive process which makes it undesirable to consume during a meal or at the end of it. In between meals, if you insist, you may take the long, cold drink. But refrain from it, if you can, at the table.

Let the season help you in the needed eliminative features that are responsible for the embarrassment of an odor. The kidneys and the colonic region are benefited immeasureably by the flushing that ensues with sufficient drinking of water. By sufficient is not meant a glass with each meal, but a glass mid-morning and mid-afternoon as the smallest amount you can take between meals. If you can work in two glasses comfortably mid-morning and mid-afternoon, so much the better.

RAIN OR SHINE

WITH

JOE COOK

LOUISE FAZENDA-JOAN PEERS
WM. COLLIER JR.-TOM HOWARD

HERE'S THE LONG . . . LOUD LAUGH . . . THAT COMES ONCE IN A LIFETIME!!!

Last night two thousand theatre owners . . . critics and guests . . . rolled in a hoarse frenzy of frantic glee . . . today the public will create an uproar of bellowing laughter . . . for here's a picture that blasts dignity . . . annihilates reserve . . . and turns serious people into weak . . . helpless . . . and hysterical folk.

Ludicrous situtations . . . crackling wise-cracks . . . riotous happenings that combine to tickle the funny-bone . . . set free a deluge of pouring laughter . . . and create a delirium of happiness.

RAIN OR SHINE is inexpressibly funny . . . it has fresh, original comedy that has never been duplicated on stage or screen . . . laughter soars to epic heights . . . folks! . . . you're in for the grandest and most glorious "good time" in history.

INCIDENTALLY, THE PICTURE IS SO PACKED WITH LAUGHS THAT THERE WAS NO ROOM FOR THEME SONGS . . . DANCES . . . OR 'BOOP-BOOP-A-DOOP!'

LEGAL NOTICES.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION.

Pursuant to law in such case made and provided is hereby given that the following Joint Resolution of the First Special Session of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Illinois, which proposed amendment will be submitted to the People for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 4, 1930:

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 1.

Resolved by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House concurring herein, That there shall be submitted to the electors of this State for adoption or rejection at the next election of members of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, in the manner provided by law, a proposition to amend Article IX of the Constitution, by amending sections 1, 2, 9, and 10 to read as follows:

Section 1. The General Assembly shall have power to enact laws to provide for taxing all real estate for the purpose of imposition of taxes shall be in one class, except that mineral lands and land devoted to reforestation may be in different classes.

Section 2. If a tax is imposed upon income the State shall not receive more than fifteen per centum of the proceeds thereof, after deducting the cost of collection thereof, by the affirmative votes of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the General Assembly, and shall otherwise provided by a similar two-thirds vote of the remainder shall be distributed among the several counties in the ratio which the total collected from taxpayers in each county bears to the total collected from taxpayers in the whole State, and the amount allocated to each county may be further divided among the county and other municipal corporations within or partly within such county as the General Assembly may from time to time by general law direct. Other taxes collected by the State may be distributed in whole or in part among the counties and other municipal corporations in such manner as the General Assembly may direct by general law.

Section 9. The General Assembly shall vest the corporate authorities of cities, towns, villages, sanitary districts, park districts, and other municipalities, with power to make local improvements by special assessments or by special taxation of contiguous property or otherwise. For all other corporate purposes, all municipal corporations may be vested with authority to assess and collect taxes.

Section 10. Except as permitted in section 9 the General Assembly shall not impose taxes upon municipal corporations or the inhabitants or property thereof, for corporate purposes, but shall require that taxes be levied by municipal authorities for the payment of debts contracted under authority of law. Private property shall not be liable to be taken or sold for the payment of the corporate debts of a municipal corporation.

Adopted by the Senate, May 21st, 1930, by the two-thirds vote of the membership of the Senate.

JAMES H. PADDOCK,
Secretary of the Senate.

FRED E. STERLING,
President of the Senate.

Amended by the House of Representatives, June 19th, 1930, and adopted as amended, by two-thirds vote of the membership of the House of Representatives.

GEORGE C. BLAEUER,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.

DAVID E. SHANAHAN,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Amendments of the House of Representatives concurred in by the Senate, June 19th, 1930, by two-thirds vote of the membership thereof.

JAMES H. PADDOCK,
Secretary of the Senate.

FRED E. STERLING,
President of the Senate.

The form in which the proposed amendment to the Constitution of Illinois is to appear upon the ballot at the General Election on November 4, 1930, is as follows:

TAX RELIEF AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF ILLINOIS.

PURPOSE OF THE AMENDMENT.

This amendment, if adopted, will give the General Assembly the opportunity to reduce the tax load, to reduce taxes on homes, real estate, and farm land, to classify personal property and places of business which will not be unjust, as at the present time, but reasonable and fair to all.

Yes	For the proposed amendment to Sections 1, 2, 9 and 10 of Article IX of the Constitution.

STUDEBAKER'S AUGUST CLEARANCE

GOOD USED CARS PRICED AT $50 AND UP

UNUSUALLY LIBERAL TIME PAYMENT PLAN.

Five days' free driving trial goes with each car sold under the terms of the Studebaker Used Car Pledge.

CHEVROLET LANDAU SEDAN. We believe this is the best Chev. value in Chicago. The appearance is very attractive and the tires have little mileage, runs fine; many extras; $150.

NASH COUPE. Recent model Adv. 6, finished a beautiful two tone green; has wire wheels, rumble seat and every essential extra. This car is an absolute knockout in appearance, and the motor is unusually smooth; $595.

PONTIAC SEDAN, 1929 that was used for such a short time that it looks and runs as though it were right from the factory; 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc.; handsome gray finish; $545.

CADILLAC SEDAN, 1927 model 314 7 pass. It has Fullman car comfort and exceptional performance. The upholstery appears unworn and there are a dozen valuable extras; only $695.

STUTZ SEDAN. Late model with special Weyman body, wire wheels, fender wells, trunk and many extras. This is a close coupled job that originally sold at a very high price. It's still in wonderful all round condition and will be sold immediately at our price of $850.

STUDEBAKER PHAETON. Std. six with excellent glass sides. The finish has not a mar on it and the tires are in splendid condition; motor runs fine; $125.

BUICK COACH. This Master Six is in wonderful condition today and it's equipped with 4 whl. brakes, bumpers, spare tire, snubbers, etc.; $445.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Spec. 6 that was given unusual care by the original owner, so it will please you in every particular today has a wealth of extra equipment; special for $165.

HUDSON BROUGHAM. From the standpoint of performance and appearance this car will satisfy you in every respect. The finish [illegible] and upholstery are in splendid condition; $165.

WHIPPET COUPE. It's equipped with 4 whl. brakes, bumpers, spare tire, etc.; has a sweet running motor; $150.

OAKLAND COACH, 1928 that looks and runs better than many cars selling for twice this price; equipped with 4 whl. brakes, spare tire, snubbers, bumpers, etc.; $395.

STUDEBAKER VICTORIA. Late 4 pass. Commander that was in storage for 11 months; so it will give new car satisfaction today. The mohair upholstery has not a worn spot and the finish shines like a new dollar. It was completely overhauled at Studebaker mechanics and the motor is smooth and powerful. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Will not remain long at our reduced price of $395.

ERSKINE SEDAN, 1929. We sincerely believe this is the best Erskine buy in Chicago. Motor is A1 and the finish is bright and shiny. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc.; $445.

DODGE SEDAN, 1928 Senior Six that was driven only Sundays and evenings for pleasure purposes, so it's in marvelous condition today. This car is the last word for sparkling performance and attractive appearance. Special for $445.

BUICK ROADSTER, 1927 Mast. 6, finished a beautiful two tone tan; has a roomy rumble seat, the windshield wings and a wealth of extra equipment; the motor is smooth and powerful; special for $495.

GRAHAM-PAIGE SEDAN, 1929 that looks and runs better than many new cars selling for twice this price; finish, upholstery and tires are in the original new condition; $495.

CHRYSLER COUPE. Late model equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc.; has a sweet running motor; rumble seat; $445.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN, 7 pass. Big 6 with very low mileage. Here is a handsome car with a world of power and pep; has hundreds of dollars' worth of valuable equipment; $195.

AUBURN CONV. TOURING SEDAN. A late model 8 that's the classiest car of its kind in Chicago; has wire wheels, fender wells and a wealth of extras. The interior is upholstered in finish; bright and gleaming; has a smooth, powerful motor; sold for almost $3,000 a short time ago; now $995.

WILLYS-KNIGHT SEDAN, 1928 that was traded in by an elderly couple who gave it unusual care; equipped with 4 whl. brakes, bumpers, snubbers, spare tire, etc. It will give you new car satisfaction today; $495.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN, 1929. This car was owned by an actor who was away on tour more than half the time. Result is this Hupp has very little mileage and looks and runs like new today; many extras; $695.

PACKARD SEDAN. Here is an expensive car at an inexpensive price. Was chauffeur driven, so it's in topnotch condition now; has a wealth of extra equipment; $595.

British Airship, Crippled, Fights Storm Above Montreal—Grand Jury Upholds Lingle Murder Inquiry

BIG BRITISH DIRIGIBLE ON ITS WAY UP THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER VALLEY BEFORE MISHAPS. This picture, showing the R-100 passing over Canadian territory before it was crippled and before it encountered unfavorable weather, was taken near Quebec by a Pacific and Atlantic plane which carried the first Americans to greet the dirigible over Canadian soil. The river is shown in the foreground. (Story on page 1.)

GRAND JURY REPORTS CHARGES THAT NEWSPAPERMEN WERE RACKETEERING ARE UNSUPPORTED. Bernard DeVry, foreman, and other members presenting report to Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of Criminal court.
